

Taylor University

Pillars at Taylor University

2018 Website News Stories

Website News Stories

1-12-2018

Artist Clovis Blackwell's Exhibit Opens January 30

Taylor University

Follow this and additional works at: <https://pillars.taylor.edu/webnews-2018>

Artist Clovis Blackwell's Exhibit Opens

January 30

PUBLISHED: Jan 12, 2018 1 pm

45

Artist Clovis Blackwell's exhibit Dissolution: Where Do We Go From Here (i.e. Maybe it's Not So Bad After All), will be hosted by Taylor University's Art Department and on display in the Metcalf Gallery of the Modelle Metcalf Art Building on the Taylor University campus from January 30–March 2, 2018.

An artist talk and reception will take place Friday, February 9, at 6 pm, in the Metcalf Gallery.

Blackwell specializes in large-format serigraph prints. His work explores themes of suffering, perseverance, and transformation. He received his MFA from Azusa Pacific University and currently resides in California with his wife and young son. To view his artwork, visit: www.clovisblackwell.com

For additional information, contact the Taylor University Art Office: 765-998-5322, or visualarts@taylor.edu.

The Metcalf Gallery hours are 8 am–5 pm, Monday–Friday.