The Year Verse: 1982-1983

He has showed you, O man, what is good. And what does the LORD require of you? To act justly and to love mercy and to walk humbly with your God.

(Micah 6:8 NIV)

Fort Wayne Bible College
Missions Statement

Fort Wayne Bible College exists for the purpose of helping its students acquire a functional knowledge of the Bible as a basis for personal growth in understanding of and relationship to God, self, other persons and the external world, and also the message to be communicated through witness and ministry.

It endeavors to help its students acquire a foundational knowledge of the humanities and the natural and social sciences as the basis for a continuing encounter with the world and also the development of a Christian world view.

It endeavors to help its students acquire basic skills and tools for vocational and lay ministries in the fulfilling of the world mission of the church.

Paul Brennan:
Sharing the Awesome Message

His Bible translations have brought a new understanding of God and His Kingdom to thousands of men and women. His energetic ministry and sensitivity to man's cultural nature has given him the burden to share this awesome message of God's power and matchless gift of life. His name — Dr. Paul Brennan.

Responding to God's awesomeness himself at the young age of 12, our featured alumnus has dedicated his life to church work and missionary service. Born and reared in the Ottawa, Ohio area, he worked at jobs ranging from paper routes to selling men's clothing to save money for a Bible college education. He did obtain that education at Fort Wayne Bible College, graduating in 1960 with a B.A. in Missions.

Paul reflects on his time at Fort Wayne Bible College. "The college provided me not only with opportunities to meet my wife, Dorothy Nesseth ('60), and friends, but it also opened doors of understanding about God's creation... it gave me a foundation on which to build. At that point in my life I was not ready for university settings. FWBC provided a loving and secure environment for that critical transitional stage in my life. Of course the rigor of Wes Gerig's Greek classes and the challenge of Tim Warner's anthropology/missions courses were also valuable, broadening experiences!"

Active on Campus

Along with being an excellent student, Paul played on the basketball team for four years, sang with the Crusaders Quartet and served as student body president and class president.

Fort Wayne Bible College was just the beginning of Paul's educational pursuits and preparation for his future ministry. In 1963 he graduated from the Nazarene Theological Seminary with a B.D. in Greek.

During this time he increased his pastoral experience by serving as assistant pastor in the Dundee Hills Church of the Nazarene. During this stage of Paul's life he learned of the need for Bible translators and developed a real burden for sharing the Gospel with those on foreign fields.

Scholarship and Preaching

From Kansas City the Brennan family moved on to Hartford, CT where Paul entered the Hartford Seminary Foundation. There he earned the M.A. degree in Anthropological Linguistics and later achieved his Ph.D. in Descriptive Linguistics. As in Kansas City, Paul found himself in a pastoral position while attending school. He was kept extremely busy with his studies and pastoring the Eagle Rock Congregational Church.

As his time of study drew to a close he sought out possibilities for service. With a major in Melanesian linguistics it seemed logical that God would have them serve in the Papua, New Guinea area.

One possibility that came about was serving with the Lutheran Church, Missouri Synod. But, because Paul was an ordained Missionary Church minister and not a member of the Lutheran Church, he was told it was "virtually impossible" for him to serve with their mission board.

God's Hand

Not long after the refusal he wrote a letter to the Lutheran Board of Missions, but no reply was received. Where was God to have them serve?

Then one day the Brennan's received a phone call from the area secretary of the Board of Missions for the Missouri Synod Lutherans. The gentleman was not aware of the previous refusal and told Paul the mission wanted to translate the Ena New Testament and asked Paul if he would consider the possibility of working with them. The Brennan's did accept and were the first ones outside the Lutheran Church to ever be considered for missionary service. Paul shares: "I can very honestly say to you it was a step of faith."

"The college... opened new doors of understanding about God's creation"

Leaving for New Guinea in 1968, Paul devoted the next ten years to the translation of the Bible into the Ena Tribal Language. He is accredited with the compiling of several booklets and other publications concerning the Ena people and authoring several articles. He is also responsible for the Ena Cultural Center in Wabag and has given many of his artifacts to the center.

FWBC Graduates 66 in May

Drawing upon the theme "You Can! Will You?", Dr. Abe Van Der Puy, Chairman of the Board for the World Radio Missionary Fellowship, challenged the 74th graduating class at Fort Wayne Bible College to stretch themselves in the service of the Lord. In his address to the 66 graduates during the May 8 ceremonies, Dr. Van Der Puy urged graduates to realize their potential and not to shrink from their responsibility in sharing the Gospel to others no matter what their vocation.

Officiating at the ceremonies was FWBC president, Dr. Harvey Bostrom.

Accreditation Update: "Looking Good"

Chairman of the Accreditation Self-Study Task Force, Dick Baxter, displays the thick self-study report to be submitted to the North Central Association.

All systems are GO so far in the FWBC's efforts to earn regional accreditation from the North Central Association of Colleges and Schools. A major achievement has been the preparation of an exhaustive document called the "Self-Study Report" which has been approved, in rough draft form, by the NCA project director, Dr. Patricia Thrash.

According to Self-Study Coordinator, Dick Baxter, this preliminary work is pointing toward the visit of the regional accrediting team scheduled to be on campus November 8-10. Baxter said the NCA team had been approved by the college and will be provided copies of the "Self-Study Report" in early October. "We are very encouraged by Dr. Thrash's response to our draft report," Baxter said.

According to Baxter if everything goes well, the college can expect to be accredited in late April, 1983.

Dugan is New Academic Dean at FWBC

A year-long search for a new academic dean for the college was successfully concluded with the appointment of Dr. Richard P. Dugan. Dr. Dugan succeeds Dr. Gene Hovee who resigned in June, 1981, to take a similar position with St. Paul Bible College.

There was a delay, however, in Dr. Dugan coming to campus because of an unfortunate accident in May that nearly cost him his life and, for a time, threatened to leave him paralyzed. Dr. Dugan suffered serious spinal and head injuries while swimming in the ocean at a Sunday School picnic at Atlantic City, New Jersey. His recovery was a matter of much prayer among the BC family and his recuperation has been termed by his doctors as nothing short of miraculous. While not completely healed, Dr. Dugan was released to come to Fort Wayne in early September to begin his new job along with his wife, Carol, and their three children.

Dr. Dugan joins FWBC from Northeastern Bible College, Essex Falls, N.J., where he was professor of Christian Education and department chairman. He is a 1961 graduate of Wheaton College with a BA in Christian Education. He later attended Dallas Theological Seminary and, in 1967, was awarded a Bachelor of Divinity degree from Conservative Baptist Theological Seminary, Denver, Colorado. Dr. Dugan received a Master of Arts in religious education from New York University in 1969, and earned a doctorate from the same university in 1977.

His past experience includes posts in youth ministries for Youth for Christ and in churches and as an adjunct faculty member at King's College in 1970 and 1978. He has been a book reviewer and writer for Eternity Magazine and for the Christian Education Journal.

The Three Wars of Yea Myung Kim

The following story, by Mr. Brad Smith, appeared in the March 21, 1982 copy of POWER FOR LIVING issued by Scripture Press Publications. With their permission we reprint this story and trust it will be an inspiration to our readers.

Mr. Yea Myung Kim is a 1976 graduate of Fort Wayne Bible College.

By: Brad Smith

For most people, moonlight shimmering off a body of water as picturesque as the Yellow Sea would be beautiful, but not the Kim family, and not on this misty night in the spring of 1950. Chest deep in that picture-postcard setting, seven members of the Kim family were hoping against hope that the clouds would obscure the moon just long enough for them to cross from North Korea to South — from oppression to freedom.

As 10-year-old Yea Myung Kim waded silently through the cold water that night, clutching his mother’s hand, his thoughts again turned to his hometown of Eu-Choo hundreds of miles to the north. His family — parents, older brother, sisters and Yea — had been peasant farmers near the vast border with Red China. He remembered looking out across the Yalu River at that huge, hungry giant and marveling at the hundreds of millions of people it contained.

Yet, at first, there seemed to be no need to flee from North to South. Yea was happy enough where he was.

“...and I was very active in the Red Boy Scouts which was for all students — girls as well as boys. They taught that we were equal and brothers; that the greatest one was Kim Il Sung, our leader and father; and that imperialist America was our enemy. They encouraged us to do something for the State. I liked their teachings very much. All I knew were their teachings. There was no way to hear and see the other world.”

But Mr. and Mrs. Kim wanted to escape, to get their children, Yea and his brother and three sisters, away from the crippling influence of Communism.

But how? Many people before them had tried and failed — especially those who braved the rocky, treacherous mountains — caught in the cross fire of a Communist ambush.

There was, however, another way — along the coast by train and finally through a finger of the Yellow Sea that separates the two Koreas along the infamous 38th parallel.

So one eventful day in 1950, the Kim family made their way south by train until they could go no farther. They cautiously continued on foot until they reached the bay of the long-awaited Yellow Sea.

But it was high tide, which meant the water was deep enough for ships to fill the bay. They would have to wait for low tide — for low tide and the cover of darkness. Only the moon — and their own fear — could stop them now.

“When I left my hometown, I was not scared at all,” Yea recalls. “But fear rooted itself in me on our way South. I knew if we were caught, we would be killed. We feared death, not Communism.”

The Kim family did wade to freedom that night, with obscuring clouds and miserable drizzle their welcome companions. Still, for young Yea, another blinding mist and dim cloud blanketed his mind — the lingering lies of his Communist indoctrination. Nothing short of a war would open his eyes.

“Through the Korean War, I came to know what Communism was really all about,” he relates. “During the war, the entire country was a battlefield. We lived by fleeing bullets and bombs, and by searching for food. I saw dead bodies everywhere. Whole families suffered from hunger and fear. We didn’t find any food for days at a time. The hunger was painful. Our feet were swollen from lack of food.”

And Yea remembers another image of the war, and of America, this time from a new perspective — just south of the Party Line:

“For a few months we lived in Seoul, which was then occupied by the North. We saw many B-29 bombers dropping their bombs. People welcomed the planes without fear. Whenever they saw the B-29s, they felt they would soon be free.”

The war passed, as wars do, and so did the years for Yea Myung Kim. He grew into a young man and attended the Seoul National University, graduating in 1964 with a degree in linguistics. But, before he could begin teaching, another war disrupted his life — Vietnam.

“I spent most of my service in Saigon headquarters shared by seven other countries. We were exposed to the danger of snipers and Viet Cong bombs. One day our military bus was the target of a time bomb that exploded — but we were all safe.”

Unhurt, Sergeant Kim returned home to Korea. He had survived his second war. But he would not survive the next untouched. For between the first two conflicts, Yea had begun in secret to wage his own private war. This war was so enduring and bitterly fought that already it had irreparably taken its toll on him. Yea’s last war was not with the Communists or starvation or time bombs. It was with himself — a war within.

Yea had been the product of a traditional Korean family — “very superstitious, influenced by Buddhism and ancestor worship.” Yet, when he was 13, Yea, like many teenagers, began to question his parents’ values and beliefs. His questioning would put him in direct conflict with his heritage, his culture, and his family — a conflict that would last a lifetime.

At first, he attended church just for the “friends, fun, and singing.” Then, after Vietnam, he taught English for five years at the Seoul Private School, and in 1970 he married a lovely girl named Yong. Because their marriage was prearranged by a matchmaker, their wedding day was only their third date together!

Yea and his new wife even attended the Yong Nak Presbyterian Church together in Seoul, and Mr. Kim taught in the Christian School. But, according to Yea, “I was a Christian in name only.”

By 1973, Yea was on his way to Hawaii for training on a college level. He soon discovered, however, that the level of training bothered him, for he wanted to be a minister. Fortunately, he heard of a pastor who worked with the oriental people of the islands, and went to see him.

True to his calling as a Christian comrade-in-arms, the pastor, Rev. Don Rohrs, took up Yea’s faltering banner. He was not only instrumental in getting Mr. Kim accepted at Fort Wayne Bible College in Indiana, but he was also able to secure him a tuition-free scholarship for the first year.

“At Fort Wayne Bible College,” Yea recalls, “Christ changed my life.”

“One lonely, sleepless night, I thought of my wife and children still in Seoul, and started to read the Bible.

“All of a sudden, I read this verse: ‘If a man say, I love God, and hateth his brother, he is a liar: for he that loveth not his brother whom he hath seen, how can he love God’

Hundreds Called During Phon-A-Thon

Loretta and Steve Stroup joined the many volunteers who made PHON-A-THON possible.

Hundreds of households across the United States received a friendly phone call from Fort Wayne Bible College during the Alumni Association’s second annual PHON-A-THON! Over 925 alumni homes were contacted on the evenings of May 17, 18, 20, 24, 25 and 27 by volunteers during the fund raising effort.

In the six evenings of calling the goal of $20,000 was exceeded! FWBC alumni faithfully pledged close to $25,000 with over $20,000 received by the Alumni Office in just a few weeks after the event.

Howard Dunlap, Alumni Director, comments on the second PHON-A-THON: “The cooperation of the alumni in this special project is genuinely appreciated. The volunteers were a real demonstration of the love of God by their joyful and enthusiastic attitudes. Everyone who was involved in PHON-A-THON ’82 was a real asset to the overall project!”

Hats go off to the many volunteers who graciously provided their time and services. They were kept busy making phone calls, stuffing envelopes, helping with the tabulating and praying for the requests that came in.

Off-campus volunteers making calls during PHON-A-THON ’82 included Ruby Adams, Barbara Black, Luella Burley, Florence Cavender, Cynti Eicher, Norvil Hill, Cynthia Howard, Adelle Isaac, Edna Manyan, Pat and Verlin Rice, Doras Ringenberg, Violet and Gerald Ringenberg, Andrew and Esther Rupp, Evelyn Simmons, Marguerite Steiner, Steve and Loretta Stroup, John Weaver, Mary Weidner and Tom Zehr.

Other workers and those who prayed for the incoming requests were Joyce House, Donna Parker, Eunice Parker, Vicki Smith, Mildred Eicher, Gerald Ringenberg, Evelyn Simmons and Marcel Zehr.

Each year the monies received during PHON-A-THON are used to help balance the college budget for that fiscal year. Last year the PHON-A-THON fund drive raised approximately $15,000.

Alumni News Through the Lines of Phon-A-Thon ’82

Not only was PHON-A-THON ’82 a blessing as pledges were made to the Alumni Association, but it was also a time to catch up on alumni news.

The alumni news section, “Class Notes,” is published in each issue of PULSE/LINEs, but the following news was brought to our attention specifically through PHON-A-THON.

Donald Fleck (att. ’35-’36) has gone to be with his Lord.

Doris (Goehrng ’45) Marquardt and husband, Elmer, are in their 14th year of traveling in Christian ministries of evangelism, Christian Education seminars, Bible conferences, etc. The first of this year they spent two months in Germany ministering to American service people and to German speaking people. The Marquardts claim Battle Creek, MI as their home.

Ron G. Youngs (’55) is living in Phoenix, and teaches at Southwestern Baptist College.

Leon (att. ’61-’62, ’69-’70) and Doris (Royce, att. ’61-’62) Raiche are now both on the staff of Pensacola Christian College, Pensacola, FL.

Steve Chapman (’78) has been pastor of the First Baptist Church of Bellevue, OH since August, 1981. He was ordained as a minister of the Ohio Baptist Convention, American Baptist Churches/USA on May 2, 1982.

Ruth (Lehman, ’79) Catron and husband, Dave, are living in Riverside, CA. Ruth is a third grade teacher at Riverside Christian Day School and Dave is a marine.

President's Perspective

Dear Alumni:

How are you today? I wish we could sit down together and hear the interesting things that are happening to you these days. But since that is not possible, I'll tell you about us at Fort Wayne Bible College.

In March Dr. Jared Gerig, Dr. Wes Gerig, and I led a most worthwhile tour to Jordan, Israel, and Egypt. It was an excellent experience. We came home with a greater appreciation of God's love and purpose in the world.

As always, commencement time was filled with never-to-be-forgotten events. Dr. Abe Van Der Puy of HCJB brought us a thought-provoking message. We said goodbye to the seniors and welcomed a great group of new alumni. We posed for pictures and rejoiced with parents over the achievements of their offspring. There was a great alumni banquet and program.

Summer was filled with travel for the college, speaking engagements, and vacation complete with a family reunion of our children and grandchildren at the Lake of the Ozarks in central Missouri.

The accreditation process is on schedule. The self study — a voluminous tome — was submitted September 1. The examining team from the North Central Accrediting Association will pay us a three-day visit November 8, 9, and 10. Of special concern to us this year was to generate the kind of income that would enable us to balance our budget. Praise the Lord! We were able to do so, thanks to the blessing of the Lord and the response of our friends to our need. An important element this year was the very successful alumni phonathon.

Space will not permit me to go on recounting all the good things God is doing for us. Why don't you stop by my office sometime and I'll give you the rest of the details, and I can hear from you about God's wonderful grace in your life.

Paul Brennan:

Government Service

The last three years of ministry in New Guinea was spent in the capital city where Paul served as Government Communication Advisor and where Dorothy taught in one of the Government's international primary schools.

Paul's contributions and expertise have not gone by unrecognized. In 1974 he was nominated by the U.S. Senate Foreign Relations Committee to serve as U.S. Ambassador to Papua New Guinea and, in 1977, was the recipient of the "Papua New Guinea Independence Medal" which was granted by the Government of Papua New Guinea.

After thirteen years in Papua New Guinea, the Brennan family returned to the United States in 1981 to make a home in Kailua, Hawaii. The primary reason for the move was to provide a better education for the Brennan's four sons, Jason, Lars, Nathan and Eric.

Paul shares: "The number one priority in my life at this time is to assist my family, one of God's greatest gifts to me, in all areas of their growth. Accordingly, I have declined overseas assignments in order to concentrate on being with my family and give them my fullest attention. Perhaps later, when my family is grown, my wife and I will return to some overseas responsibility. We will always be 'global citizens' rather than citizens of a particular nation. We assume Hawaii will be the place of our residence for the immediate future, and that I will continue to work with people of diverse cultures, especially from the Pacific."

New Duties

Continuing with his sensitivity to man's culture, Paul has undertaken the vast responsibilities as Executive Director of the Hawaii Multi-Cultural Center of Honolulu, where he is involved in the preservation of the ethnic cultural uniqueness of Hawaii and its people. He is also involved in actively lecturing and speaking in many churches and groups.

It seems that wherever Paul Brennan is, God has supplied with a ministry. Fort Wayne Bible College praises God for the ministry He has allowed Dr. Paul Brennan to have. A ministry characterized by a determination to carry out a boyhood vow to proclaim the awesome message!

And Yea's joy would soon be a family celebration. Rev. Larry DeWitt, then pastor of a church in Fort Wayne, Ind., was able to make arrangements for Mrs. Kim and their two little children to join her husband in the United States. Soon after she arrived, Yong also trusted Christ as her personal Saviour.

Today, Rev. Yea Kim is pastor of a growing church in Aberdeen, Md., reaching Korean immigrants in the Baltimore area.

He says, "I thank God, who saved my life through dangerous situations, and many trials. He has taught me His love through sincere Christian friends and His care of me. "Now I realize how much I need God. I am excited because I have such a great opportunity to share His love with others." From an innocent victim of the Korean War to a terrorist target in Vietnam, Rev. Yea Myung Kim has taken his stand on the front lines of our faith. "As long as we commit ourselves to Jesus," he declares, "there are no such words as defeat and despair — for God is always with us."
For fourteen years Dr. Berk worked as a missionary pilot/mechanic with Mission Aviation Fellowship and served from 1974-79 as Academic Dean at William Tyndale College. He has been active on the boards of Missionary Internship, Inc., the Greater Toledo Committee for Biblical Studies, and the Blissfield Board of Education.

Alumni Basketball Games Set For November 20

The FWBC Alumni Department has announced that the annual alumni basketball games are scheduled for November 20, 1982, with a good time planned for all who participate.

The games will be held at the Central Gym in Fort Wayne with game #1 getting underway at 1:00 p.m. At that time an alumni team, coached by Sam Williams ('70) will put to test their basketball skills against the FWBC intramural basketball stars.

Game #2 will begin at 3:00 p.m. with the second alumni team, coached by Ken Conrado ('71), taking on the 1982-83 FWBC Varsity team lead by coach Mick Mills.

If you have not received a letter concerning the basketball games and would like to take part in the events, contact the Alumni Office. It is your choice what team you would like to play on.

Alumni director, Howard Dunlap, invites all participants to a special meal following the games in the President’s Dining Room in the college cafeteria. The meal will be free to all players with family members paying the regular meal price.

From The Director

Dear Alumni:

It has been a quiet, yet exciting summer. We have had a variety of weather problems, but in all Fort Wayne is a great place to live and work.

As Director of the Alumni/Chapel Relations Office I really appreciate your cooperation and patience with us. It is a privilege to be your leader when you follow so well. We, the Advisory Board and I, set the goal of giving for 1981-82 at $150,000 and you helped us reach $175,953. Of that figure, $18,000 is from two estates—so let me encourage you to include Fort Wayne Bible College in your estate planning. 1981-82 was another year for the college to finish in the black.

The total goal for giving in 1982-83 won't be established until September 6, but the Phon-a-thon goal for 1983 has been set at $25,000. I appreciate the work Martha Fiedler did in Kansas for Phon-a-thon. She called all the alumni living in Kansas and saved us the expense of doing it from here in Fort Wayne. If you are interested in doing something in your area please let me know.

We are planning for area alumni rallies and we need to hear from you if you desire a rally. The Alumni office will do the promotion and furnish the program. People are busy, but an evening with FWBC friends is very enjoyable.

The Alumni Banquet will be Friday, May 6, 1983, so please mark your calendar now to be with us.

The potential for fall enrollment looks good, but continue to pray for us and share with us as the Lord meets your needs.

Alumni Banquet Provides Great Fellowship

As always, the annual FWBC Alumni Banquet was a success! Over 400 alumns participated in the special programming held on May 7, the eve of the college’s 74th graduation ceremonies.

Alumni festivities commenced early in the afternoon with the classes of ‘32, ‘57 and ‘72 staging their own reunions. The reunions provided an opportune time to become reacquainted with the ‘ole classmates.

Following traditional format, the banquet was started off with the fellowship hour which proved beneficial to all who took part. It is surprising how much “catching up” can be accomplished in such a short period of time!

Warm fellowship continued as the alumni gathered around the table for a delicious catered meal and then joined together in Founders Auditorium for an enjoyable program which included special music by the Chorale and a college update from Dr. Bostrom.

Also during the evening Howard Dunlap, Director of Alumni Relations, awarded to six seniors the “Outstanding Senior Award.” The recipients were David Hughes, Ossian, IN; Annette Krueger, Mark Mikol, Pat Rice, Dwight Weber, all of Fort Wayne; and Steve Shaffer, Leo, IN.

Throughout the Alumni Banquet the theme of “Worship the Lord” was predominant. Emphasis was placed on Chronicles 16:29, “Worship the Lord in the Beauty of Holiness.”

FALL CAMPUS DAYS
October 28-29-30
Special Events Series Is Better Than Ever

Three outstanding presentations remain on the Special Events calendar at Fort Wayne Bible College. On November 5, the Houston-based "After Dinner Players" appear at 8:00 p.m. in Founders Auditorium to present their unique Christian drama. The producer of the "A.D. Players" is Jeannette Clift George, most well known for her role as Corrie Ten Boom in the film, "The Hiding Place." Tickets are priced at $3.00 each for the general public and $2.00 for students and senior citizens.

On February 11, 1983, a dynamic speaker, Dr. Tony Campolo, will be on campus. Dr. Campolo is chairman of the Department of Sociology and Youth Ministries at Eastern College, St. Davids, PA and much in demand by colleges and churches. His major field of study is the family. Time of his lecture is 8:00 p.m. and tickets are priced at $3.00 for the general public and $2.00 for students and senior citizens.

Sharathon ’83 In The Making

WBCL, the 50,000 watt voice of Fort Wayne Bible College, will hold its seventh annual SHARATHON on January 11, 12 and 13, 1983. The WBCL staff members are busy in finalizing the preparations for the fund-raising extravaganza. A goal has not yet been set.

Mel Johnson and Wayne Pederson will once again be joining WBCL for the exciting event. Mel is heard each weekday afternoon on "Action Four" and hundreds of listeners enjoy Wayne's "Footprints" aired each weekday and also his "New Dimensions" aired on Saturday afternoon.

SHARATHON is always a spiritual and emotional highlight at FM 90... and represents a time when the station focuses its attention and trust on the Lord for His provision in the ministry of WBCL. They invite listeners and friends to stop by and visit the SHARATHON crew, and for a special blessing, volunteer to answer telephones or help with other duties. Participants find it a most rewarding experience... and discover that sharing is what SHARATHON is all about!

Soccer: A Good Season Expected

The Falcons will enter their third Varsity Soccer season with a more ambitious schedule than ever before! This year's slate includes 16 games making for a very challenging season for the young team! The season began with a home game on September 4 and will end with a game on Parents' Day, October 30, with Grand Rapids Bible College.

The 1981 season concluded with a record of five wins, seven losses and one tie. That record was an improvement over the team's first season in 1980.

Coach Dennis Williams comments, "Now we are in the third year for Varsity Soccer here at Fort Wayne Bible College and we anticipate that our program will continue to grow. I am sure we will also see a greater success in our win-loss margin also."

Missed this year are five seniors of the 1981 team. Two key individuals whose absence is felt most are goalie Steve Sherman and All-Conference fullback Steve Schlatter. It is hoped that absence of these individuals from the 1982 season will be made with the addition of several players who will help to round out and strengthen the team. Ten men returned to the 1982 squad from last year's team.

In summary Coach Williams shares, "We are optimistic about our season and look forward to the opportunity to represent Christ through participation in Varsity soccer!"
The Canvas Of “The Master Painter”

Each summer during Post-Session the course of “Wilderness Camping” is offered. In the class students participate in a wilderness experience to learn skills of wilderness living, gain deeper self-insight, and develop skills of ministry in a wilderness context.

The summer of 1982 found the wilderness group on an island in Northern Wisconsin north of Minocqua. After two days of training the students were assigned to go “Solo.” Each student was to be totally isolated from the outside world for 14 to 16 hours with only five pieces of equipment. No fires were to be made and no food was to be taken. The objective: to meditate and become totally dependent on God and His great creation.

While on his “Solo” assignment, student Hal Lehman wrote the following descriptive essay which superbly portrays the canvas of “The Master Painter.”

THE MASTER PAINTER

Upon entering the door I came immediately to a room that had nothing in it but a large picture covering one entire wall. At first glance I thought, “What a strange room.” Then I took a look at the picture. It was a beautiful picture of an outdoor scene in a wilderness area. It looked like any ordinary nature picture but something about it seemed peculiar. I took a second look and began to examine it to find out what was different. Suddenly it struck me, there was not one predominant central figure or theme as in most pictures, each element of this picture seemed to be prominent yet all fit together so nicely that not one stuck out more than another. I decided to study this picture more, since it was different from others I had seen. The painter must have left a message in this painting somehow. He must have been an expert painter.

As I looked I saw the beauty of the individual elements that made up the picture, the trees, and their leaves, the river and its banks, and the sky with fluffy white clouds. However, I knew there was more. All at once it became real to me. I saw the message painted within the beauty of this nature scene. The painter had revealed parts of himself through the elements in the picture. The reason that there was no central element or theme must show that all his characteristics were of equal value and importance. First, I noticed strength and courage in the tall sturdy pine trees standing by the banks of the river, then I saw patience in the time it must have taken to paint each of those little pine needles on the branches. Looking up I saw gentleness reaching to me from the soft fluffy white clouds. As the sun sparkled down through the branches of a pine tree it seemed to say, “I see you and I’m right there with you.” As my attention turned to a fire, I suddenly jerked back feeling violent anger coming from the raging flames. I was terrified then I saw the red-orange embers that told me there was tenderness and care beneath those flames. I noticed the brown sandy banks and decided it must be impossible to count all those sand grains so the days of this painter must be unnumbered. I saw variety and delicacy in the types and styles of small trees, bushes, grasses, and weeds growing thick beneath the large trees. The calm stillness of the river must speak of the reverence that is due to this painter. It looked like a sheet of glass and as though it never moved.

I learned my greatest lesson as a small boat was making its way down the river leaving a series of small waves flowing to each side of it. Along the shore were logs and sticks lying at the edge of the water. There was something special about this wood, they seemed to say “I love you, I love you once been covered with rough bark and had had limbs and branches sticking out all over. Now it was worn nearly smooth from the water. As the waves lapped against the wood, they seemed to say “I love you, I love you, I love you,” as they smoothed down the rough spots even more. Leaves blowing gently in the breeze gave a feeling of assurance that my needs would be supplied.

As the sun sank behind the trees, it was as if the painter had made one last stroke with his brush and given the sky a tint of orange. Simply beautiful. I watched a moment then decided to go. As I turned to leave I saw an inscription on the back of the door. I read:

I have shown you only a small sampling of myself. There is much, much more I could show you. I reveal myself to you in many ways, sometimes you notice but most times you aren’t even paying attention. Continually seek for more of me and the parts you have already seen and learned of me, share with others.

—Master Painter

With The Lord

Mrs. Gertrude Schoepflin (g.’23), who resided at 20830 Botsford Drive, Farmington Hills, Michigan, went to be with the Lord April 3, 1982.

Rev. Jesse Neuenschwander (’23-’24, ’31-’32) went to be with the Lord April 14, 1982. He was born in Bluffton, Ohio, and pastored several churches during his ministry. He also did missionary service in the Dominican Republic from 1945 to 1949. After retirement he moved to Plantation, Florida, and served as the Minister of Visitation for five years in the First Presbyterian Church of Plantation until his death.

Mrs. Burton Jones (Elsie Ackerman-g.’31) went to be with the Lord on June 7, 1982, after a bout with cancer. Elsie was a missionary in Kentucky before her marriage and at her death was living in Bowling Green, Ohio.

Sgt. James David Catron and Ruth Lehman (79): July 31 in Riverside, CA.

Nick Colgrove and Gail Nussbaum (’82): March 20, Strongville Missionary Church, Strongville, OH.

Stan Cushing (’82) and Regina Springer (’82): May 9, Oakthorpe Christian Union Church, Oakthorpe, OH.

It Rained On Their Game!

Prize winners in the fourth annual Pastors' Golf Tournament were: (back l to r): Tom Halsey — highest gross — Faith Chapel Church of the Nazarene, Huntington, IN; Joe Updegrove — low net — First Church of the Nazarene, Huntington, IN; Ed Koch — longest drive — Sherman Street Church of God, Ft. Wayne; Dan Werner — longest putt — Faith Chapel Church of the Nazarene, Huntington, IN; Earl Holkeboer — longest drive — Christian Reformed, Ft. Wayne. (front l to r): Howard Mauer — longest putt — Calvary Bible, Paulding, OH; Floyd Vieth — fewest putts — Decatur Missional Church, Decatur, IN; and Alumni Director, Howard Dunlap. Not pictured: Gary Gates — low gross — EMC Headquarters.

It has been said that it should never rain on a golf course, but Monday, July 19, was a cloudy, rainy morning resulting in 41 dripping pastors who took part in the fourth annual Pastors' Golf Tourney in Fort Wayne.

As pastors finished nine holes of golf and came back to the Foster Park clubhouse, the stories were numerous! It seemed that everyone had an excuse, related to the weather, for their scores.

Despite the excuses, scores were tallied and prizes were given to the winners in various categories. Dick Houser, vice president of the Citizens National Bank in Columbia City, IN, provided prizes for the winners.

FWBC Auxiliary
Expands Ministry

What does an organization that went out of its way to graciously serve the Fort Wayne Bible College Community during the 1981-82 school year do in the new school year? Answer: They try even harder!

In order to increase its ministry to the BC Family, the FWBC Auxiliary has revamped its programming and is anticipating a great year being even more involved in campus activity.

To encourage increased participation in the Auxiliary this year the organization has devised a more attractive method for both men and women to join in. It is not necessary to attend all the meetings and functions of the Auxiliary to be a participant (formerly member)! To become a participating merely contribute to the Auxiliary Scholarship Fund. Of course the Auxiliary always welcomes and needs those who will volunteer their time for the various projects besides donating to the scholarship fund, but those miles away can also take part in a special way. Donating to the Auxiliary Scholarship Fund will enable the Auxiliary to give $150 scholarships to five students this year.

Those participants who wish to go beyond aiding in the giving of scholarships may also donate crafts and baked goods for the October 8 & 9 "Crafts 'n Things Sale." Also you can become a prayer partner . . . a very important segment of the Auxiliary's ministry. In becoming a prayer partner you will be assigned a freshman student to pray for and send notes of encouragement during the school year.

The Auxiliary's big event last school year was the first annual "Spring Housewalk," and what a success it was! Over 350 people participated in the day with the result of not only a good time, but also a profit of $2,100 which enabled the Auxiliary to redecorate the college cafeteria. The dining hall has been painted (murals on two of the walls), pictures hung, plants arranged, blinds put up, a new counter installed and attractive tablecloths for all of the tables. The students had a pleasant surprise when they returned to campus and saw the dining area. They now have a cheerful atmosphere for dining and fellowship.

Planning has already started for the second "Spring Housewalk" which is scheduled for April 22, 1983. A campus project has not yet been determined.

A new form of ministry this year will be the distribution of "Survival Kits" one week prior to exam week during both semesters. For $10 a kit will be delivered to your student or a student you may know at the college. The kit will contain various items to brighten up exam week and make the load seem a little lighter! It's a great way to let students know you care. All profits will be used for the campus project.

So . . . whether you are male or female, or whether you live around the corner or hundreds of miles from Fort Wayne Bible College, you too can participate in the FWBC Auxiliary. Decide to take part today and let the Auxiliary know by filling out the following coupon. Your participation will help expand the ministry of this vital organization.

A scene from last year's Career Day display area.

The final day, Saturday, October 30, is the traditional Parents' Day observance as parents, some for the first time, return to campus to visit with their children. A full day is planned for the parents and students, highlighted by a soccer game between the FWBC Falcons and Grand Rapids Bible College at 2:30 p.m. on the soccer field behind Witmer Hall.

Each evening of Fall Campus Days the college music department will stage the Gilbert and Sullivan operetta, "The Pirates of Penzance." The operetta will be performed on the stage of Founders Auditorium each evening of Fall Campus Days at 8:00 p.m. For further information on Fall Campus Days, contact the Department of Development at the college at 456-2111.

Second Annual Fall Campus Days
Set for BC Campus

Dr. Leonard W. DeWitt, President of the Missionary Church, and Mr. William Secor, Jr., Assistant Professor of Counseling Psychology at Trinity Evangelical Divinity School, will headline the second annual Fall Campus Days celebration at FWBC, October 28-30.

Pastors, youth ministers, parents, laymen, and high school students will once again come together on campus for a varied mix of education, inspiration, and fun. The first day of the three-day event will be devoted to pastors' interests with Dr. DeWitt joined by psychiatrist, Dr. Lowell E. Becker, in seminars throughout the day. The second day will see some 30 church and para-church organizations with career display booths in Founders Memorial Auditorium. FWBC students and visiting high school students will have the opportunity to counsel on Christian vocations and to hear Mr. Secor during Spiritual Emphasis gatherings in Founders Auditorium.
"The earth and all of its fullness belongs to God."

A man once said that the secret of success is to "dress British and to think Yiddish."

The scope of this thought cannot encompass the entire concept of Jewish thinking, but I want to focus on one very important financial concept which has its roots in the Old Testament, where God gave the children of Israel "an inheritance within the land," a gift of capital.

But that gift was not without restrictions. And one of those restrictions was that they were to take a percentage of the first fruits, or income, to share with the priests and Levites, the widows and the children, the poor within the gates and the strangers without.

I grew up in a church where tithing was practiced, and I was taught that that was the basis of stewardship...a gift of 10% of what I earned.

But one day I heard a man talk of 100% stewardship, and I became confused. Is stewardship 10% or is it 100%?

But as I began to review the scriptures, I found that when they referred to percentage stewardship, it was pertaining to gifts of income or first fruits.

But I also found that the scriptures talked about the cattle on a thousand hills, houses, lands, silver and gold, the earth and all of its fullness. And when it did, it referred to those items belonging to God, 100%, totally His.

And I started to see that this Old Testament principle, that of God as owner of all the capital, becomes the underlying basis for our definition of stewardship. Stewardship does not denote any ownership, but only trusteeship, or a caretaker. You see, it's impossible to be an owner and a steward over the same property.

I believe that the secret of success for the modern day steward is this underlying philosophy. God owns all of our property, we call it an estate. He has entrusted it to us, to be utilized to produce income, with a requirement that we shall take a percentage of the income and share with those who are in need, just as He required that of the children of Israel in the Old Testament.

And He has added to our responsibility with His final command, to go into all the world.

And as a steward, we must be found faithful. Not only in the use of income, but in the distribution of the estate at the time of death. If it is God's, if He has entrusted it to us as stewards, then will He not require that we be diligent in seeking His plan of stewardship for the distribution of our estates, just as faithfully as we have sought His plan for all other areas of our lives? This is an important part of stewardship that is many times overlooked by Christian individuals.

If you have a need at this point, we want to help you meet that need. We are available to review your estate plan, or to design an estate plan if you do not already have one.

Our counsel is also available to you in providing guidelines for seeking God's plan of stewardship for your estate.

We are your servants. We feel it is important to be in a position when we meet Jesus face to face, that we will be worthy of those words, "Well done, thou good and faithful servant."

We can send you information to be of assistance, or we would be glad to assist you personally without charge or obligation. The coupon below is for your convenience in requesting our services.

BC Joins Anti-Pornographic Drive

In effort to uproot the problem of pornography in the city of Fort Wayne, Fort Wayne Bible College has joined with area churches and concerned organizations in picketing the pornographic centers of the city. The Bible College is responsible for picketing one day a month through the month of November.

Holy Land '83 Being Planned

Their bodies were tired but their spirits refreshed. For some 42 people who participated in the Fort Wayne Bible College-sponsored tour of the Holy Land this past Spring, it was a 2000-year journey in 14 excitement-filled days. "This trip gave me a storehouse of memories that will last throughout my lifetime," one of the tour participants said. Others were glowing in their praise of how the tour was organized to make maximum use of their time and the rich detail of the land and its history as described by the tour guides.

According to one of the tour leaders, FWBC president, Dr. Harvey Bostrom, "The tour provided that extra dimension in my walk with the Lord that might not otherwise be there if I had not visited the Holy Land," Along with Dr. Bostrom, the other tour leaders were Dr. Jared Gerig, past president of the college and Dr. Wesley Gerig, chairman of the Division of Biblical Studies. It was, as Dr. Wes succinctly put it, "a first class tour." The group visited Israel and Egypt, and Jordan, pausing for a special time of worship on the first Sunday in the Garden Tomb. Old Testament sites of Masada, Jericho, Beersheba, Galilee, Nazareth, Joppa, and Jerusalem in addition to Amman, Jordan and Cairo, highlighted the tour.

Because of the success of the tour, plans are now being made for a 1983 Holy Land Tour, February 25 — March 10; this time with the addition of Greece as a stop along with Israel and Egypt.

John ('78) and Tammy (Renner-'76-'78) Gregory are enjoying Joel Ryan, born July 17, 1981 and a brother, Joshua David, born July 30, 1979.

His Company Has A Great Summer

His Company, FWBC's Christian drama troupe, has just completed a summer tour of over 12,000 miles throughout the Midwest and West. From large cosmopolitan churches to small country chapels, from church conferences to youth camps, from affluent surroundings to impoverished circumstances, from eighty-year-olds to three-year-olds, Christ's message of salvation was portrayed in full-length dramas, dramalogues, puppets, clown and jester presentations. The plays presented were "But Lord..." written by myself and "Too Much Taken," written by Jean Springer. The dramalogues were individually written by the troupe members, Duane Mabee, Cindy Nantz, Cathy Smidtz, Greg Tatum, and Mark Vincent.

It would be difficult to place into words all the Lord taught the troupe members and their director through this experience. God's goodness far surpasses anything the human mind can comprehend: in ministering, one is ministered unto; in encouraging others, a person is thus encouraged; and in loving, one experiences love.

For eleven weeks the schedule was filled with responsibilities and activities that the troupe shared together. It was indeed a summer well spent in meeting and sharing with fellow brothers and sisters in Christ across this nation — a time of growth and blessing. To God be the glory "we have this treasure (drama, in this instance) in earthen vessels (ourselves), so that the surpassing greatness of the power may be of God and not of ourselves."
