STORY OF A WONDERFUL LIFE

SEND 10 cents in stamps and get the SKETCH OF THE LIFE OF SAMUEL MORRIS. He was born in the jungles of Africa, hundreds of miles from the coast. In his childhood he was twice made a slave and cruelly beaten. He escaped from his wicked master and God led him through the wilderness till he reached the coast, where he came in contact with one of Bishop Taylor's Missionaries and was gloriously converted. He felt called to preach to his people and was told that he must go to America and be educated. He had no money, but he had what was better than money—faith in God and a pure, consecrated heart. The Lord opened the way and he worked his passage to America; he preached the Gospel in New York City and led sinners to Jesus before he had been in America twenty-four hours. He came to Taylor University where he spent two years of a pure, sweet, useful life which proved a help and inspiration to hundreds around him. He was "full of the Holy Ghost and of Faith." He died in the summer of 1893 but his works live on. People of all churches and some outside the fold, from all parts of the United States and Canada, are writing for the Life of Samuel Morris and telling what a blessing it has been to them.

Sinners who read it are struck with conviction and led to Christ.
Christians who read it are convicted for the blessing of Perfect Love and for the Baptism of the Holy Ghost.

Help us to circulate 100,000 copies. Send 10 cents in stamps for single copy or Money Order if several copies are ordered.

Everlasting Life.

BY REV. T. C. READE, D. D.

TO-DAY, 0 everlasting life, to-day,
Begin thy ceaseless roll! To-day be lit
Thy quenchless fire. Lift up your heads, ye gates;
Yea, lift them high, ye everlasting doors
That ’twixt your burning pillars may come in Glory's great King. To-day my soul would greet
The Sun of Righteousness, whose healing beams
Shall dissipate at once both night and death.
It needs not death to bear immortal life;
Those lives immortal are which, sprung from Christ,
Still suffer as did he, strive as did he
To lift the burden from the heart oppressed,
And set the captive free. No need to them
Of pearly gates and jasper walls; no need
Of amaranthine shades and nectar streams;
For where they live is heaven; dwelling in God,
They dwell in light, and ev'ry beauteous form,
And holy thought and soul-renewing power,
Loving the light, attends them. Life to them
If but the prelude of unceasing years.
The vastly good, the gloriously great
Whose names are incense, and whose memories
Are treasured in our love—this was their creed:
"We live to breast the mighty tide of wrong,
And shield our fellows from the killing blow;
We live to love each lovely thing; to set
The cross of mercy by the star of power,
And, 'mid the sweeping storms of life, to keep
The souls of men in quiet anchorage."

REVIEW.

The past year has been one of unvarying success. At the opening of the first term we moved into our beautiful new building and have found it ample and commodious for all the purposes of the school. It is located on a commanding eminence and surrounded by beautiful scenery. The school opened with a larger attendance than at any time for many years past and each term throughout the year the number of students has increased. Our discipline has been excellent and our pupils have done good work in all their classes.

RELIGIOUS INTEREST.

During the year two special meetings were held in the school to promote a revival of religion among the students and as a result nearly all of our students were brought to Christ.

WALKER CABINET.

Rev. N. U. Walker, of Ohio, has made a fine collection of minerals and fossils which will be placed in suitable cases and will form a most interesting and instructive feature of the University.

MOONEY LIBRARY.

Rev. G. W. Mooney, D. D., of New York has begun the foundations of a library which is expected to increase to large proportions. More than 1,000 volumes of history, science, literature and theology are now accessible to the students and in connection with this library is a reading room where numerous periodicals and newspapers are kept for the free use of the school.

STEMEN LABORATORY.

Rev. C. B. Stemen, M. D., LL. D., has in charge the collection of funds for equipping the laboratory of Physics and Chemistry with such apparatus as will best illustrate those sciences.

It is confidently believed that with the able faculty that has been secured, the apparatus and other facilities of the school, together with the large and commodious building, we shall be better prepared to do efficient work the ensuing year than ever before in the history of the institution.

COURSES OF STUDY.

It will be observed by the outlines of the various courses of study given on the following pages that material changes have been made. This became necessary to conform to the demands of the University Senate created by the last General Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church. Those, however, who have entered upon any course as it now stands in the catalogue will be allowed to complete it without change.
COMPLETE EDUCATION.

We hold that no education is complete that does not touch and develop the whole man. We aim to train the body and the mind and to bring the spirit of every student to the Great Master, who alone can transform and develop for a useful life and happy eternity. We look carefully to the manners and morals of our pupils and no parent who entrusts his child to us need fear but that all his interests will be carefully guarded.

CURRICULA.

There will be classes in the following branches of study every term:

Arithmetic, Indiana Series; Penmanship; Reading and Elocution, Kidd; Grammar, Indiana Series; Geography, Indiana Series; History, Montgomery; Physiology, Steele: Spelling and Defining, Raub.

A student is supposed to have completed all these branches before he begins any of the college courses which follow.

COURSE OF STUDY.

LATIN.

The course in Latin is thorough and complete. Special attention will be given to the Preparatory Classes and the work is carefully graded.

This course includes selections from the best classical authors: Caesar, Sallust, Livy Cicero, Virgil and Horace.

Latin Grammar and Prose Composition are studied, not only with reference to the perfect mastery of the Latin Language, but also to assist the student in acquiring a knowledge of the derivation of words and the laws of syntax as applied to English language and literature, and to express the translations in the purest and strongest English.
NATURAL SCIENCE.

The work in this department is carried on almost wholly in the laboratory. Long-range science teaching is a thing of the past. The student must come in contact with his work; he is taught to use his eyes, ears and hands as well as his mental faculties. In Chemistry the general subject is first mastered and then work is done in quantitative analysis. In Physics the work is conducted in the collective system. We have sufficient apparatus for full illustrations of the subject. In structural botany laboratory work is required. The root, stem, leaf, flower, fruit and seed are used and the student is required to make drawings of these different parts of the plant. Each student is also required to analyze and correctly name fifty plants. Laboratory work is also done in zoology and the student is taught how to collect and preserve specimens for the cabinet.

GERMAN.

It is the aim in this department to give instructions in the principles of Grammar and word Analysis that will enable the student to read the German language accurately and with ease. To this end selections are carefully made from the works of both modern and ancient authors.

Translations from English prose into German are required, and such exercises in conversation as are best adapted to the advancement of the class.

ENGLISH LITERATURE.

The course in English Literature is outlined as follows:
FIRST TERM—Anglo-Saxon Age, Age of Chaucer, Age of Caxton, and Age or Elizabeth. Special study of Shakespeare.
SECOND TERM—Age of Milton, Age of Dryden, Age of Anne. Special study of Milton. Age of Johnson, Age of Scott, and Age of Victoria.
Essays are required upon topics assigned.
THIRD TERM—American Literature.

RHETORIC.

Rhetoric is divided into two parts—Invention and Style. The various topics under Style are as follows: Punctuation and Capitals; Diction; Sentences; Figures; Special Properties of Style; Versification; Poetry; Prose Composition.

ENGLISH LANGUAGE.

A thorough knowledge of English is the only true basis for other attainments.

In English Grammar, two classes will be formed. The beginning class will commence with simple sentences, and study the parts of speech in connection with analysis.

There will be daily exercises, practicing pure English in conversation.

GEOGRAPHY.

Geography is taught as one of the Empirical Sciences. The topical method of recitation is used in description and the Socratic in map lessons. Map drawing is a prominent feature in class work. The student learns to make outline, progressive, and relief maps.
U. S. HISTORY.

The object in teaching U. S. History is not only to make the class familiar with the leading facts and principles, but to give a clear idea of the life of the people and development of the government.

The recitations are conducted on the topical plan. Suitable maps and charts are used. Students are requested to bring all the text-books they have upon the subject for reference.

ANNOUNCEMENT OF THE MUSIC DEPARTMENT.

THE MUSIC DEPARTMENT AND ITS AIM.

The Music Department of Taylor University offers to its patrons, first-class advantages for a practical and complete musical education. It is a school where music is taught not merely as an accomplishment, but as a science as well. It is the object of a musical education to awaken and refine sentiment. Therefore, we use only the best works; those which are calculated to educate and develop the appreciation of the beautiful.

Pupils are examined and assigned work suitable to their advancement upon entering the Department.

THE STUDY OF THE PIANOFORTE.

Students studying this branch are taught a proper position, touch, how to play with good expression, correct time, etc. The greatest care is taken to establish a thorough technical foundation. The formation of a true legato touch is the foremost matter with the average pupil.

The course for the Pianoforte will require from four to five years for completion, according to the ability of the pupil. Promotion is not limited by time, but depends upon the progress of the student. It is advisable that one should begin the study of music with the determination of completing at least a certain part of the course, if not the whole. Instruction in private lessons, and in classes of two or three students of equal advancement.

COURSE OF STUDY.

COMMERCIAL AND SHORTHAND DEPARTMENT.

F. L. Shinn, Principal.

This department is coming to the front, as one of the great features of the University, and during the last year we have enrolled about twenty-five students, which shows it is becoming very popular; and our students have done excellent work throughout the entire year, which is evidence of the efficiency of our instructors who have charge of this department, and whose business it is to devote their entire attention to the work, thus giving every opportunity to the industrious student for the most rapid advancement possible.

BRANCHES TAUGHT.

The branches taught in this department are Book-keeping, Shorthand, Typewriting, Commercial Arithmetic, Composition and Correspondence, Commercial Law and Business Forms, Penmanship and Orthography.
SPECIAL LESSONS.

We have made arrangements so that any student taking any other course and desiring to take special lessons in any of the above named branches can do so at a slight expense.

BOOK-KEEPING.

The only correct way of teaching Book-keeping is by combining the practical work with the theoretical. In this department the student is given several months study in the theoretical work until he becomes thoroughly acquainted with the science of accounts in all its different phases, after which he is furnished with capital, and all the necessary blanks, such as notes, drafts, checks, bills of lading, and in fact everything needed to carry on a first-class wholesale business. He is required to keep a complete record of all transactions of this work and at the close makes a balance sheet and true statement of the work, which is to be handed to the teacher for approval.

SHORTHAND.

Andrew J. Graham's Hand-book of Phonography is the system of shorthand taught, and is now acknowledged by the most accomplished phonographers to be the best system of shorthand writing that has ever been offered to the world. In the adaptation of its characters to the sounds of our language, in its legibility, in its powers of contraction, in the rapidity with which it can be written, in the logical and convenient arrangement of its principles, and in ease of acquisition it unmeasurably surpasses every other system of Shorthand.

EASY TO LEARN.

No common branches of study, as Reading, Writing, Arithmetic, Geography, or Grammar, can be so easily learned (to any given degree) as shorthand. It can be learned by any child that can read the common print readily. It is a useful art, an elegant accomplishment, a refining amusement, educates the eye, the ear, and the hand, strengthens the memory and requires but little of the time, labor and space needed in the use of longhand. It also affords an easy stepping stone from a lower to a higher condition; a ladder on which young men may climb to fame and fortune more surely, perhaps, than in almost any other calling which is open to them. This is a calling not likely to be crowded, in which must continue to be a greater demand than supply.

OPPORTUNITIES OF EMPLOYMENT.

The demand for good reporters is much greater than the supply. The time saved to the court, the lawyers, the witnesses, the parties, and the jurors in the trial of cases, and the expense saved to the various parties by the employment of phonographic reporters, are potent reasons for the employment of phonographers in every court. But all this employment is trifling in comparison with that which is given elsewhere Shorthand writers are required by merchants, lawyers, authors, and editors; for railway, express, telegraph, banking or insurance offices, for conventions, legislatures, societies, and other bodies wishing faithful reports of their proceedings.
There is no person who loves the good, the beautiful, the useful, and the true, who would not find phonography very gratifying if he were not forced to acknowledge, as many thousands have, that it is the most captivating and pleasing study and recreation.

TYPEWRITING.

Nothing is more encouraging than a consciousness of being able to present nice, neat work, and unless good machines are used, it is impossible to do this, no matter how much pains the student has taken. Therefore new machines have been placed in the school to be used by the students of shorthand.

COMMERCIAL ARITHMETIC.

In this branch all the different subjects are taught, that are used by all business men, viz: Percentage, Commission and Brokerage, Partial Payments, Partnership, Equations, Cash Balance, etc., etc.

COMPOSITION AND CORRESPONDENCE.

This is taught and so arranged as to cover the most essential points in punctuation, capitalization, and arrangement of sentences, and the student is required to write neat, well composed letters before his work is completed in this study.

COMMERCIAL LAW AND BUSINESS FORMS.

In this branch it is not our aim to make a lawyer of the student, but to teach him the laws governing contracts, agencies, negotiable papers, and to become familiar with all negotiable paper, such as notes, bills of exchange, checks, etc.

ORTHOGRAPHY.

This is a subject which, to-day, is being sadly neglected in most schools, and persons who expect to become good book-keepers or stenographers, can accomplish but little unless they are thoroughly acquainted with all such words as are daily used in a business vocabulary, and it is taught for the special benefit of the students of this department.

PENMANSHIP.

Penmanship is indispensable to a business education, and we aim to teach a plain smooth hand, discarding all superfluous lines and bringing it down to the requirements of a business education. We devote an hour each day and those who take this course of training with the determination of improving, will soon be pleased to see a scrawling hand develop into a neat, graceful style.

TIME TO COMPLETE THE COURSE.

The time required to complete the course, depends largely on the ability, age, experience, and application of the student. The average time is from six months to one year. While we do not intend to keep our students in school longer than is necessary to complete the course, we consider it a great injustice to the student as well as ourselves to recommend them to positions for which they are not qualified, when a few months more spent in this department would enable them to fill positions of honor and trust.
EXAMINATIONS AND DIPLOMAS.

No student will be graduated, until he has completed the prescribed course of study and satisfactorily passed the final examination, after which he will be awarded a diploma, conferring the highest honors of this department of the University.

TUITION IN EITHER COURSE.

DONATIONS AND BEQUESTS.

The bright prospects of Taylor University, together with the fact that it now has valuable property, and is out of debt and proposes to keep out of debt, are very encouraging to the local preachers and friends of Bishop Taylor who may be able and desirous to donate or bequeath real estate or money to the University. The example of the wife of the President of the National Association of Local Preachers in giving $1,000, is appropriate and timely.

Parties who are anxious to aid the University but cannot at once contribute a large sum, might secure a life insurance policy in favor of the University that would realize a handsome sum in ten or twenty years.

Let all who may be able to contribute to the University in any way, at once make themselves known to some one of its officers.

FORMS FOR BEQUEST.

LITERARY SOCIETIES.

The Thalonian Literary Society was organized in 1853. The Philalathean Society was organized in 1878. Suitable places for the society meetings will be provided in the new quarters.

This is a bright little monthly paper published in the interest of Local Preachers, Class Leaders, and other Lay Workers in the Church. Here is a letter from one of its regular correspondents:

SAYINGS OF PARSON FAG.

The Parson is generally conceded to have a keenly sensitive, thoroughly nervous temperament, and hence he is always deeply influenced and sometimes absolutely controlled by his environment. Only this morning he seated himself in his easy chair, drew forth a package of sermon paper and began to write his next Sunday’s discourse, when a friend came in and proceeded in a rapid and excited way to relate the news of the town. The Parson immediately dropped a stich in his knitting and has not since been able to take it up; that is to say, he broke the thread of his discourse; he lost interest in his proposed sermon, pushed aside his writing materials, settled back into his chair and fell

TO WONDERING.— He wondered how those people would feel in heaven who like the theatre so much better than they do the prayer meeting?

He wondered why some christians think forty minutes too long for a sermon, and two hours too short for a play?

He wondered if those christians who send their children to dancing school have family prayer? Of course they do—not.

He wondered why some Methodists are so free with their money on week-days, and so close with it on Sundays? Perhaps they think their money needs a rest on the Sabbath, and so they refuse to disturb its repose in the bottom of their pockets.

He wondered why some of the most robust men in his congregation were using the prescription given to poor, sickly Timothy, “a little wine for thy stomach’s sake,”

He wondered why the cushioned pews of his church were so tiresome and uncomfortable, while the uncushioned chairs at the opera house were so easy and refreshing?

He wondered whether God’s angels, when they came to call forth those who are to have a part in the first resurrection, will believe all the fine stuff that is written on the gravestones.
