ANNUAL REPORT

1954-55

Foreword

The greatest challenge of higher education that has ever before confronted this country is now before us. We are already aware of the growth that has come to college population this past year, it being the college year of the beginning of "The Impending Tidal Wave of Students." By 1970, or before, no doubt the colleges of the country will have double the present number of students seeking enrollment. The challenge, I believe, will be greater in our Christian colleges. This will be true, particularly if it is correct that there is at least a mild revival of interest in the church—and especially that branch of the church that we call evangelical. We cannot afford simply to sit idly back and let come what may. If evangelical Christianity is to march forward under the banner of Christ it will take much hard-headed planning and consecration. If Taylor University is to fulfill her part of the challenge it can be done only as we conscientiously and forthrightly evaluate our institution today—its strength, its weaknesses—and then give of our best, under the guidance of the Holy Spirit, to meet the need as we understand it for the future.

In order to give this proper evaluation, we need to know what has transpired to our beloved school this year. There are many reasons for us to give thanks to God for His many blessings. Above all, we thank Him for His "unspeakable gift" in Christ Jesus. Then we have reason to thank God for material and temporal blessings, beyond the precious blessings of the Spirit; for God has remembered Taylor University, and we are grateful for His faithfulness toward us.

The Academic Program

Continued efforts have been made to strengthen further the standards of scholarship and the academic program as a whole.

STUDENTS

An increase in enrollment of 20 per cent in any one year over the preceding year is an abnormal increase and inevitably produces serious problems both academically and in the citizenship area.

The student life on campus this year has been very good. We have not had too many problems, though it has been necessary to send a few students home because of disciplinary problems. The large influx of new students was partly responsible for this, which makes us realize that growth on our campus cannot, and must not, be too rapid. General student responsibility has been good.

We want to train our young people to assume responsibility for lead-ership, thus, additional effort has been expended and we plan to do much more in our leadership training program in the future. We have a fine group of young people and we are indeed grateful for them. Following is a statistical report showing the number of students who received training at Taylor and their fields:

FACULTY

The faculty is the heart of the college. In securing and developing a faculty for Taylor University capacity for soundness of scholarship, promise of continued growth, dedication to the quest for truth in a Christian framework, possession of high moral character, and capacity to kindle in the students a love for the atmosphere of a Christian college are significant criteria.

The faculty member should demonstrate a sympathetic concern for the well-being of all people; a definite desire for social justice and political understanding; he should be clear in stating his position, humble in assuming it, patient in working for larger causes, and willing to accept the responsibilities incumbent upon those living within the college community for the well-being of the larger community which the college serves.

We are grateful to God for these good people who have given their lives to the work of Christian higher education at Taylor. It is hard to express adequately gratitude to them, and it is equally difficult to enumerate all that they have done. Eyes and ears have not grasped all of the sacrificial service that they have rendered, but in the sight of God these acts of dedication and consecration have not been overlooked.

During the past year the Taylor faculty has been made up of 32 full time teachers of whom five were name professor, four associate professor, 21 assistant professor and two instructor. There were four non-teaching members of the faculty, five part time instructors and three on leave of absence for graduate study. Ten hold a doctor's degree.

HOUSING

With the increase of enrollment from 410 to 515 serious situations were faced at the beginning of the year. Every school facility was pressed into use and some overcrowding was necessary. Over the period of the year the situation seemed to "shake down," although the housing was at near maximum capacity. Three head residents are to be highly commended in making arrangements and adjustments and in doing their best to make the buildings homelike and enjoyable.

LIBRARY

The circulation statistics show that use of the library materials on the part of the students has increased again this year. Of course, the larger enrollment and class assignments had something to do with this, but we believe that a better knowledge of how to use a library was also a contributing factor. From May 1, 1954 to May 1, 1955 the accessions of books to the library numbered 1,161. This is an increase of 264 over the number added in the some period last year. Also approximately 200 pamphlets have been added. However, during the summer of 1954 the old books which had been stored in the Music Hall were sorted with care and 2,423 were discarded and withdrawn from the library records. Consequently, the total book collection at present is 29,013.

INNOVATIONS

Some new programs and instructional methods were inaugurated and several more are planned for next year.

Reading Improvement

The reading improvement program has proved to be even more significant and successful than we had anticipated. It was given to all freshmen enrolled in Remedial English sections during the first semester, and during the second semester it was put on a voluntary basis and opened to all classes.

Learning to read faster and better helps college stude achieve wider learning experience.

Basic English Course

It is proposed by the Committee on Basic Communications and approved by the faculty that we offer a Basic English course for those students who according to test scores, need remedial instruction. This is to be a regular three hour course for one hour of academic credit, the passing of which will be a requirement for admission to the regular composition courses.

Student Teachers

A new pilot program for elementary student teachers is proposed for next fall, in accordance with which twelve of our elementary student teachers will spend a period of eight weeks in full-time off campus laboratory experience, living in the community in which they will do their practice teaching and spending full days in the school.

Missionary Course

A five year curriculum for the training of prospective missionaries has been prepared and will be available next year. It consists of a pattern in which the A.B. degree may be granted at the end of the fourth year with a major in Religion, and in which the B.S. in Education degree may be granted at the end of the fifth year when requirements for teacher certification have been met.

Self Study Plan

We considered it appropriate and advisable to apply for participation in the North Central Association Liberal Arts Study during the following year. We have been approved for such participation.

COUNSELING

For several years we have been in the process of making a transition to an administrative pattern in which student personnel services are being shifted to the office of the Dean of Students. This is the third year of its operation and much significant improvement has been noted each year over the other.

Two aspects of the program may be pointed up for special consideration. First is a further development of a more effective orientation program for freshmen. The program has been enlarged to include, in addition to one general orientation meeting per week, ten small discussion sections under the leadership of carefully selected student counselors. The second point has to do with the correlation of responsibilities and authority between the offices of the Dean of Faculty and the Dean of Students. A greater degree of authority in matters pertaining to student conduct and discipline will be exercised by the Dean of Students.

Three principle types of counseling have taken place during the year: 1. On the results of the testing program

2. On academic records
 3. On citizenship matters

Every full time student was afforded an individual counseling situation. In the academic counseling, those with serious deficiencies following the testing periods were called in and given suggestions for improving study habits. Fortunately the citizenship counseling necessities were few, but in each case as much time was given as was necessary. Through this means some poten-tially serious problems were avoided and in others the habits had developed too far.

"An Effective Christian College"

The motto of Taylor University is "An Effective Christian College." This motto also serves as a goal, and the faculty and staff, the student body and the larger constituency of the college determine each year how well the college lives up to its rich traditions as expressed in the motto.

This motto has been further defined during the past year by the academic planning committee in the following statement:

Taylor University is a Christian institution of higher learning because:

(1) it provides a vital expression of Christian faith in every facet of college life.

(2) it engages in the adventure of learning in the best academic tradition, but disciplined and tempered by Christian experience.

(3) its teachers exemplify the Christian spirit and motivate their students to use their knowledge toward Christian spint and instruct their state (4) it is involved in the high quest for truth with proper emphasis upon spiritual and human values, upon the social nature of man, upon freedom to think and to seek truth, and upon the tempering of the scientific approaches with the Christian spirit and faith,

(5) it provides a college community in which Christian faith and norms are articulated in wholesome, vitally Christian faculty-student relations; and

(6) it seeks to produce persons who think and act consistently in accordance with "reason illumined by the light of the example and the teaching of Christ."

Among the various activities of the college designed to instill the Christian emphasis into every phase of college life are chapel services, spiritual emphasis weeks each semester, a missionary conference, Youth Conference and a variety of other student organizations.

FULL-TIME CHRISTIAN SERVICE

That which thrilled us as much as anything else this year was the fact that after Missionary Conference was over we sought a registration of those who had made their commitment to foreign service if God opened the doors.

At that time 148 young people indicated that they had surrendered their lives to God to the degree that if the door opened they would go to foreign fields. Thereafter we learned of others who were not in attendance who had also made that decision. One of the significant reasons for Taylor University's existence is this fact that almost one-third of the student body are so com-mitted to Him that God can use them even on foreign soil. Then if you add to this the additional number of young people going into full-time Christian services, such as the ministry and home-mission fields, education and allied services, you can realize that the largest percentage of our students are en-tering convice performance for God and follow man tering service professions for God and fellow man.

TEACHER TRAINING

With almost 50 per cent of our students entering public school teaching we have a tremendous inroad into what is a home missionary project. How desperately important it is that our young people who are committed to Christ enter public school classrooms, not only to teach academic subjects, but to instill the sound ethical, moral and spiritual teachings which are so desperately needed in society today.

Several new areas of activity were begun during the past year through which Taylor University can aid the church and society.

ASSOCIATES

During the past year Taylor has organized a group of Associates, Christian men who are leaders in the church, in business and various other activities, who will lend their support and influence to the work of Christian higher education and world-wide evangelism through Taylor University. Although the first meeting has not as yet been held, under the direction of Howard Skinner this group should play a vital role in the years to come.

"Do you pray in a cab?" Sammy Morris asks Stephen Merritt in one of the inspiring scenes from the film on the life story of this unusual African student.

ANGEL IN EBONY

We have been most pleased with the reception of our film, "Angel in Ebony." It has received the award as the best Christian film of the year. Taylor can be proud to have produced this picture, not only because of this recognition, but because of its impact spiritually wherever it is being shown. There will be rejoicing in heaven because people have been led to Christ and into a deeper walk with Him because they have seen this film. It has been costly, and the investment has not been realized as yet, but we trust that the future will validate our decision to produce this film.

SAMMY MORRIS BOOK

We want to acknowledge with much gratitude the fine reception of the book, "Sammy Morris, the Spirit-Filled Life," by our own Dr. Wengatz. We are indebted to him for having written this new biography and its reception is very encouraging.

COLLEGE EVANGELIST

Another new venture for the college this year has been the appointment of a college evangelist. Rev. and Mrs. David LeShana have begun this work, and while most of the first year was spent in premiere showings of "Angel in Ebony," their ministry has been a blessing, and we expect it to continue to grow.

GOSPEL TEAMS

An attempt was made this year to conduct the gospel team work on a higher plane than previously. All musical organizations had their audition. The response to the invitation for participants in the Gospel Team program was not large. A number of requests for the services of groups had to be cancelled since there were not enough who could be found to fulfill them. Realizing that there is need for more faculty guidance in the gospel team program, we have decided to appoint one member of the faculty as Director of Gospel Team Activities for the coming year.

IMPROVEMENTS

There have been many improvements on the buildings of our campus which make working conditions and the carrying on of our school program more satisfactory.

Most of the exterior trim of the gym, library, music building, administration building, education building, and large dormitory have been painted. Attention has been given to the sealing of all the wood floors in all of the buildings, and the re-finishing of much of the furniture. Decorating was done in the basement rooms of the music building along with complete redecoration of the Art department which was moved from second floor to the top floor of administration building.

Several new items of equipment have been purchased for the various departments such as electric typewriters, photo-static copying machine, steel files, key control system, reading accelerators, motion picture projectors and screens, house trailer, recording equipment and other educational supplies.

MUCH NEEDED IMPROVEMENTS IN NEAR FUTURE

There are several items which need further attention in regard to the completion of our exterior repairs. The interior of some of the buildings have some special needs.

The gymnasium basement area needs to be renovated to provide more adequate facilities for the various needs of the athletic department and student recreation program. Much attention should be given to the athletic field.

Equipment is especially needed in the following areas: Commercial department, Science department, Cafeteria, and Athletic department. In the Music department, the organ is in need of much repair.

STUDENT EMPLOYMENT

The Dean of Students has continued to assist students with both oncampus and off-campus employment. Approximately 175 students are employed on campus and between 40 and 45 off campus. The Dean of Students has referred students to campus jobs and has sought to make replacements where the supervisors have requested them. Letters of introduction, telephone calls and referrals have been made for off campus employment. Considerable time during the spring was given to assisting students in lining up summer jobs.

SCHOLARSHIPS

A total of 14 Selective Honor Scholarships was granted this past year. Six President's Scholarships were granted. One foreign student received a full scholarship, and two received tuition scholarships.

BEQUESTS

We have received another significant bequest this year from the Wayne Kerwood estate in Knightstown, Indiana. At the present time we are not able to indicate the amount that Taylor will receive, but in all probability it will be around $65,000. This money will not be available until next spring, but we are grateful that this man has remembered us in his will.

We also have been notified of a bequest from the estate of Isaac Ritenour in the amount of $20,000 or more which is to be used for aid to worthy students.

INDUSTRIAL SUPPORT

The fact that Taylor is not a member of the Associated Colleges of Indiana has not completely excluded the college from help from industrial sources. Recent gifts from companies such as the Indiana & Michigan Electric Co. are most encouraging. Taylor has applied for admission in the Associated Colleges of Indiana, and we face the possibility and practicality of adding to the staff such people who can make regular contacts with prospective donors, both industrial and non-industrial. We expect Harold Camp to be a real asset to Taylor in this field next year.

The Future of Taylor University

Taylor's One-hundred-tenth year: The academic year 1955-1956, will be the 110th anniversary of Taylor University. This ought to be one of the most significant years that Taylor has had in all her history.

We are honestly facing our academic responsibilities and are endeavoring to strengthen our program in terms of an enlarged faculty, internal academic studies, and a cooperative program with North Central Association. This new year can be one of the strongest scholastically that we have ever known. We trust that the Board, the faculty and the student body-as well as the general constituency of Taylor University-will face this 110th anniversary of the college and help to make it the most unusual year in her glorious history.

In order to make this possibility a reality, almost $100,000 in gifts is needed at Taylor for the 1955-56 year. Income and expense have been budgeted as follows:

INCOME

EXPENSE $222,489.00 $27,950.00 Student Fees General Administration Endowments 2,180.00 Instruction 136,000.00 Gifts and Grants 86,931.00 Student Services 30,750.00 Staff Benefits 12,150.00 Educational activities 3.200.00 8,510.00 General Institutional 82,465.00 Other Income 14,225.00 Student Aid 17,800.00 Library 11,000.00 Dining Hall, Stores, Farm 189,300.00 Athletics Dormitory and Other Physical Plant 84,530.00 Dining Hall, Bookstore. Rentals 74.050.00 Total $604,460.00 Farm 136,625.00 Dormitory & Other 48,300.00 Rentals Student Aid 20.200.00

The current salary scale for faculty members at Taylor is divided into the following ranges:

Total

$604,460.00

Instructor	$315-355	per	mo.
Assistant Professor	$340-390	per	mo.
Associate Professor	$365-440	per	mo.
Professor	$390-500	per	mo.

The board of directors has approved moderate increases for 1956-57. Taylor must be strong academically, and the faculty must be encouraged to give the kind of leadership which will advance the scholastic program.

LONG TERM GOALS

The Academic Planning Committee which was set up in connection with the major advance planning program has been active during the year and has cooperated with the Advance Planning Committee of the board in attempting to determine something of the direction of the Taylor program during the next ten to fifteen years, when the demand for higher education will increase measurably.

Increase in Enrollment

Our tentative plans now are to provide for a possible enrollment of between 800 and 1,000 students during that period of time, at an annual rate of increase consistent with soundness and integrity in both the academic and the spiritual phases of our work.

Proposed New Science Building

Building Expansion

The physical plant will, of course, have to be expanded correspondingly if this is to be achieved. After a careful study, the Board of Directors has engaged Orus Eash of Traverse City, Michigan, as University architect. Mr. Eash has already drawn a suggested campus plan of development and has prepared plans for the much-needed dormitory, for which a government loan is now being sought. Mr. Eash has also agreed to supply sketches for other needed campus buildings.

CONCLUSION

Taylor has made considerable progress during the past year. Much remains to be done before Taylor attains its ultimate goal in education, but progress toward this goal should be continuous if Taylor defines even more clearly its short- and long-term objectives as a Christian institution of higher education, if its faculty and staff maintain teamwork toward the realization of these objectives, and if participation of the many persons who are interested in Taylor is increased, along with added support from many more persons who should be interested in a Christian institution such as Taylor.

education, if its faculty and staff maintain teamwork toward the realization of these objectives, and if participation of the many persons who are interested in Taylor is increased, along with added support from many more persons who should be interested in a Christian institution such as Taylor. Ours is certainly a collective program—we cannot accomplish very much singly, but we can accomplish a great deal together. May God be pleased to accept our gratitude for His many blessings, and may He likewise be pleased to grant us an even greater year in His service in the year ahead.
