What About It?

What about the town's "street assessment" of two dollars, some did and some didn't. Let's all do or don't. It would show a better home pride spirit for us all to "pay it."

Suit For Judgment

In the case of Bundy Keever vs Amzi Stover and John Lyons for judgment on a note, attorney Graves represented the plaintiff in Squire Ballinger's court, in the northwest corner of the Wilhelm Restaurant at 10 o'clock, A. M. Monday. Squire Ballinger found that John Lyons was only surety on the note and rendered judgment against Amzi Stover who recently left Upland for Calif.

Two Weeks Vacation

Turkey Dinner

Albert Ballinger, trustee of Monroe township, was the host at a turkey dinner given at his house last Saturday. The guests were County Supt., Chas. Terrill, the teachers of Monroe township, Anna McVicker and Lillian Parks. Many interesting things concerning the school work were discussed. Musical numbers were rendered during a social program and all report a grand time.

May Ask State For Investigation

The state of Indiana may be asked to help several citizens of Upland collect money paid to the Missouri Business Men's Accident and Health Association of St. Louis. It seems that an agent representing the company by the name of S. R. Barnhart, claiming his home to be in Columbus, O., has got the company and himself into one nice mess or else the "mess" is only a trick in the trade.
The agent wrote policies of $5,000 accident and $25.00 health to a number of citizens about town. He asked a 5 dollar deposit, which amount paid the policy until the first of the year.
After a time word was received from the company that the agent has classified them wrong, and that the insured belonged in a lower class, the company along with this letter sent a "commercial policy" which they asked the insured to sign.
Many did not wish to sign a lower policy and asked for the return of their money which they contend has so far been impossible to get.

How's This?

Mamma Pass the Beans.
Here are a few figures concerning the price of land and its crops this year in Michigan, which we are taking from a Michigan paper handed us by D. B. Johnson.
Felix Miller of Williamsburg owns 160 acres assessed at $3,270. Fifty acres of potatoes yielded him $7,000.
John Morrison's forty acres are assessed at $2,000. He raised 3,000 bushels selling at $4,000.
Vern Smith rented ten acres at $5.00 per acre. He raised more than $2,500 worth of potatoes on the ten acres. He paid the lessor $5.00 per day for hauling.
Kelly Moran planted nineteen acres. September 5 he looked at the tops and decided to plow up the field. His sons persuaded him to wait. He got $5,000 for his yield.
Joseph Allgaier offered to sell his place at $3,400 last spring. He found no buyer. This fall he sold $4,000 worth of potatoes and still had lots of hay and beans.
Burr McIntosh raised 305 bushels on one acre and sold them for $427.
Sixty bushels of beans will buy a new Ford car!

PERSONALS

Bundy Keever has purchased of Wm. Campbell of Hartford City a Ford run-about.

Dr. Williamson and family have returned after visiting with relatives near Bluffton the past week.

Indianapolis.—The township trustees of Indiana in the closing session of their convention decided to recognize the need of reorganization of the country school system of the state. The action of the trustees, who voted to name a committee of five to confer with educational authorities, came after a heated debate. Many of the leading educators have advocated the abolition of township trustee in the school system. The trustees will ask the legislature to raise their salary to $3.50 per day. All the officers were re-elected.

Mr. Ed Gibson has the past two weeks been at the bedside of her mother who is confined in a hospital at Piqua, O., the outcome of an operation for cancer.

When we read the daily papers and notice head lines reading "Robbers," "Safe Blow" etc., we wonder how much longer they will give Upland. Any number of small towns have been visited within the past month. Sunday night seven business places were broken into at Lafontaine. We believe our night watchman deserves credit. The town of Lafontaine has no night watch.

Miss Marguerite Bugher entertained the following friends at her home last Friday evening: Miss Edna Bennett of Walkerton, Ind., N. E. Hanson, J. R. Norvelle, Leslie Brook, R. L. Pickett, and Miss Helen Raymond.

Settlement of Great War on Terms of Justice Alone to Bring Lasting Peace

By MRS. BELVA LOCKWOOD

I am more interested in peace for the world than in anything else—peace, when and how. I hope I will live to see it, and I believe I will. I am keenly interested in the great meeting for peace to be held next May by the League to Enforce Peace. I hope to attend that meeting. A similar meeting is to be held by the International Peace league at The Hague, and a third great peace meeting is to be held by the Peace league at Lugano, Switzerland. I want to see these three great peace meetings assemble the peace advocates from all over the world and unite on some definite, practical program that will mean lasting peace for civilization.

This great war, the most terrible in the history of the world, has proved what war really is. The terms of settlement must confirm this for all time, viz., that war is a demon let loose by greed and lust for power. In the civilization of today and the future this monster must not be allowed to settle the affairs of men. I expect to see the nations of the world unite in settlement of this titanic struggle on terms of justice, and from that union a brotherhood of nations will grow that will make future wars impossible.

The neutral nations in Europe and the United States seem agreed that the settlement must replace the map of Europe as it was at the beginning of the war. The status quo of nations must be preserved. French territory must be restored. Belgium must be preserved intact. Poland—long a bone of contention—must have autonomy; in other words, all of the smaller nations must have autonomy. That is justice, and justice must prevail. If this is not done there will be another war just as soon as the nations can prepare for it.

Each day I am more firmly convinced that this is the last great war, and that an era of world peace is about to dawn.

Character Building Is as Important in Schools as Education of Head and Hand

By MISS ANNA WILSON
President Indiana State Teachers' Association

We have come to realize, with the church and the state, that education of head and hand without education of heart is vain, and thus that character building is our ultimate aim, and character is habit, and most habits are formed before twenty.

We have the future citizens of our state, the boys and girls, under our influence during nearly all habit-forming years. We have come to see that education without culture is insufficient, thus that we must inspire a desire for the more abundant life—the appreciation of nature, the love of music and good books, the right use of the leisure hours.

We must show that no man liveth to himself alone, or by bread alone, but that all must work for the big, broad, human, public-spirited side of things. Of what avail are the compulsory laws if the school does not give back to the state useful, happy, self-supporting, loyal citizens?

The business world has long regarded waste as failure; the highest efficiency, the greatest per cent upon the money invested is the end most sought. We may even hope that the epoch-making hour may soon arrive when in every school system the principles of democracy through representation may be adopted, when the teachers of each department, from the primary grade through the university, may elect one of their own number best fitted by education, experience and personality to represent them in a school council which shall investigate, discuss and advise all changes to be made in school affairs.

Many Careers Are Ruined and Homes Disrupted by Lack of Even Tempers

By REV. JAMES S. MONTGOMERY, Washington, D. C.

Many a career is ruined, many a friendship broken, many a house upset by a lack of even tempers. Look at Thomas Carlyle, the great philosopher, who made life unbearable for his wife, Jane. This great man allowed his wife to die from lack of his care and sympathy. His sorrow after her death came too late. Carlyle was a great philosopher, but he was not the kind of man to live with.

Co-operation is the thing that will make happy homes. A sunny temper is a blessing to any home. The milk of human kindness in a man's heart or a woman's breast is like a beautiful flower in the window, a beautiful picture on the wall. A home without harmony and understanding is like a plot of bare ground, a blank wall. A home where peace and quiet do not reign is like a cathedral without architecture or parapets—just walls.

The ill-tempered man is unsocial and ungrateful. We need men of sanity, sense and equipoise.

Passions and desires should be controlled. There is power in restraint. Where is the source of the river's strength? Where but in the banks that control it? The duty of the hour is to study personal equipoise.

World Has Suffered Through Failure of Men to Accord Women the Ballot

By REV. MORRIS H. TURK of Kansas City, Mo.

Just as now no one who is sane would think of defending slavery, so in two decades no one who is unwilling to be laughed at will attempt to give a single reason why women should not have the vote.

It is in perfect accord with every decent ideal of our social order. Women must, for the good of the race, be allowed to express their social convictions the same as men—by the vote. The world has suffered greatly through man's failure to appropriate women's sense of intuition to help man in solving social problems.

All problems are moral, social and religious. It is impossible to separate these elements. And as long as this is so, we are doing the race an injury in not taking advantage of the immense assistance women would be able to give us in solving our problems. The whole world is working toward a more democratic ideal. It is idle to attempt a true democracy when you have one-half of the race absolutely shut off. We must embrace the opportunity to have with us in our struggle the foundation of the family—the women.

Enthusiasm for Furs.

Furs have invaded every branch of woman's apparel as the most desired of garnitures. There is an immense enthusiasm for them. They add a sumptuous touch to coats and suits and wraps of all kinds. In millinery a border or collar of fur on a lace or flower-trimmed hat makes places for its summy gayeties in the depth of winter. Millinery designers delight in the touch of fur.

Just about the best asset in the winter's wardrobe is a fur set of some sort—a neckpiece, little or big, and a smart muff. They are worn with coats and suits, one-piece frocks, and evening wraps. Anything unusual or original in designing them, so long as it is graceful, adds much to their distinction. The woman who is clever about making things for herself at home can make small fancy neckpieces and pillow muffs of fur or of fur and a material combined.

The handsome set pictured is made of moleskin bordered with Hudson seal. The small cape, rather full, is lengthened by two ruffles of moleskin, and has the effect of a triple cape, each one of them bordered with the seal. There are two similar ruffles at each side of the muff. The ruffles are lined with mole-colored satin, and the very modish collar muffs up the neck in the approved style.

All the soft, loosely woven cloths, that are fashionable are combined with fur bandings in smart sets. Velvet, brocade, and rich ribbons play an important role also in fashioning them. Neckpieces in combinations of fabrics and fur are usually small, but muffs are larger than many all-fur muffs. Large fur-covered buttons and hanging balls of fur are among the embellishments that fashion approves. Occasionally a bright-colored material is veiled with a sedate color in chiffon and encircled with fur in unusual sets.

Concerning Skating Sets.

The golden days of Indian summer might make us forget winter, or cease to believe in it, if it were not for forecasts in the shop windows. They are full of fineries and furbelows for Christmas gifts, and furs and wraps that will warm those who wear them to the soul; or let us hope so. It is to be gathered from them that skating will be winter's foremost pastime, for there are all sorts of skating outfits displayed.

There are costumes among them in which sports cloths reach the apex of luxury and beauty, and there are many unpretentious but captivating skating sets, sometimes of three pieces, and often of two. The three-piece sets include muffler, cape, and muff to match, and the two-piece sets muffler and cape or hat. They make ideal Christmas gifts.

Several of the new materials, as wool velours. Bolivia cloth, and the lighter fur-fabrics are perfectly adapted to these sets. Elderdown is an ideal material for them, and the set shown in the picture is made of it. But any of the soft, woolly cloths might be used for the plain muffler and to cover the small hat shape, with about the same good effect. The hat is held on by a bridle of elderdown, and the sportive-looking pompon is made of yarn, which is of all things the best for decorating skating sets.

Besides the sets made of fabrics there are practical and handsome ones of yarns. Angora is the coziest looking of these. White bordered with colored stripes and bright colors, trimmed with white, seem to match up best with a winter landscape; at any rate this is the opinion of those who have designed skating togs. But more audacious color combinations may expect to meet with approval against a background of ice and snow, and after all is said, there is nothing better than vivid Scotch plaids for winter sports.

Beware the Trained Short Skirt.

There is one Parisian horror made only for American buyers, in which no vraie Parisienne would be seen and which I warn you to avoid—the short, full skirt with a long train attached to it. Every time I see women thus garbed I almost laugh right out; they look so funny.—Lucile in Harper's Bazar.

Temperance Notes

"PERSONAL LIBERTY" EXHIBIT.

An antialcohol exhibit in a certain town faced several saloons located just across the street, the proprietors of which were reported to bitterly resent the prohibition facts presented. Threats were said to have been made by them, so that the special night watchman employed gave much of the time to careful guarding of this exhibit. The town appears to be something of a rendezvous for personal liberty agitators. These people were the first to "size up" the exhibits, and continually some of them were circulating among the people ready for a discussion.

One day a foreign-born citizen stood at the W. C. T. U. booth and fell into conversation. He professed to believe in temperance all right, but he had a right to do as he pleased in his own home, etc. Presently he was joined by another man who talked loudly after the same fashion. Soon quite a little company had gathered to listen and occasionally take part in the "free for all." Suddenly right into their midst lurched a man who immediately began to take part in the discussion. He was drunk and said so, but informed them that liquor was the worst curse in the world; that though he was a drinking man he meant to vote every time. He was allowed to talk until everyone present realized the situation, then the director of the exhibit turned to the two defenders of personal liberty and remarked, "Gentlemen, here is a sample of the product of what you are advocating and defending. How do you like the exhibit?" There was no reply and soon they had disappeared, seeming to just melt away in silence.

BAD JOKE.

"Alcohol as a food is a joke, and rather a bad joke at that," affirms Dr. Woods Hutchinson.

"Alcohol does not do for us a single one of the things we think it does, and it does a score of other things which we have no idea of when we drink it.

"Thirty years ago we were blandly confident that alcohol was a food because it could be burned in the body. Now, we know that the total amount of alcohol which can be burned in the body in 24 hours is only two ounces, which would be about the same amount of energy as one good slice of bread and butter; that is to say, about one-tenth of the fuel required to keep us alive.

"If we were to attempt to use alcohol as a serious source of nourishment we should be blind drunk before we had taken more than one-fifth of the amount needed for a day's rations.

"Moreover, even in the small amount which can be daily consumed and burned up in the body, its poisonous effects are at least 50 per cent greater than its food value.

It throws the body engine out of gear almost twice as much as it puts fuel into its fire-box. The amount of malt taken with it in beer and fruit-sugars in wine are so trifling as to be not worth counting in our day's food supply."

WORK FOR EVERYBODY.

"I saw not a single man who was looking for a job as the result of the closing of the saloons, breweries and distilleries," said a former resident of Seattle, after a visit to that city. "On the contrary, I heard on every hand that there was more work than laborers to do it. I was told by someone from the Industrial Brotherhood, a refuge for 'down and outs,' that there was actually nobody without employment who was able to work. You know that for two winters preceding the going into effect of the prohibitory law, we had in Seattle what they called 'Hotel Liberty,' at which, during the last winter there were housed about 2,500 men out of employment. That has now ceased to exist; in fact I am told by those who know, that last winter there was no bread line in the city at any point."

EVEN PENNSYLVANIA.

That supposedly impregnable stronghold of liquorism, the state of Pennsylvania, is, like every other state of the Union, giving way before advancing prohibition sentiment. Five years ago it had two dry counties; today it has eleven. In 1911 there was one saloon for every 681 persons; today there is one for every 737. In 1911 there were about 700 square miles of dry territory; today there are 12,300. In 1911, 60,000 people of the state lived in non-licensure territory; today there are 1,500,000, nearly one-fifth of the total population. It is stated that of the 1,700 saloons in Philadelphia, 200 are on the market. One broker advertises that he has 100 for sale.

WHAT SALOON SAYS.

Today the saloon says to the government, "Don't bother me. The wage-workers of this country have $2,000,000 in their pocketbooks that I want to pick. You let me get at it and I'll divide the swag with you."—Billy Sunday.

UNANSWERABLE ARGUMENT.

"I have a boy (or girl) at home" ought to be the unanswerable argument against the legalized liquor traffic for every man who is privileged to be a father.

QUIETED FOR SHORT TIME

Youthful Soldiers Had to Do Some Thinking Before They Could Find Effective Answer to Gibe.

Some young volunteers were traveling in their drilling ground and a certain noisy section of them at one station sought to pass the time by hurling ill-mannered gibes at a smart-looking officer in the "Regulars," who was waiting for his train. He stood the fire very well for ten minutes, and then, stopping near the compartment which held the rowdy volunteers, said sharply to the guard:

"Guard, what is the meaning of this train's long delay?"
"They are examining the volunteers' tickets, sir," answered the guard.
"Oh, thanks," drawled the officer; "but I always thought that children in arms never required tickets."
And the train started again before any of the volunteers had sufficiently recovered from the shock to reply.—London Tit-Bits.

THE PROFESSOR'S STATEMENT.

Prof. Aug. F. W. Schmitz, Thomas, Okla., writes: "I was troubled with Backache for about twenty-five years. When told I had Bright's Disease in its last stages, I tried Dodd's Kidney Pills. After using two boxes I was somewhat relieved and I stopped the treatment. In the spring of the next year I had another attack. I went for Dodd's Kidney Pills and they relieved me again. I used three boxes. That is now three years ago and my Backache has not returned in its severity, and by using another two boxes a little later on, the pain left altogether and I have had no trouble since. You may use my statement. I recommend Dodd's Kidney Pills when and wherever I can." Dodd's Kidney Pills, 50c. per box at your dealer or Dodd's Medicine Co., Buffalo, N. Y.—Adv.

SWEATING FRUIT IS VIOLATION OF LAW

Food and Drugs Act Prevents Interstate Shipment of Immature Oranges and Grapefruit.

(From the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Growers and shippers of oranges and grapefruit are making inquiries of the United States department of agriculture in reference to what action will be taken by the department during the coming season toward preventing the shipment into interstate commerce of immature citrus fruits which have been artificially colored by sweating. The officials in charge of the enforcement of the food and drugs act state they will be guided in their action by the position of the department previously announced, to the effect that the shipment in interstate commerce of immature oranges and grapefruit, which are sweated either before shipment or en route, is a violation of the food and drugs act when the sweating conceals inferiority by making unripe fruit appear to be ripe. The sweating process turns the green color of the unripe fruit to yellow, and fruit so treated has the appearance of being ripe. However, extensive investigations by the department have shown that the sweating process does not ripen the immature fruit.

One of the tests to determine whether or not an orange is mature is the so-called "eight-to-one test." This test is based on the ratio of the soluble solids to the acid contained in the juice of the orange. The soluble solids increase as the oranges ripen, while the acid decreases. The oranges are considered immature until the juice contains soluble solids equal to, or in excess of, eight parts to each part of acid contained in the juice. The amount of soluble solids in orange juice is about equivalent to the amount of sugar it contains. The ratio of the sugar to the acid in the juice determines the sweetness of the orange. In the case of grapefruit, maturity is indicated by a ratio of seven parts of soluble solids in the juice to one part of acid. The United States department of agriculture will send to any grower or shipper, upon request, specific directions for making the eight-to-one test.

The position of the United States department of agriculture in reference to the sweating of immature citrus fruit is stated in Food Inspection Decision 133, and in Service and Regulatory Announcements of the Bureau of Chemistry numbered 11 and 15, which will be furnished upon application to the department.

IMPORTANCE OF ORCHARD WINDBREAKS

(By L. ARNY, New York Experiment Station.)

The important point is to place the tree in such a place that it will have the advantage of high altitude, which means good air drainage, but at the same time that it will not be exposed to high winds, which means quick evaporation. The best means of accomplishing this is to provide the orchard with a windbreak.

Windbreaks should contain both care and judgment, since they often become a hindrance instead of a help in places where they are wrongly planted. The one great drawback to them is the fact that unless watched very closely, they may become a breeding place for dangerous insects; but if care is exercised in this direction, the good effects of them will overbalance this point. That is, if the orchard is regularly and intelligently sprayed, the insect problem is not an economically serious one.

Object of Windbreak.
Windbreaks should be planted with evergreen and deciduous trees. The object is not to stop the wind, since that would be almost as harmful as having too much, but it is simply to check it so that the force will be broken by the time it reaches the trees.

PROTECT ALL YOUNG TREES FROM RABBITS

Tarred Building Paper Tied Around Trees Will Afford Absolute Protection.

It is time to think about protecting the young trees from rabbits. In the editor's boyhood days we attempted to do this by applying various preparations to the tree trunk, but we do not recall any that were effective. Last winter we saw a young orchard in which tarred building paper, costing 60 to 75 cents per 150 feet, had been tied around the trees, affording absolute protection. Cut in strips, wrap about the tree, and tie with tarred twine. The tar is repellant not only to rabbits, but to mice and insects, and the trunks of trees protected in this way will not be injured. This may be left on during the season if so desired. The paper may remain around the trunk for two or three years without injury.—Kansas Farmer.

TO GET BETTER EGGS

Keep males from hens except during breeding season.
Gather eggs carefully in warm weather twice daily.
Keep nests free from filth and provide plenty of them.
Market eggs twice a week if possible.
Never wash eggs, it destroys their keeping qualities.
Store away from vegetable cellar, musty grain, oils, etc.

ADDITION OF ACID PHOSPHATE FAVORED

Interesting Test Made With Barnyard Manure by the Ohio Experiment Station.

The value of barnyard manure varies according to the way it is treated, according to the Ohio experiment station. In one test just announced in Bulletin No. 286, manure that was untreated was worth $2.60 per ton and when treated with acid phosphate at the rate of 40 pounds to the ton and kept under cover was worth $4.80. The experiment station explains that manure is not well-balanced fertilizer for the older farm lands and that the addition of acid phosphate should be made to obtain the highest results from the manure.

College Men in War.

Possibly more than any other war ever waged, the present European struggle has drawn into its vortex men of education, men of mental attainments and students. In the very nature of this war, it could not be otherwise. With the possible exception of Russia there is not a nation engaged but has had to draw deeply upon its human reserve resources. It is doubtful if there is a family in France, Germany or Great Britain that does not have a representative somewhere among the fighters. What a toll this war has taken of the intellect of England is indicated by a report of Doctor Barrows, principal of King's college. From this it appears that regular men students of English birth have fallen from 800 in the year previous to the war to about 100 now. The college has contributed 512 officers to the army and navy. And the work of the college itself, especially the scientific part of it, is directed largely along lines incidental to the war.

Answered Logically.

A good story is being told of a reply given by a student to a question set in an examination paper.
"If 20 men reap a field in eight hours," ran the question, "how long will 15 men take to reap the same field?"
The student thought long and carefully before setting down the answer, and when he handed in his paper this is what the examiner read:
"The field, having already been reaped by the 20 men, could not be reaped a second time by the 15."

Bodily Housekeeping

(BY V. M. PIERCE, M. D.)

The subject of drinking water with meals has been misunderstood.

In recent years investigation by means of X-rays, the observations of scientists such as Cannon, Grutzner, Pavlov, Fowler, Hawk, prove that an abundance of water taken during digestion is necessary in good bodily housekeeping.

If your kidneys are sick, or you suffer with lumbago or rheumatism at times, pain in the back or back of the neck, take a little Anuric before meals. This can be found at any good drug store. Therefore my advice to young or old is, always drink plenty of pure water. And for long life, occasionally take tablets of Anuric three or four times a day.

Anuric acts much more quickly than lithia. Many find it dissolves uric acid as water does sugar.

Getting Old Too Fast?

Late in life the body shows signs of wear and often the kidneys weaken first. The back is lame, bent and achy, and the kidney action distressing. This makes people feel older than they are. Don't wait for dropsy, gravel, hardening of the arteries or Bright's disease. Use a mild kidney stimulant. Try Doan's Kidney Pills. Thousands of elderly folks recommend them.

An Indiana Case

Mrs. C. A. Mayhew, 1442 N. Third St., Logansport, Ind., says: "I was bothered by disordered kidneys and my back was weak and achy. When I straightened after stooping, sharp twinges darted through me and often I got so dizzy, I could hardly stand. I didn't rest well at night and felt worn out. Doan's Kidney Pills rid me of all these troubles."

NEWS OF MARION

Marion, Ind.—"All last winter I suffered from a terrible pain in my back. I felt miserable all over, and could not walk but a short distance. Was unable to work and did not sleep well at night as I was obliged to arise frequently. I learned of Anuric, discovered by Dr. Pierce, and sent for a trial package. This medicine relieved me in a short time of getting up at night, and I have gained considerable. I am better now than I have been for some time, sleep better, have less rheumatism and do quite a lot of work for a woman of my age. I had brick-dust settings in my urine before using 'Anuric,' now there is none. I thank Dr. Pierce very much, for this medicine has done me lots of good."
"I hope this letter may help someone else who suffers as I did, or worse."—MRS. ELLA A. GARRISON, Route 4.

Smith Drain

Property owners on the north side of town will again be assessed for drainage providing the H. B. Smith drain, better known as the Walnut Creek drain, is ordered cleaned. The return date on the notices is January 1, 1917.

Property owners on the north side of town were assessed 30c per lot for the Swartz drain by trustee Richards, already this summer. And now comes the Walnut Creek drain assessing the entire town, on the north side of the railroad, at $1 per lot.

Many residents claim the payment of the assessments are very unsatisfactory, because the property owner is requested to look up a man they in all probability never saw and pay their assessment. It seems that those assessed are willing to pay for their drainage but they would rather pay it at the Court House at the same time they pay their taxes. The H. B. Smith drain starts in Washington township Blackford county and runs into Grant county.

Maxwell Bowen, an Upland youth on the border, writes that the 3rd Indiana is leaving and that the first Indiana, of which he and Kearney Kline are members, will start homeward within two months and probably sooner. He says that it is still very hot there and that he and Kearney have been enjoying themselves riding breakers in the gulf of Mexico.

He also stated that Guy Broyles, another Upland boy who left at the same time for Akron, O., to take a similar position with the same company, visited him last Sunday.

This is the season of the year when everybody is looking for something new in stockings.

Jerry Wakefield, principal of the High School here, was the official referee in the game of Basket Ball played last Friday night at Hartford City, between that town and Liberty Center. The latter team was beaten.

Jessie House renewed his subscription with the Monitor last week.
