Pastor Shorck

Growing up just blocks from the Fort Wayne campus, I would often accompany my Dad, Phil Mortensen g74, there on the days when students signed up for their Christian Service "CS" assignments. He was there to invite students to serve at his inner-city church, Fellowship Bible Church (FBC).

In 1986, my parents founded Love Church, rededicating themselves to demonstrating Christ's love to the poor and needy.

Along the way I got a great education growing up in the inner city. I also met and befriended Joy Gerig g51 and g66, Dick Baxter g70, and several students who would adopt me as a "little brother." One of my favorite activities was going after church to visit either in Schultz, Bethany, or Lexington (now Hausser). I felt so grown up hollering "man on the floor" as I entered.

One of the students I met was Donovan Coley g85, who came to FBC with several of his Jamaican friends. Later, I met Lindsey (Carpenter) g01 and Josh Arthur g01, who, among others, volunteered at Love Church.

Thirty years later, Donovan and now the Arthurs are serving in the inner city, caring for the poor and needy. In this issue of the FW Vine, we celebrate our alumni who are leading ministries to help and empower the needy.

The ministry of the Fort Wayne campus continues beyond the Alumni Center through your lives. To God be the glory!

Giving thanks as the ministry moves forward,

The Fort Wayne campus was founded in 1904 as the Fort Wayne Bible Training School. It was renamed Fort Wayne Bible Institute, Fort Wayne Bible College, Summit Christian College, and later became Taylor University Fort Wayne. Founded in 1846, Taylor University is one of America's oldest Christian liberal arts colleges. Over 2,000 graduate and undergraduate students from 42 states and 30 foreign countries attend Taylor, where majors in 61 fields of study are available.

Mortensen's Role Expands to Help Students

An Update from: Michael D. Mortensen g91

Life took a big, but blessed, turn for me and for your Fort Wayne Alumni Center in January.

I was invited to serve three days a week at Taylor University as the Director of Scholarships while remaining Director of your Alumni Center in Fort Wayne.

Questions whirled in my mind. Was I capable of doing both? Was this God's leading? Others felt that my skill sets were fit for the position, allowing Taylor University to fill their need but also allowing the Alumni Center to continue caring for Fort Wayne alumni by connecting and celebrating.

Now, four months later, the answers to my questions are clear. Yes, it was God's leading! Could I do both? No way! Not by myself. He took that "no way," and through His way poured out provisions beyond my expectations.

First, God brought Stephanie (Cox) Demorest g93, former TUFW Greek and New Testament instructor, to the Alumni Center last August to serve as my quarter-time program assistant. She has exceeded all expectations with her thoroughness, dedication, and passion for the Alumni Center.

That was just the start of God's provisions. Tui (Walcott) Bedwell g97 consented to be our Special Events Coordinator, something she has been doing in part for us since 2009. Shellie (Kale) Burden g91 accepted a newly-created Volunteer Coordinator position. This has been an incredible "win" for the Alumni Center. I rejoice daily that more alumni have become involved, making it truly a "we" organization and less dependent on one individual.

I am totally sold on Christ-centered higher education as I reflect on the transformation it inspired in my own life! But as college education costs rise and Christ-centered education is under attack, my new role at Taylor University of raising money through scholarships and endowments will provide dollars to offset those rising costs and the possibility of losing government financial aid. Not only does this keep Christ-centered higher education accessible and affordable, but it also could provide additional scholarship dollars, including ones for your family!

God, indeed, does have good plans for our lives and for your Alumni Center.

Alumni Leading Change at Rescue Mission

By Michael D. Mortensen g91

The poor shall always be with us, but how we provide for them is changing as five Fort Wayne grads work together at the Fort Wayne Rescue Mission.

These five Fort Wayne alumni, ranging in years on campus from 1961 through 2009, visited the Alumni Center recently to talk about today's way of helping the poor and needy as compared to the methods of the past.

Rev. Donovan Coley g85, CEO and Senior Pastor; Pastor Bob Herman, g85, Director of Church Relations; Pastor Sharon Gerig g89, Director of Emergency Services; Joyce (Wiggle) Gerig fs61, Treasure House Clerk; and Rev. Candace (Hart) Moore g11, Pastor of Charis House, each work in different areas at The Rescue Mission. They all strive to provide hope through a meal, a smile, a tube of toothpaste, deodorant, or a blanket.

Pastor Donovan explains, "Ultimately, this hope comes from Christ. Man does not live by bread alone, but from every word from God." Pastor Bob recalled the film, Empty Bellies Have Not Ears, which shares the importance of providing a meal before providing the message of a person's greatest need — redemption through Christ.

There are 2,500-3,000 homeless in the Fort Wayne community at any one time, but there are only 500 total beds to help. Half of the beds are provided by The Rescue Mission, with 172 beds for men and 78 beds for women and children at their Charis House program. Often these beds are full.

Charis House turns away 35 to 50 women and children a month who need assistance.

In addition to providing 55,000 nights of lodging this past year, The Rescue Mission provided 217,000 meals and served 1,250 unique individuals in the shelters. Pastor Sharon and her team also served thousands of non-residential individuals.

Knowing that the need is greater than their capacity, Donovan has led his team through a major restructuring in their approach to ministry. Previously, a person would arrive at the mission and would be given a set amount of time to work through the program; however, often that person would not be motivated for "real change" until their time was near completion.

Pastor Sharon Gerig g89 helping someone in need.

CONNECT

Now, with the help of case managers, they focus on real change from day one with a contractual agreement. Accountability is provided. “As long as the person is walking forward through their program, we will work with them through the love of Christ,” Bob said.

The women at Charis House make a day-to-day decision to earn another day to stay there. “The women have work assignments or chores — they have to give back,” Pastor Candace explained.

Many who come to The Rescue Mission are looking for a simple solution, but instead they need a safe place where they can look at themselves honestly and progress in a healthy way.

Since moving from the former assistance of “three hots and a cot” to a program where individuals can confront their own brokenness, the staff is seeing results. More men are expressing a desire to overcome their traumas and addictions. With the new methods of ministry, the residents make better decisions and donated financial gifts are used more effectively.

Bob said, “The Rescue Mission’s work is far more than a home for the homeless. It is a place of real change, where participants are getting help to overcome their brokenness and even get job skills.” The job skills are developed through Treasure House, an upscale resale shop that has recently relocated to Coldwater Crossing, causing store traffic to increase five times over the past location. The donations and sales directly benefit The Rescue Mission.

A common theme among the five staff members is their personal experience of brokenness. One nearly died from a stroke, another was homeless even as a student, and another was almost deported while a student.

Their experiences, along with the training and support from various members of the Fort Wayne campus community, caused the staff to be better equipped to empower those they are serving to experience real change. To God be the glory as the message of redemption is shared.

Editor’s Note: The Rescue Mission is always looking for individuals and groups to volunteer to serve meals and sort donated items at Treasure House. Call Bob Herman or the Volunteer Coordinator at (260) 426-7357, ext. 118 for more information.

Alvis Leads Redemptive Work at Wheeler Ministries

By Char (Miller) Binkley g64

When Rick Alvis g77 applied to Fort Wayne Bible College, he was certain that he would only attend one semester. After all, he was already in his early twenties and he couldn't imagine there was much more they could teach him that he didn't already know.

Mentored by Professor Sterling Demond, Rick soon realized that he really did have much to learn, so he enrolled in the Christian Education and Camping Program. His call to ministry was made clear at Fort Wayne Bible College, but he never dreamed that it would lead to rescue mission ministry.

After serving for 13 years as Director of the Rescue Mission in Evansville, Ind., God led Rick to Indianapolis as Director of the Wheeler Rescue Mission, now known as Wheeler Mission Ministries.

While the growth has been incredible under Rick's leadership, taking the ministry from 17 to 150 employees and from a budget of $700,000 to $9.5 million, the greatest success story is God's redemptive work in the lives of thousands through Wheeler Ministries.

The purpose of the homeless shelters, residential programs, and addiction recovery programs is made clear through Wheeler's mission and vision statements: To provide Christ-centered programs and services for the homeless and those in need. To see every man, woman, and child we serve equipped to be productive citizens who enjoy lasting success in Christ.

The Shelter for Men served 179,047 meals last year and provided 65,364 nights of lodging for 3,344 men. This state-of-the-art facility gives emergency food and shelter for the body while the redemptive message of Jesus Christ for the soul is shared in chapel services and elective spiritual classes.

The Wheeler Training Center is a 286-acre, long-term intensive rehabilitation program for men who are recovering from substance addiction. The Christian approach to recovery involves applying God's truth to life. In addition to attending daily classes for spiritual and personal growth, the men work in the Wheeler Mission Pallets and Industry program, which was created specifically to support the recovery center.

Yesteryear's idea of giving the homeless a place to sleep and a meal now includes a much larger and more complex goal. Rick explained, “While years ago, it was the middle-aged man who came to the mission, the men and women are younger now. They come from very unstable home lives, often with no foundation on which to build and no skills. The breakdown of the American family unit causes a downhill spiral of addiction and unemployment. Food and shelter alone won’t take them to the next step, so we must help them deal with their life issues, which go far beyond a bed and meal. We view each one who comes not as just a homeless person, but as a person — a person who needs the hope found in Jesus Christ.”

Rick Alvis g77 outside Wheeler Mission

The Center for Women and Children Emergency Shelter Program provides a safe shelter for their basic temporal needs. The hope of Jesus Christ is shared as life skills are developed. The Center has a family development component, a children’s ministry program, and an educational program as two-thirds of the women have only an eighth grade education or less.

Redemption through Jesus Christ found at Wheeler Ministries is repeated in hundreds of stories.

Andrew’s addiction to heroin led him to a life of stealing and trouble with the law. Eventually, with the desire to quit using drugs, he walked into Wheeler. Andrew said, “I’d always felt discouraged when life didn’t go according to my plans. To forget it, I’d escape through drugs. Now I turn to God. I pray all the time. I used to feel so hopeless; now, because of the mission, I have hope!”

Lauren’s story is one of abuse followed by a life of drugs, trouble with the law, and jail time. Lauren says, “By God’s grace, I found Wheeler. The whole process here is biblical addiction recovery, so it’s changing your whole life, inside and out.”

Rick says of his time at Fort Wayne Bible College, “I learned to set goals and objectives. I learned lesson preparation techniques that I still use today. Most of all, I developed a larger sense of what ministry can be.” That larger sense of ministry is continually bringing redemption through Jesus Christ at Wheeler Ministries.

Rick and his wife, Julie, have been married for 42 years. Julie serves as Wheeler’s Director of Donor Relations. They have three adult children and one grandchild.

Grads Provide Hand-up to “Forgotten” Neighborhood

By Andrea Osmun g06

Fourteen years ago, Josh g01 and Lindsey (Carpenter) g01 chose to move to an under-resourced neighborhood in Muncie, Ind., to help provide hope and help to the people in the community. Now, they’re seeing lives changed as people are improving their credit, buying their own homes, finding stable jobs, and beating addictions.

Two decades ago, Josh and Lindsey met on the Fort Wayne campus and sensed that God had plans for them to be involved in intentional ministry, although they didn’t know what that looked like as they approached graduation in 2001.

Josh was a double major in Biblical Studies and Pastoral Ministries, and Lindsey was a student of Intercultural Studies.

During one chapel service at TUFW, Josh heard Bart Campolo, the son of pastor and author Tony Campolo, speak about the Christian Community Development Association (CCDA), based in Lawndale in Chicago. Josh spoke with Bart after chapel and found out that the ministry wasn’t about charity but about living among people who the city and even the church had overlooked and offering them resources to change their lives as a whole.

Although Bart Campolo has since publicly left his faith in Christ, Josh said he was a major influence in the Arthurs’ ministry. “I think about him -- and again, God’s not done with him, but he was influential,” Josh said.

After graduation, Josh and Lindsey traveled to Lawndale, Chicago, and were trained with the CCDA, founded by Dr. John Perkins, author and key influencer on the Arthurs. They chose to move to a neighborhood in Muncie, Ind., in 2002, and have been there serving ever since.

“Josh and I moved into a neighborhood that some people would refer to as ‘forgotten,’” Lindsey said. “We wanted to be a part of that neighborhood. We wanted to invest ourselves in terms of being a resource and a friend and bringing our skills and abilities to whatever would most impact what residents wanted to see. We viewed ourselves as becoming neighbors and friends with people.”

Josh started a small window washing business to employ people who had a hard time finding jobs because of choices they made in their past or lack of resources and experience. He ran that business for about five or so years and then sold it to someone else in the community.

Josh now leads the congregation at Avondale United Methodist Church in Muncie. Lindsey has worked for the Greater Muncie Habitat for Humanity for the past 14 years and has been the CEO for the past eight years.

“My husband Josh really has a wonderful place in the community where he fosters discipleship and friendship in leading a congregation at Avondale United Methodist,” Lindsey said. “My focus has been on housing and helping people to become first-time home buyers and jump into some things they didn’t think were possible.”

During the time Josh was running the window washing business, some friends of the Arthurs, Dr. Andrew g00 and Leslie

Draper g00, TUU grads, intentionally moved into their neighborhood and started Urban Light Community Church, which is now celebrating its 10th anniversary. Andrew pastors the church, where several other Fort Wayne and Upland grads are involved in its ministry, including Dr. James Rediger g01.

The church developed non-profit Urban Light Christian Development Corp., focused on housing, addiction recovery, education and community investment projects. Lindsey is on the board of directors for this non-profit. One lady who successfully beat addiction and found life after incarceration now runs Wayside Mission, one of Urban Light CDC’s programs, which specifically helps women who are highly motivated to change their futures for the better.

Throughout their ministry, the Arthurs have empowered their community by providing a “hand up,” and not a “hand out.”

“We assume that every person has value and worth because they’re a child of God,” Lindsey said. “By coming together, we can accomplish more together. Being available and a resource for people is part of what that means. I think, for me, the ‘hand up’ that I provide to most people is allowing them to find a meaningful way to change the trajectory of their life. I’m not going to do for someone what they can do for themselves.”

Three Couples Give 149 Years to Take God's Message Around the World

Six decades ago, God called three couples to take the message of His love to people far from their Fort Wayne alma mater.

Tom g56 and Judy (Kenyon g59) Branks retired last year after 55 years with Wycliffe Bible Translators. They completed translation of the New Testament and an Old Testament summary for the Guambianos in Columbia, South America. They celebrate that one small congregation has now grown to at least 22 congregations worshipping in their heart language.

Phil g67 and Jan (Schumacher g68) Logan served with World Partners in Sierra Leone for 44 years before retiring in December 2015. They translated the entire Old Testament for the Kuranki people and revised the former translation of the New Testament. Phil continues to translate Theological Education by Extension materials for pastoral training and discipling for the Kuranko people.

Gene g62 and Juanita (Ranes) Bertolet joined OMS (now One Mission Society) in 1966 and have helped develop literature for all of the countries where OMS has ministered for the past 50 years. Christian literature outreach in Korea and Haiti has resulted in thousands of decisions for Christ. They continue working for OMS out of the Greenwood, IN, office.

family in July 2015 from China. They then welcomed Trixie Darlene Diane on January 28, 2016. Trixie weighed 9 lbs., 2 oz. Besides Frannie and Finton, Trixie's siblings include Kyler (12), Gracelyn (11), Brynnan (9), Ezekiel (7), and Myra (6). The Kelloggs live in Fort Wayne.

Class of 2003

Michael g07 and Jenn (Logue g06) Sprunger ushered into the world Myriam Grace, born November 29, 2015. She weighed 7 lbs., 5 oz. and measured 20 inches long. She joins Eden, who thinks she is pretty cool, too.

Mercy is aptly named for the incredible mercy they feel God has shown them this year. Her middle name was chosen to reflect both Natasha's past (hence the Portuguese) and the theme of waiting in "hope" (the translation) that has characterized their journey these past years.

Class of 2004

Lori (Craw g04) Current has been named a finalist for Wayne County's Young Professionals program, sponsored by the Wayne County Chamber of Commerce. She continues to serve at Indiana University East as the Assistant Director of Admissions, and her husband, Michael Current g05, is a 4th grade teacher at Galileo Charter School. The Currents live with their two boys, David and Cohen, in Richmond, IN.

John Jared g04 married Wendy Burley on May 25, 2013. Danny Smith, Tyler Binkley g06, Michael Clancy g05, and Joel Aguilera were in the wedding. John and Wendy just announced the birth of their son, Jax Burley, born on March 20, 2016. He weighed 8 lbs., 8 oz., and was 20¼ inches long.

Class of 2008

Dr. Dennis Hensley's h08 newest novel, PSEUDONYM, was released in January 2016 by Whitaker Publishing House. Doc's trilogy of historical adventure-romances entitled The Parker Family Chronicles are available from Whitaker House as e-book downloads.

Jared g08 and Elizabeth (VandenAvond g07) Pomeroy currently reside in Kentucky where Jared is the Associate Pastor at Centenary UMC in Danville and Elizabeth is teaching half-day in a private preschool, LABC Preschool.

Asira (Nazarova g08) and Reji Matthew welcomed Selah Miriam on March 11, 2016. She was 8 lbs., 7 oz., and 20 inches long.

Adam g08 and Stephanie Zimmerman are pleased to announce the birth of Brynn Olivia on January 19, 2016. The Zimmermans live in Grand Rapids, MI.

Class of 2009

Chris g09 and Madison (Robbins g09) Freeman have begun ministry work with the Fellowship of Evangelical Churches in the area of church planting.

Katherine Miranda h09 is now Assistant Registrar at Northeast Ohio Medical University.

Megan (Spillman) g09 and Aaron Fritz welcomed Landon Joseph Fitz on November 15, 2015. The Fritz family lives in Granger, IN. Grandma Debbie Spillman is very excited for Landon's arrival.

Brent g09 and Lacy (Pinnick g09) Salsbury, along with big sister Ava, welcomed Zoey Maria on May 4, 2015. Brent is now the Student Ministries Pastor at Grace Church of Sahuarita in Sahuarita, AZ.

Scott and Ellen Klaus (former TUFW employee) were accepted as members of Wycliffe Bible Translators August 1, 2015, and plan to begin ministry in Papua New Guinea in early 2017. They are currently developing their partnership team and preparing to move internationally. More at www.wycliffe.org/partner/klauses.

Platte Assists Poor and Needy at Matthew 25

In addition to volunteering for the Alumni Center, Dr. Jay Platte g69 has assisted the poor and needy in Fort Wayne for the past 10 years. He has amassed over 5,000 hours of volunteer service at Matthew 25, the only full-time clinic in Allen County offering free medical, dental, vision, and hearing services all under one roof.

Working in the patient assistance area of the clinic, Jay helps provide patients with costly medications without cost to the patients. Since those coming to Matthew 25 have no insurance, this is their last resort to receive competent healthcare. Last year, in cooperation with pharmaceutical companies, over $6,222,000 (retail cost) of medications was provided to patients through patient assistance. Jay, working two to three hours a day, added a significant dimension to this medicine-distribution service when he wrote a database program to track orders for each medication. He has also helped Matthew 25 with their publications and website.

When asked why he is volunteering at Matthew 25, Jay says, "The clinic is aptly named and speaks to the heart of my motivation. For the cause and love of Christ, I share my abilities and time to help those who need it and have the fewest resources... the least of these, my brothers and sisters." He adds, "I have also had the privilege of working with alums such as Karin (Lantz) Cramer g64 and many other like-minded people."

by his wife, Marian (Anderson) fs48, two sons including Dr. Dennis (Pam fs73) Magary g73, a daughter, and multiple grandchildren.

Celebrating Day of Giving – $12,000 To Go!

By Michael D. Mortensen g91

The first annual Day of Giving was a GREAT success as over $13,000 was given in gifts and pledges. Nearly 50 new giving units joined in support of the ministry.

Thank you to those who sent or dropped off checks, made gifts or pledges online, or called in your gift. It was a FUN day watching your alumni ministry become funded more fully.

If you were unable to participate on that special day, I'm asking you to give something ($5, $10, $25, or more) to help us meet not just our $70,000 budget goal, but also our participation goal. We need 132 new donors to reach our increased percentage goal. Will you participate? Will you give to keep your Alumni Center alive and vibrant?

Your gifts, which will be DOUBLED by an alumna, are needed and appreciated by May 15, 2016, so we can complete our budget year in the black.

Please use the enclosed self-addressed envelope or give online at <http://fw.taylor.edu/gift>.
