FOUNDING DATE OF FORT WAYNE BIBLE COLLEGE CHANGED

*By Dr. Jared Gerig
Chancellor, Fort Wayne Bible College*

A sentence in the introduction to the history of Fort Wayne Bible College, A VINE OF GOD'S OWN PLANTING, gives a simple statement. "The College was planted in Bluffton, Ohio. It was transplanted to Fort Wayne, Indiana." Another statement conveys the same fact differently, "Bluffton, Ohio, has been called the birthplace of Fort Wayne Bible College."

Without involving all the historical details, the original school opened in Bluffton, Ohio, as Bethany Bible Institute on November 1, 1895. The idea and vision for the Bethany Bible Institute in the mind and heart of Benjamin P. Lugibihl placed him in the vanguard of the Bible College movement. Rev. J. E. Ramseyer, a highly successful evangelist, accepted a call to become the first principal. Rev. D.Y. Schultz became involved as a teacher in the second year and in the third year succeeded Mr. Ramseyer as principal. These three men had a vital part in the founding and establishing of the school.

Due to providential circumstances, Bethany Bible Institute did not reopen after the close of the term in April 1901. In the interim period, there was persistent and constant inquiry from many directions about its reopening. The Fifth Annual Conference of The Missionary Church, held September 12-20, 1903, addressed the reopening issue. The Conference resolved, "that the reopening of the Bible School be left to the discretion of brethren J. E. Ramseyer, D.Y. Schultz, and B. P. Lugibihl." These men, "after prayerful consideration, were fully assured that the Institute should be reopened." The reopening took place in Bluffton, Ohio, and the term lasted from January 1 to April 1, 1904. A five-day Missionary Conference preceded the reopening.

It was very clear at the close of the first term that larger quarters and a more accessible location would be necessary. Such quarters would allow the continuance of the training program envisioned by the Missionary Church. This motivated a search for a new site in the summer of 1904. The founders decided to purchase the last site surveyed located in Fort Wayne, Indiana. The land sold for $1,800 on July 12, 1904.

PRESIDENT'S PERSPECTIVE

"Pray the Lord of the harvest that He will send laborers into His harvest." It is not hard to quote those words which came from the lips of the Lord. It is hard, however, to honestly obey them. It becomes especially hard if the answer to that prayer involves your child or grandchild. Frankly, I remember a time when some form of ministry for Christ was considered an honored option. There was a natural flow of people from our churches coming to Fort Wayne Bible College planning on ministry or service as a vocation. Today I sense that ministry and service become one of the last options, not the first, for people in our churches. The cutting edge of interest is on a host of other issues . . . political, social, and moral . . . rather than on the work of extending the kingdom to the glory of God. All the while the statistics of unreached people become more staggering. Literally millions of people need to hear the message of the Gospel and see the love of Christ in action. Will there be people to carry that message to them? We are grateful for students who come to FWBC with that purpose. But, there must be more! By the way, how many people from your church have gone into some ministry in the last five years? Let's hear the command of Christ again . . . "PRAY THE LORD OF THE HARVEST TO SEND LABORERS INTO HIS HARVEST" . . . and, let's obey it!

Much has been accomplished on the new multipurpose activities center! The building is now enclosed allowing interior work to progress during the winter. Completion date is still projected for late Spring of 1989. The College is thrilled to report a generous gift of $70,000 from Mr. and Mrs. Robert Moellering and Moellering Construction Company of Fort Wayne. This gift brings the College within $80,000 of completing its capital campaign.

NEW NAME ANNOUNCED FOR FORT WAYNE BIBLE COLLEGE

Mr. Paul A. Steiner, Chairman of the Board of Fort Wayne Bible College, has announced that effective July 1, 1989, the name of the College will be changed to SUMMIT CHRISTIAN COLLEGE.

Dr. Donald D. Gerig, President of Fort Wayne Bible College, explained that this change marks a significant new point of advancement for the College. Dr. Gerig stated, "For many decades the thrust of Fort Wayne Bible College has been to educate people for direct church ministry. In recent years, however, our scope of educational offerings has been expanded to include other areas of service as well."

The announcement of name change comes after extensive market research, constituent feasibility studies and several months of careful consideration. It is felt by College officials that the new name will better reflect the educational opportunities offered by the College.

Dr. Gerig emphasized that the Bible will continue to be at the heart of education at the College with students continuing to major in biblical studies in addition to their professional major. "We are convinced that truth emanates from God Himself which makes the integration of biblical studies into all learning an absolute essential and distinction."

College officials commented that "Summit" does relate to Fort Wayne, "The Summit City," but that it also pertains to the College's intention to continue to make the institution the summit of education for service to God and humanity.

Fort Wayne Bible College was founded in 1895 in Bluffton, Ohio, at which time it was known as Bethany Bible Institute. In 1904 the institution moved to Fort Wayne. It has been known as Fort Wayne Bible College since 1950.

Fort Wayne Bible College is a four-year, baccalaureate institution of higher education regionally accredited by the North Central Association. Major fields of study at the College consist of Biblical Studies, Christian Counseling, Christian Education, Early Childhood Education, Elementary Education, Music, Management, Pastoral Ministries, and World Mission.

DEPARTMENT OF CORRESPONDENCE STUDIES: FIFTY YEARS AND GOING STRONG

by Dr. Douglas Barcalow

Assistant Dean for Correspondence and Continuing Education

"In response to increasing inquiries for courses taught by correspondence the Fort Wayne Bible Institute is prepared to announce the organization of its School of Correspondence."

1938 Catalog, p. 31

The preceding paragraph publicly announced the beginning of an effort to reach nontraditional students. The announcement afforded them with "an opportunity for a sound and systematic Bible education." This year the Department of Correspondence Studies celebrates fifty years of operation. From those humble beginnings in 1938, the program has grown to an enrollment of 3,000 students.

Initially, Professor Loyal R. Ringenberg headed the School of Correspondence. Following the pattern set up by the University of London and the University of Chicago, the program offered course work comparable to that available on campus. Right from the start, Fort Wayne offered students the opportunity to earn credits to be applied toward graduation.

The development of the program is best described as stable during the first thirty-two years. Beginning with only nine courses -- seven in Bible, one in Evangelism, and one in English -- the department reported an enrollment of sixty-eight students in 1941. Enrollment grew to just over one hundred and stayed around that level. In July 1970, the College purchased the Correspondence Department of Judson College. Overnight it expanded its curricular offerings from nine courses to eighty-nine. At the time of the purchase Fort Wayne's enrollment was ninety-nine. Judson sent 538 enrollments to Fort Wayne. What was handled as a part-time administrative duty now suddenly became a full-fledged department -- a department requiring a full-time director, an assistant, and secretarial help.

Mr. Cyril Eicher became Director of Correspondence Studies, and Miss Donna Lutton was his assistant. The following years saw steady growth. Within one year enrollment reached 1,000. The passing of the 2,000 mark came in the spring of 1978. In August 1987 enrollment reached 3,000!

Throughout the years the purpose of the Department of Correspondence Studies has remained the same: to provide college-level courses for the student who cannot attend residential classes. While 75% of the enrollments are students already in college and planning to transfer credits, a good number of students are pastors, housewives, missionaries, teachers, and even prisoners. (DCS credits are accepted at over 500 colleges and universities.) For these people the DCS continues to provide the opportunity to gain a "sound and systematic Bible education." REFLECTIONS ON A SEMESTER

There is a world of difference between studying about being a missionary in a Third World city and actually being a missionary in a Third World city. I think every student, especially those wanting to be missionaries or pastors, need to encounter an experience like this in another country.

-- Peter Schultz

The Semester Abroad Program afforded me the once in a lifetime opportunity of serving Christ overseas while completing my B.A. degree in World Missions. The Lord confirmed His call on my life to full-time overseas missionary work. My life will never be the same as a result of this program.

-- Nick Johnson

In Brazil we were challenged by a language barrier to communicate through our lives. Why is it that when we are not confronted with language difficulties, our lives become the barriers?

-- Andrea Voisard

Wow! The Peniel Church is great -- so full of life and on the move. It was a great learning experience to see the love that these Brazilian believers have for those trapped in a world of sin.

-- Jacala McGrew

Randy Salway studies Portuguese. . . a necessity for communication in Belo Horizonte.

The Semester Abroad Experience is Over, Or Is It? Students spent hours in airplanes, cars, buses, vans, trucks, trains, subways and boats. They shared their testimonies in broken Portuguese on street corners, on park benches, inside buses and bars, and in homes. Weary students developed a knack for sleeping anywhere! They stretched out on bare concrete floors of airport lobbies and slept seated in moving vehicles. Students broadened their horizons as they encountered the realities of urban living in the Third World. They developed lasting relationships with many Brazilian brothers and sisters in Christ.

Although it is a bit early to make a thorough evaluation of the Semester Abroad Program, there are at least three areas enhanced by the learning experiences. The first area deals with a more realistic view of cross-cultural missions. The second pertains to a wide variety of cross-cultural experiences. The third area involves a deeper level of communication and understanding between the professor in world mission and his "cross-cultural learners."

Each student who participated in the Semester Abroad Program now has a more realistic view of missions. After two and a half months, most romantic notions about this subject have died. Many issues jumped from the pages of a missions textbook into the arena of life's experiences.

Such issues include culture shock, sickness, interpersonal relationship struggles, the rigors and disciplines of language learning, and the reality of spiritual warfare.

Brazil also offered some very unique cross-cultural opportunities. The students lived in Brazilian homes and developed some

What stands out in my mind the most is the specific direction God has given me regarding my future and the work I will be doing for Him. I praise the Lord for speaking to me and for the stability and security I have found in Him. If I had to sum up my Semester Abroad experience in two words, I would say "life changing."

-- Melody Blevins

Before going to Brazil, my knowledge of poverty and suffering were limited to what I had experienced in the USA, but in Brazil there was so much poverty that seeing it was a daily occurrence. Jesus is not worshipped as the Bible says He is to be worshipped, and mass idolatry and pagan worship are rampant throughout the country. For these reasons, God has allowed many ills to fall upon Brazil. Therefore, it is my hope and desire to return to Brazil and help rectify some of the problems.

-- Mike Bockart

The Brazil experience was a very good learning experience for me. I believe the hands on process is much more successful than classroom work. We saw many things on the field that will be impressed on our hearts forever.

-- Jeni Watson

ABROAD IN BRAZIL

very deep friendships. The "good-byes" were tearful and painful for both the FWBC students and the Brazilian hosts. It was exciting for the students to participate in the services and outreach opportunities at Peniel Church in Belo Horizonte. This church, which numbers well over a thousand, is a dynamic congregation which has commissioned missionaries to Bolivia, Italy and New York City.

Another exciting feature of the program was the opportunity for the professor to know his students. After several months of intense cross-cultural activity the best and the worst surfaces in everyone. The issue then is not a mere distribution of grades, but helping each student assess his or her strengths and weaknesses and affirm his or her calling to missions. An evaluation time with each student at the conclusion of the program proved to be both enlightening and productive.

Is the Semester Abroad experience really over? Hardly! It is the solid foundation for the building of future blocks of cross-cultural ministries.

Reflection by Professor Gerald Steele, World Mission Program Director

As a result of the Semester Abroad Program, I have learned to love others, myself, and God at a much deeper level. I am truly grateful to the Lord for this opportunity of growth and ministry.

-- Gina Vincent

It was a life changing experience, and I pray that all the Lord has taught me will help shape me to be who God wants me to be. This is an experience that has left its mark on my life.

-- Colleen Gippert

There are no words to describe our experience, not because everything went perfect, but because it was priceless; it was the will of God.

-- Matt Misner

In Brazil we began to learn to empty ourselves of prejudices, preconceived ideas, stereotypes, and superiority. As God completes this work in us, as we become lesser and He becomes greater, our missionary vision is strengthened and He is glorified.

-- Troy Feay

The Semester Abroad group stopped to pose for a picture as they waited to board yet another plane.

I learned the faithfulness of God in a special way. I learned of His unfailing love and promise to always care for me.

-- Tina Roussos

It was especially interesting for me since I had lived in Brazil for 12 years of my life. I learned to look at Brazil in terms of felt needs, spiritual warfare and poverty, instead of looking at it through the eyes of a child. It was also neat to put into practice many of the things we have learned in classes and in books.

-- Lydia Steele

It wasn't my plan or desire to go to Brazil for the semester. God had to twist my arm. Looking back over my experiences, I am extremely thankful that I was led to go. I've probably learned more in the past three months than I've learned in three years within the walls of Fort Wayne Bible College. My life shall always reflect the work of God in my heart as a result of the Semester Abroad Program.

-- Jim Gippert

FWBC STUDENT RUNS IN NEW YORK MARATHON

"My goal was to run in the New York Marathon by the time I was 20 years old!" Well, Rachel Selking, FWBC sophomore, met her goal with a couple of years to spare!

Now you may be thinking that Rachel has been running for several years and is a real competitor in long distance running. Wrong! What makes this story so remarkable is that Rachel has been running for only two years!

"I was home schooled during grades 7-11. My senior year I attended the public school and became involved in track. My track coach and my mother encouraged me to start running long distance races." Rachel's mother and coach knew Rachel's potential. Her first long distance race was a 5-mile run in which she placed first in her age group!

From then on Rachel started setting goals with the ultimate goal being the New York City Marathon. Further encouraging Rachel, her track coach, Mary Simes, said she would run the Marathon with her. So . . . they filled out the applications and sent them to friends in New York. In turn, their friends submitted the applications on the first day of entry, May 16.

"Selection of runners is done by invitation, application, and drawing of names. We really didn't think we would make it, but we did, along with over 23,000 other runners! Over 21,000 runners had their applications turned down."

To train for the event, Rachel ran 5 to 6 miles a day during the week and 9 to 15 miles a day on the weekends. The most she had run in one day before the Marathon was 20 miles.

The time came. Rachel took a few days off from her studies at Fort Wayne Bible College and traveled to New York City. On Sunday, November 6, Rachel ran with 23,000 other runners through the five boroughs of New York City. She not only finished the 26.2 mile course in 6 hours and 15 minutes, she placed 20th in her division (16-20 age group)!

"It was great just being a part of the excitement. I knew the race would be hard, but I did not want the regret of not finishing! That and prayer kept me going, and my coach was right beside me all the way!"

Now what is in store for Rachel? "Along with concentrating on my counseling major here at the College, I would like to participate in 10K runs and half-marathons."

Our congratulations go out to Rachel! Her will power is an encouragement and a lesson to all of us!

Rachel has been running for only two years.

(It is in the interest of historical continuity to note that the word reopening is always used in relation to motions and actions having to do with the school's location.)

After the purchase of the Fort Wayne site, it was certain that if any school work was to be done in the winter of 1904-05, no time could be lost. The construction of the original building, now called Schultz Hall, began in September. Classes began in January 1905. The name of the relocated school now read "Fort Wayne Bible Training School."

It is now quite clear that while the Fort Wayne Bible Training School opened in 1904, it was a reopening of the school which had its beginning in Bluffton, Ohio, in 1895. The end of the school program in the spring of 1904 was only temporary. The temporary closing allowed time to find a new site and move the institution from Bluffton, Ohio, to Fort Wayne, Indiana.

The authentic founding date for Fort Wayne Bible College is therefore 1895. A century of training young people for Christian service is in sight if the Lord tarries.

The Governing Board of Fort Wayne Bible College took action on September 16, 1988, recognizing and establishing November 1, 1895, as the founding date of Fort Wayne Bible College.

Much of the above material is gleaned from the history of Fort Wayne Bible College, A VINE OF GOD'S OWN PLANTING, authored by Dr. Jared F. Gerig.

Lifestyle Giving

A Newsletter Designed to Assist You in Your Ministry of Stewardship

By: Mr. Ray Lyne, Financial Consultant

Issue Number 5

Once again, it is our pleasure to provide another issue of Lifestyle Giving. I trust that you are finding the information we share to be of interest and value, because that is our goal and desire. We also desire to be involved in your life through the newsletter, in helping you develop a lifestyle of giving that is not only pleasing to God, but places you in a position to receive His riches and blessing. We believe that blessing is often financial. But when you give gifts to organizations and they in turn use those gifts to bear fruit, we believe you will receive the blessing of real joy. In fact, this is our subject as we continue with our five steps of developing a lifestyle of giving. In past issues, we have looked at step #1, recognition that the basis of all stewardship is work; step #2, we take a percentage of that which we earn from our labors and we give it; and step #3, that gift is of the first fruits, upon the first day. And now it's time to look at step #4.

FROM THE WORD

"God is not only honored, but obligated by His word to prosper and bless the individual who follows this system." By this system, we are referring to the fact that:

1. We earn our living by the sweat of our brow,
2. We take a percentage of that which we earn and give it, and
3. That gift is of the first fruits, upon the first day.

There are many scriptures which confirm God's desire to bless His people financially. In Proverbs 3, He promises that our barns will be full to overflowing, that our wine vats will be full with wine.

And in Malachi 3, God promises that He will open the windows of heaven and pour out a blessing which we cannot contain, and will keep the devourers from our crops; He will keep our vines from shaking their fruits; He will build us up to such a people that all nations will rise up and call us blessed because we are a delightful land.

There are numerous references in the New Testament to God's blessing. II Corinthians 8 and 9 are full of these, including, "God is able to make all grace abound to you so that in all things, at all times, you will have all that you need."

But probably my favorite promise pertaining to giving is found in Philippians 4:17. Paul says that he was doing God's work here on earth and people gave to him, once and again, "Not that he desired a gift, but he desired fruit that will abound to their accounts."

Yes, many of God's blessings to us are financial, but probably the greatest of all of His blessings to us is that when our gifts are utilized by the people who are doing God's work here on earth to bear fruit, that fruit abounds to our accounts. The poor being fed, young people being educated, souls being saved both here and on the foreign field, all result from our developing our lifestyles of giving. . . fruit that credits to our accounts.

May I simply challenge you to accept God's promises for you in faith, that they are true. Expect to receive; pray for and expect fruit. ■

TOOLS AVAILABLE IN PERSONAL ESTATE PLANNING

In our last issue of Lifestyle Giving, we concluded our review of property ownership. I trust I was able to communicate with you the importance of coordinating property ownership with your will and trust agreements in order to accomplish the goals and objectives of your estate plan. In this issue we will look at the durable power of attorney.

The Durable Power of Attorney

The realities of life dictate that we must give consideration to who will be in a position to manage our property in case of mental or physical disability prior to death. Relying on family members or friends to act under court-appointed guardianship usually is not wise, as it may affect interpersonal relationships. Many times unnecessary costs and restrictions are imposed.

The alternative is to grant to an individual or a bank trust department the power to manage our property in case of disability. In most states, this can be arranged through a power of attorney designed to be in effect during incompetency.

In most states, the durable power of attorney can be drafted to take effect immediately, or it can be designed to take effect at a time of incompetency. Which is best for you depends upon your individual circumstances and is a decision which should be discussed with your attorney.

It's important to note that the durable power of attorney can be a very simple document, only two or three pages in length, and is not costly.

And it is totally separate from the will. Since the will only takes effect at the time of death, it is impossible for it to manage property in case of incompetency.

Many people assume that the personal representative they have named in their will will be able to manage their property in case of incompetency. This will not "just happen."

It's also important to note that a durable power of attorney can be drafted after the will is in existence. If you have a will and wish to have a durable power of attorney drafted, that does not mean that you will have to rewrite your will.

However, it might be a good time to review your will, when you are with your attorney discussing the durable power of attorney.

I think this issue is much more important than many people realize. And I would recommend that you discuss it with your attorney at your earliest convenience.

It's also important to note that a revocable living trust can be designed to manage property during periods of incompetency. For individuals with larger estates, it might be a much more convenient and economical way to make this arrangement. ■

WHAT IS ESTATE PLANNING?

Estate planning has been defined from many perspectives, the most common being:

"The creation, conservation and utilization of estate resources, to secure the maximum benefit now, during disability, and at retirement," and

"The best way to pass the estate to family members, charitable organizations, and others, during life and at death, with minimum shrinkage caused by taxes and inflation."

But for the Christian, there is another dimension. What is God's plan of stewardship for my estate? The recognition of God as owner of our estates places us in responsible positions as stewards.

As stewards, it is important that we use our estate assets to their greatest potential during our lifetimes, for our personal, family, business and charitable interests.

And at death, we must arrange for the distribution of our assets to individuals or charitable interests, who will continue to use them to reflect our Christian lifestyles, and to do so in the most efficient and effective manner.

The Estate Distribution Process

As a good steward, it is important to thoroughly plan the distribution of your estate.

May I offer the following steps to help you begin your planning.

Step 1: Set the priorities of your estate plan.

Step 2: Become familiar with the legal terms used in estate planning, the basic rules of taxation, and the vehicles available for your use.

Step 3: Gather all the necessary and pertinent data which will be utilized in your estate planning process.

Step 4: Seek competent counsel for technical assistance and drafting of legal instruments.

You do not have to become an expert in estate planning. That certainly would not be practical because it is a very complex subject.

But your estate is a sacred trust. It has been accumulated as a result of your labors and God's blessings. Therefore, as part of your total life of stewardship, spend the necessary time to do a thorough job in planning for its distribution.

We want to help you find and understand God's plan of stewardship for your estate and put that plan into legal form so that it will be carried out. Because it is our desire that you be found worthy of the reward, "Well done, thou good and faithful servant," which I believe God has in store for you.

Our staff has designed a special Will and Trust Planning Guide which I believe will help you through these four steps of planning.

It's available, without cost or obligation, and I'm sure that you will find it helpful as you begin your planning. Or, if you already have a plan which needs to be reviewed, it can help you determine whether or not your plan needs revision.

Please write for your free copy today. We want to minister to you.

FINANCIAL PLANNING TECHNIQUES

The importance of financial planning is growing.

For many years, we have related the term stewardship to giving. We have been told by our church and our charitable organizations that to be good stewards we must be good givers.

I recently surveyed a number of individuals, asking if they related the word stewardship more closely to giving or to property ownership. Eighty-five percent associated stewardship with giving. Only fifteen percent associated it with property ownership.

But stewardship actually relates to property ownership. A steward is a caretaker, a trustee or custodian of someone else's property.

Our definition of stewardship is: "Using God-given ability to manage God-owned property to accomplish God-directed results."

I think we understand from our study of the Word that God is the owner of all. Each of us, as individuals, wants to find God's plan of stewardship for that property which He has entrusted to us. . . the use of the income and the distribution of the property at the time of death.

In this series of articles, we want to focus on the use of our God-given abilities to manage His assets.

One of the most significant goals of personal financial planning is keeping maximum dollars for our use, rather than giving them to the government for its use.

The only dollars that can be invested, contributed, used to reduce debt, or spent, are dollars the government allows us to keep. Therefore, an important emphasis in financial planning must be reducing income tax liability.

There are four basic techniques to legally reduce, defer or avoid income taxes.

1. Timing,
2. Shifting,
3. Sheltering, and
4. Tax law provisions

In the next four issues of Lifestyle Giving, we will look at each of these techniques in detail, with the hope that they will assist you in developing long-range financial plans and to help you "sharpen" your God-given abilities to manage the property which He has entrusted to you.

The end result will be achieving the goals which have been directed by Him. ■

GIFTS IN KIND CAN BE BENEFICIAL

Many times individuals, in developing a lifestyle of giving, overlook items they possess which can be utilized by a charitable organization.

This is especially true of organizations which operate locally, such as your church or a city rescue mission. Many organizations have resale shops which provide important support for their ministries. Furniture, clothing, used appliances, all can be utilized by these agencies to benefit their ministries.

Through your local church there may be needy families who can benefit from some of your discards (or maybe even some of the nice things you have that you just don't use).

Many educational organizations can use books, many organizations have need of automobiles, and you should check with your foreign missionary organization to see what you might have that can be furnished to them.

In most of the above situations, you will qualify for a charitable income tax deduction for the value of the property which you transfer.

One additional thought. Many times God does not want us just to give that which is surplus or which we are not using. Sometimes He might even want us to give up items which might be important to us, but that we can do without.

Why not take time now to ask God what you have that He wants for His kingdom. ■

TWO HUNDRED YEARS FROM NOW

In a recent issue of Lifestyle Giving, we have talked about personalizing your will with your statement of love to family members or your statement of faith.

I am reminded of the will written by Patrick Henry. He was involved in the Revolutionary War and was made famous for his statement, "Give me liberty, or give me death."

I can tell you today that Patrick Henry was also a believer in Jesus Christ, because he made a statement to that effect in his will. He told his heirs in his last testament that if he had left them nothing in terms of worldly riches, but had given them a faith in Jesus Christ, then they would be of all people most wealthy. And he added that if he had left them all the wealth in the world and had not left them a faith in Jesus Christ, they would be of all people most destitute.

If you were to die today, and two hundred years from now one of your descendants wanted to find out whether or not you were a man or woman of faith, could that fact be determined from an examination of official records and documents which you left behind, such as it was from the will of Patrick Henry?

We have discussed some estate planning techniques in this newsletter which may be new to you. We have tried to keep them simple, but sometimes it is difficult to communicate clearly in a small space.

We always welcome your questions. Write to us or call us, and let us help you with your charitable giving and estate planning needs. We want to be of service.

ALUMNI SCHOLARSHIP ENDOWMENT FUND REACHING FOR $200,000

SCHOLARSHIPS

The interest received on investment of the Alumni Scholarship Endowment is used for scholarships for FWBC students. We awarded 16 scholarships of $700 each this year and hope to be able to award 20 next year.

College students across the country, including our own, are graduating with large debts as a result of various types of student loans. A debt of $5,000 to $10,000 is not unusual for a FWBC graduate.

Due to the nature of our school, preparing men and women for service and ministry related vocations, it is extremely important that we develop as much scholarship assistance as possible.

Thanks for being involved in PHONATHON '89 and the ALUMNI SCHOLARSHIP ENDOWMENT FUND.

Thanks to the faithfulness and sacrifice of FWBC Alumni, the ALUMNI SCHOLARSHIP ENDOWMENT FUND has surpassed the $150,000 mark.

PHONATHON '89 begins on Monday evening, March 6. Over 100 FWBC alumni callers and workers will be phoning alumni during eight evenings in March.

LISTENERS RALLY DURING WBCL'S SHARATHON '89 AND FREEDOM DAY!

Four days of fund raising at WBCL means four days of blessings, fun, good jokes, inspiration, not-so-good jokes, teamwork, weariness, and rejoicing!

The 13th annual WBCL Sharathon began Sunday, January 8, with a day of special music and programming in praise and preparation. Then on Monday at 6:00 a.m., the WBCL staff and volunteers started their climb towards the 1989 goal of $400,000 (three-fourths of the station's necessary operating budget).

At 12:20 p.m. on Wednesday, after 2,863 responses, the $400,000 goal was reached. In fact, over $420,000 was pledged for the 1989 budget. But, the fun and excitement did not end there. At 1:00 p.m. a one-time project was launched. The project... Freedom Day!

From 1:00 p.m. on Wednesday to 6:00 p.m. on Thursday, additional pledges were made to be applied towards reducing WBCL's $300,000 studio equipment and automation debt. Freedom Day resulted in approximately 1500 responses and over $185,000 raised for debt reduction!

In addition to staff and over 300 volunteers, pastors, alumni, and many dear friends were present to assist. Guest anchor for the annual event was Wayne Pederson. Wayne is host of radio programs
