The pageantry and fellowship of Homecoming Day have attracted hundreds of alumni and former students over the past several years.

The 1960 version, to be staged Saturday, October 8, promises to be the most memorable yet planned.

In charge of the day are Joe Kipfer, General Chairman, and Edward W. Bruerd, Alumni Executive Secretary. James Glebe is Publicity Chairman, Mr. and Mrs. Joy Arthur are Host and Hostess, George Glass and Janet Benning are in charge of halftime ceremonies, Mr. and Mrs. James Jones are banquet Co-Chairmen, Ernest Shumaker is in charge of the fund workers' breakfast, and Mrs. Andy Trotogot is heading the Alumni cheerleaders.

Headlining the program will be the football game on the Taylor field at 2:00 p.m. (CDT) with the Trojans facing Franklin College, and the Homecoming Banquet under the "Dome" at 5:30.

An innovation this year will be a unique evening program immediately following the banquet, which will combine a concert by the Zionnaires Quartet and an address by Col. Roy LeCraw of Atlanta, Georgia.

1948-49. For the next three years he was Executive Director of the Methodist College Foundation of North Carolina and in 1953 was appointed President of Wesleyan College.

During his 6½ year term of office at Wesleyan, Dr. Martin was instrumental in organizing the Associated Colleges of Georgia, higher education's approach to industry for support.

Under his leadership the college erected three new buildings costing over $27,000, well under $6.00 per square foot.

The Chemistry Laboratories will be housed on the ground floor with two large classrooms and three offices located on the floor above.

Physiology, Botany and Zoology Laboratory sessions will continue to be held in the old Science Building.

Although Taylor is considering relocating the campus in the near future, the loss of the old chemistry department in the administration building fire and the rapid growth of the science program have made the construction of the new facilities a necessity.

The new building also has increased the appraised value of the campus.

"In recent years, Taylor has gained a fine reputation for science training and her radiation research program. It is imperative for the college to continue making such progress in science as in other fields," Dr. Martin commented.

The popular Zionaires of Canton, Ohio, are dedicated businessmen widely known throughout the Midwest through extensive concert appearances. This group supports three full-time and two part-time missionaries with their fees and honoraria.

Colonel LeCraw, Atlanta attorney, is a former mayor of Atlanta, former state senator, and veteran of three wars. During the Korean war he was Deputy Commander of a jet fighter wing.

For three and one half years he conducted a church wide campaign, "The Program of Progress," for the Presbyterian Church, U. S. In 1958 he traveled in Japan, Korea and Formosa for the World Mission Board of his denomination. The following year he was invited to Japan by a group of 1,100 churches and one thousand missionaries as a member of a team of four speakers for the Japanese Protestant Centennial.

A valuable addition to the Taylor academic program is a newly completed two-story chemistry building.

The concrete block structure, measuring 30x80 feet, was built by the college maintenance department at a very modest cost of approximately $27,000, well under $6.00 per square foot.

The attractive and functional Chemistry Building is located just south of the Maintenance Department, and west of the Greenhouse.
