The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages and that is catarrh. Catarrh being greatly influenced by constitutional conditions requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Medicine is taken internally and acts thru the Blood on the Mucous Surfaces of the System thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in the curative powers of Hall's Catarrh Medicine that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

They were taked off German vessels when war was declared. They are well taken care of being fed the same ration that is fed U. S. troops. Also rode around Chickamauga Battlefield and Missionary Ridge. From the monuments and tablets erected there Indiana was very well represented in this battle. The following afternoon was spent in a trip up Look Out Mountain. To me this was a most wonderful experience, wonderful scenery and rich in historical interest.

After spending such a delightful I took he train for Hattiesburg, Miss. at 7:30 P. M. Spent a very interesting evening in Pullman with some gentler en from the "South Land." THAT SCHOOL BOOK QUESTION

The last Legislature passed a law providing for uniform books for secondary schools. We are now obliged to obtain High. School books as well as the common school books, through the County Depository at Marion. We are compelled to pay the cartage in Marion, the freight to Upland, the drayage here, and pay cash for the books before they are shipped. The books are not returnable and we are allowed a ten per cent commission for handling them. When its proportion of the overhead expenses is charged to this business the books are really sold at a loss. In other words the ten cents profit on each dollar does not cover the cost of selling.

We are glad to have this business, however, for the prestige it gives us and have been charging the deficit up to advertising.

We do feel, however, that the time has come when we should not be asked to extend credit on school books.

This is in no sense a reflection upon the credit, of our customers, out it is simply due to our inability to carry on a credit business on such a small margin.

We will have a full line of all the school books and supplies used n this community and we want your business, but we must ask that each and everyone arrange to pay cash. There must be no

War Time Behavior of Producers Will Determine Nation's Course

By United States Senator Francis G. Newlands of Nevada

Our war conditions now require supreme collective effort, and that, carried out to the full extent, means socialism. We have found that in war the law of supply and demand breaks down because extraordinary demands are precipitated upon moderate supply. Prices soar, and that means disturbances and readjustments for every kind of labor and industry and for

We could not wait long enough, upon entering the war, for the usual effect of increased demand, namely, increased production, to restore the price levels. Therefore, in the stress of war it becomes necessary to take over plants or control prices, unless the desired results of reasonable prices can be obtained by understanding with the producers. When I say reasonable prices, I mean reasonable prices not only for the government but for the public. It is not to be imagined that a country can successfully prosecute a war; even though it obtains its supplies at reasonable prices, if its industrial forces at home are upset by strikes and lockouts. Increasing prices invariably mean a ferment of labor troubles, which in turn materially impair the military strength of a nation at the front. The laborer is bound to compare the amount which a dollar of his wages will buy today with what it would buy a month and a year ago. He has to do this; he is compelled to contend all the time for the maintenance of the power of his wages. If things go up in price his wages must go up, too.

We must avoid such a race between prices and wages by keeping prices down, not only for the sake of conserving all our present industrial strength for war purposes, but for the sake of the economic welfare of the United States after the war in its international trade relations. If we do not avoid such a race between prices and wages both will increase steadily till the end of the war, when our wage level will be above that of the other belligerent countries in which there has been better control. And the country with the highest wage level will then be at a disadvantage. Its cost of production of all commodities will be above that of the other countries, which will put it out of the running in any competition in its own markets and in the markets of the world. And the high wage level will also bring an influx of labor which the country will not be able

Every consideration, therefore, demands that a proper price level shall be maintained by government regulation, and this, of course, involves a form of state socialism.

"Americanism" Goal Toward Which the World Has Aimed Since Time Began

By Representative Burton E. Sweet of Iowa

To me "Americanism" is one of the grandest words in the English language. It has become symbolical of civil and religious liberty on the western continent. It represents the shining goal toward which the human race has been tending since time began.

We find epitomized in it the struggles, the hopes, the dreams and the aspirations of man for better days and better things since the time when he cringed and crawled in the dens and caverns of barbarism, and groped German scientists are beginning to and felt his way through the long night of the stagnant centuries toward the dawn of a grander day up to the present hour when we behold him revealed, standing upright, with the sunlight of heaven in his face, or walking with uncovered head beneath the silent stars, contemplating as to the handiwork of the Creator and the betterment of the human race.

Americanism is the new civilization.

Americanism has become synonymous with the spirit of civil and religious freedom throughout the world. With us and all thinking men Americanism has become like a mighty and ever-widening stream. Its source lies hidden somewhere in the swamps and lowlands of barbarism. Its origin is coeval with the human race. It has been fed by passing clouds that drop their garnered fullness down, by innumerable rills that gush from the mountainside, by springs that well up into its unseen depths, and by subterranean rivers that joyously swell its everincreasing volume as it moves on in solemn majesty toward the eternal sea.

On its surface serenely rides our ship of state, amid the storms of war, unchecked by devious currents or adverse winds that blow.

"The hopes of humanity are hanging breathless on its fate." The waters at times seem troubled, but our course is plain. An enlightened public opinion is our pilot and our Constitution is our chart and compass.

Let the stream of Americanism flow on until it engulfs the world. Let it flow on until all the races and all the children of men shall receive its blessings and enjoy its energizing and revivifying influences. Let it flow on until it ends with the consummation of all things earthly at the throne of God.

World War Will Be Won by Machinery and Conquest of the Air

By Basil A. Hester

I will venture a prediction, viz: that the present world war will be won by machinery. The sphere of combat will be the air; the motive power, gasoline; the agent, an engine, light but powerful; the machine itself, monster airplanes, that will spill and spit high explosives, fire and flames, until their mission is accomplished. These, attacking the trenches, will drive out and scatter their defenders like frightened geese; will demolish and overturn fortified strongholds and utterly lay waste and burn the capital cities.

The beginning of this new era of warfare was well foreshadowed by the unstopped havor of the undersea destroyers. But their compass was too narrow, being circumscribed by the seas. It remains, then, for these monster engines of destruction, commanding, as they will, both land and sea, to make the devastation complete. The victor in a world's life and death struggle will have justly earned the title of "The Prince of the Power of the Air."

Perplex yourselves no longer about sufficiency of man power on either side. There is abundance and to spare. Machines are going to win the war; therefore, call forth your dread machines, assemble these mighty enginery of war together; for to those who first see and effectively grasp this new development of destructive power will belong the victory.

A TRIBUTE TO DRY TOWNS.

Writing for the Atlantic Monthly, Ida M. Tarbell tells of her experience on a Chautauqua circuit in western Pennsylvania, central Ohio and Michi-

"We came to know almost as soon as we reached a new place whether the town was dry or not," she says. "A town that had been dry over a period of a dozen years had a trimness about the streets and buildings, a look of freshness and energy about young people and old which stood out in almost incredible contrast to what we found in the wet town of the same size. We went to one town in Ohio which had been dry for 31 years, so the hotelkeeper told me. He claimed to be a much-traveled person, and said that in all the many towns which he had known intimately, he had never found . one in which there was such a fine lot of young people as here. In health, in vigor, in intiative, he believed that the young men and women, particularly of the working classes, were tremendously ahead of the same group in the towns where liquor was freely displayed."

MORE IN WET THAN IN DRY.

The liquor interests would have the public believe that prohibition increases the number of illicit stills. What does the internal revenue office say about it? The figures for the year ending June 30, 1916, show that the number of moonshine plants seized was 3,286, or 546 fewer than in the year 1915-in spite of the fact that dry terditory has been steadily increasing. Not a single illicit still was reported for seizure in the prohibition states of Arizona, Dakota, Oregon or Washington. There were only six in Mississippi, four in Arkansas, and six in West Virginia. More gallons of illicit whisky were seized in any one of the wet states of Illinois, Kentucky, Massachusetts, Ohio and Pennsylvania than in any prohibition state.

GENERAL PERSHING'S BLOW. Gen. J. J. Pershing, commander of the first United States troops to go to the battle front in France, is an ardent advocate of prohibition. Pershing's nunitive expedition into to quote a writer in the New York tribute, "the driest body of troops that ever marched. It traveled absolutely on the water wagon, and the going was hard. Some of those soldiers went into Mexico soft and moderately rum-soaked. But they came out lean, clear-eyed and hard as nails. The sanitary corps reports on that expedition will show some wonderful results. Despite the hardships of the first rush, the sick reports were startlingly meager."

SALOONS ROB CHILDREN.

W. H. Rice, a veteran circus man, recently put out a chart showing comparative figures of his earnings in typical cities while they were wet, and after they became dry. Decatur, Ill., wet, gave him $3,271; dry, $6,580. Bloomington, Ill., wet, $5,327; dry, $9,-403. Boise, Idaho, wet, $5,794; dry, $10,811. Spokane, Wash., wet, $6,200; dry, $11,582. Seattle, wet, $3,128; dry, $6,710; Portland, Ore., wet, $3,264; dry, $8,426. Average-wet, $4,468; dry, $8,708. Prohibition means more surplus money in the family and more happiness for the children.

SUPPLEMENT MEAT SUPPLY OF COUNTRY

BELGIAN HARE IS VALUABLE SOURCE OF FOOD.

(Prepared by the United States Depart- vegetation that would otherwise be ment of Agriculture.)

The meat supply of the country may well be supplemented, biologists of the United States department of agriculture point out, by the raising of rabbits by youths and adults not engaged in military or other national service, or in regular industrial employment. These animals already have proved a valuable source of food in Europe during the present war. In the United States they might be raised in back yards of cities and towns as well as on farms. The Belgian hare breeds rapidly, matures quickly, and produces a palatable and highly nutritious meat. The cost of production is less than that of any other meat, not excepting poultry. The supply can be greatly increased within a few months, without requiring space that may be needed for the production of crops. Practical experience has demonstrated that rabbit meat can be produced in unlimited quantities at a cost of about six cents a pound; and wasted, the cost can be made even lower.

The Belgian and Flemish giant rabbits are recommended for meat production, as the ordinary tame rabbit is smaller and develops more slowly. Stock of Belgian hares may be bought from breeders in nearly all the states at $1 to $3 each. They may occasionally be had from pet stock dealers. Fancy pedigreed stock is not required for meat production.

Rabbits are easily kept. They eat hay, grass, lawn cuttings and green vegetation of many kinds. Females should be allowed to breed when eight or ten months old, and during the year should raise four litters of about six young each. Well fed, the young reach marketable size when three to four months old and average from five to six pounds live weight.

The department of agriculture has published a bulletin on raising rabbits which will be helpful to those who by utilizing lawn cuttings and other wish to engage in this pursuit.

SPRAY POTATOES TO AVOID LATE BLIGHT

Prompt Spraying With Bordeaux Mixture Will in Most Cases Be Found Effective.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Potato late blight, a fungous disease, capable of causing enormous destruction, has appeared in several states from Maine to New Jersey and West Virginia, according to the United states department of agriculture. The blight occurred early this year and reports show that it is more prevalent than usual. While in some fields the blight is already beyond control, prompt spraying with bordeaux mixture will in most cases still be effective, the specialists advise. Unless potato growers spray thoroughly with bordeaux mixture they fear that the large potato crop that has been promised will not be realized, as late blight, if uncontrolled, is capable of reducing the national crop at the rate of 2,000,- Thorough agitation is essential in mak-000 bushels per day.

To produce a large crop the tops must be kept healthy till frost as the tubers increase in size most rapidly during the last weeks of the season. The late blight kills the tops and causes the tubers to rot in the ground. The blight starts in a few centers in the field where diseased potatoes were planted. Brown spots develop on the leaves and a whitish mildew appears on their under side. Frequent rains and warm, muggy weather furnish ideal conditions for the development of the blight under which the foliage blights rapidly, the leaves hang blackened and dead and the tubers begin to rot. Dry and hot weather on the other hand tends to check the progress of the blight but growers should spray immediately and not trust their crops entirely to improvement in weather

As an effective preventive of late blight bordeaux mixture has proved trates and reproduces himself faster its value for 25 years. Every grower from Maine to Michigan and south to Virginia is urged to spray at once and repeatedly.

How to Make Bordeaux Mixture. Home-made bordeaux mixture is best. Use

Bluestone (copper sulphate) 4 pounds

Prepare the copper sulphate by suspending it in a gunny sack just below the surface of several gallons of water in a clean barrel. When the sulphate is dissolved, which requires three or four hours, remove the sack and stir into the barrel enough additional water to make exactly 25 gallons of the copper solution. Prepare the lime by slaking it slowly and thoroughly in a clean barrel, strain, and add enough additional water to make exactly 25 gallons of lime milk. Stir thoroughly. Pour the two ingredients together into another barrel, or better directly into the spray tank, if it will hold 50 gallons. It is highly important to stir mal times, and the war greatly has inthe mixture very thoroughly and to creased this proportion. According to strain both ingredients before they are the estimates there was an increase of combined, as otherwise clogging of the 9,580,000 hogs between 1910, the census spray nozzles might result. needed and apply at once. It is never so good after it has settled.

Where poisons such as arsenate of lead are to be combined with bordeaux mixture, add the poison after the two solutions are mixed. Then stir well.

Stock Bordeaux Solution.

Those who use bordeaux mixture frequently and in quantity will find it convenient to keep concentrated stock solution on hand, as these keep indefinitely if the water which evaporates is replaced.

Build an elevated platform to hold the barrels. The night before the day you wish to commence spraying, suspend 50 pounds of copper sulphate to dissolve in a 50-gallon barrel of water. Slake 50 pounds of lime in another barrel. Add water to make 50 gallons of lime milk. When bordeaux mixture is needed, stir both stock barrels well and take four gallons from each stock barrel. Dilute the copper sulphate in one barrel by adding enough water to make 25 gallons. Dilute the lime milk in another barrel by adding enough water to make 25 gallons. Stir each thoroughly. Combine the two as in previous directions. ing good bordeaux mixture.

PORK IS PRINCIPAL MEAT OF AMERICANS

Hog Is Most Important Animal to Raise for Meat and Money-Consumes By-Products.

(From the United States Department of Agriculture.)

The quickest and surest way of augmenting the meat supply next to the raising of poultry is by raising hogs, the United States department of agriculture points out. The hog is the most important animal to raise for meat and money. He requires less labor, less equipment, less capital, makes greater gains per hundred pounds of concenand in greater numbers than any other domestic animal. As a consumer of by-products the hog has no rival. No other animal equals the lard hog in its fat-storing tendency. The most satisfactory meat for shipping long distances on train, boat or wagon, and for long storage after reaching its destination is mess pork.

Pork finds ready sale because packers have discovered many ways of placing pork on the market in attractive and highly palatable form combined with most' excellent keeping qualities. There is no other meat from which so many products are manufactured. Very near 50 per cent of the total value, in dollars and cents, of the meat and meat products slaughtered in the packing houses of the United States is derived from the hog. Our country leads by far all countries in the production as well as in the consumption of meat and meat products. Three-fourths of the world's international trade in pork and pork products originates in the United States in norDelicious Lunch.

Feed the Fighters!

Harvest the Crops - Save the Yields

On the battle fields of France and Flanders, the United States boys and the Canadian boys are fighting side by side to win for the World the freedom that Prussianism would destroy. While doing this they must be fed and every ounce of muscle that can be requisitioned must go into use to save this year's crop. A short harvest period requires the combined forces of the two countries in team work, such as the soldier boys in France and Flanders are demonstrating.

The Combined Fighters In France and Flanders and the Combined Harvesters in America WILL Bring the Allied Victory Nearer.

A reciprocal arrangement for the use of farm workers has been perfected between the Department of the Interior of Canada and the Departments of Labor and Agriculture of the United States, under which it is proposed to permit the harvesters that are now engaged in the wheat fields of Oklahoma, Kansas, Iowa, North Dakota, South Dakota, Nebraska, Minnesota and Wisconsin to move over into Canada, with the privilege of later returning to the United States, when the crops in the United States have been conserved, and help to save the enormous crops in Canada which by that time will be ready for harvesting.
