New Chemistry Building Constructed During Summer

Gordon Krueger, Associate Professor of Chemistry, inspects new equipment prior to installation in laboratory.

A valuable addition to the Taylor academic program is a newly completed two-story chemistry building.

The concrete block structure, measuring 30x80 feet, was built by the college maintenance department at a very modest cost of approximately $27,000, well under $6.00 per square foot.

The Chemistry Laboratories will be housed on the ground floor with two large classrooms and three offices located on the floor above.

Physics, Biology, Botany and Zoology Laboratory sessions will continue to be held in the old Science Building.

Although Taylor is considering relocating the campus in the near future, the loss of the old chemistry department in the administration building fire and the rapid growth of the science program have made the construction of the new facilities a necessity.

The new building also has increased the appraised value of the campus.

"In recent years, Taylor has gained a fine reputation for science training and her radiation research program. It is imperative for the college to continue making such progress in science as in other fields," Dr. Martin commented.

The attractive and functional Chemistry Building is located just south of the Maintenance Department, and west of the Greenhouse.

A veteran spokesman, Dr. Gibson has conducted more than 600 evangelistic campaigns from coast to coast, and throughout the British Isles, Ireland and Canada. Services will be held each week day during the chapel hour at 9:30 and each evening, (Monday-Thursday, 7:00; Friday-Sunday, 7:30).

The public is invited to the evening meetings.

The Taylor University Alumni Association, which has gained national recognition with its alumni fund records of participation during the past few years has strengthened its organization for the 1960-61 campaign, in keeping with its program of continued advancement.

The new organization is expected to include 14 Divisional Chairmen, 38 Area Chairmen and 300 Regional Chairmen, a total of 352 workers, one for every 9 alumni.

The six week fund drive will be launched on Homecoming Day, Saturday, October 8 with a breakfast for the fund workers at 9:00 in the new dining room, when campaign instructions will be outlined by the fund committee, and regional chair-men will receive their materials.

The fund goals for this year, out-lined by the Alumni Board of Directors, are $50,000 and 50% participation.

Record Enrollment Expected to Reach 800

With all available housing facilities in use, an all-time record of 800 students is expected for the fall term opening September 19.

This includes 470 returning students, and 330 freshmen and transfer students.

In addition, lack of housing accommodations has forced the college to deny admission to a number of qualified applicants. Last minute cancellations will immediately be filled by those on the waiting list.

"It is gratifying to witness the great demand for a Taylor education on the part of so many fine young people. This is doubly significant in view of the need to use several improvised classrooms because of the fire which destroyed the administration-class-room building last January," commented President Martin.

New Student Orientation Week

An intensive week-long Freshman Orientation program, held September 11-18 gave the new students a com-prehensive introduction into Taylor life and personnel. This program, which has proved helpful both to students and faculty advisers, includes a battery of aptitude, interest and personality tests, counselling sessions, social hours and recreation.

Selected student orientation leaders assisted Dr. Green, Dean of Students, in the program.

Matriculation Day will be October 6, in connection with Inauguration Week ceremonies.
