TAYLOR DAY PLANS SET

A unique event for both Taylor University and Fort Wayne will take place November 4th, Saturday, when approximately 800 students will travel to Fort Wayne to participate in "Taylor Day."

The event, sponsored by the Fort Wayne Jaycees, will commemorate Taylor's anticipated return to that city.

The student body will journey from Upland to Fort Wayne by bus cavalcade, making their first stop at the new 700 acre campus site on route 24, three miles west of the city.

The students will then be brought to the city where the motorcade, led by the Taylor Marching Band, will parade through the downtown area. The group will then leave the buses to shop in local stores and eat before proceeding to the game.

A highlight of the day will be a Saturday afternoon football game between Taylor and Defiance College, to be played at Northside High School's Northrop Field beginning at 1:30.

According to Dar Eshelman, Jaycee Chairman of the Taylor Day Project, all proceeds from the event will be turned over to the Taylor University Building Fund Campaign being organized to raise $1,500,000 in Fort Wayne and the surrounding area.

Taylor Building Fund Chairman, Donald F. Strutz, praised the Jaycees' Taylor Day Project, saying, "The Steering Committee feels this is one of the best ways for our community to become acquainted with this future group of citizens."
