ACKNOWLEDGMENTS

For their generous help in making Stefanie Hero possible, our special thanks to Greg Ballinger, Up-land True Value Hardware; Mr. Superent; A A Rents; Pain Enterprises; Jerry Stair and Sid Hall, Maintenance Department; Dr. Stan Burden, Science Department; and Professor Dana Collins, Music Department.

About the playwright:

Mark Medoff was born in Mount Carmel, Illinois, to Lawrence R. Medoff, a physician and Thelma Butt Medoff, a psychologist. He received a B.A. from the University of Miami in 1962 and completed a Master's degree in English at Stanford University in 1966. Since then he has been associated with New Mexico State University as professor of English, Drama Department chairman and dramatist-in-residence.

In his Stefanie Hero author's notes Medoff writes: "When I began writing Stefanie I wanted to write something that would be just great fun for me and which would challenge our designers, their staffs, our students, the very physical structure of our building. From the moment I first started talking about a huge dragon and people flying and the visage of one of the characters appearing ethereally in the foliage, my colleagues met me with outrageous enthusiasm and staggeringly inventive ideas. I remind myself each day that it's a privilege to make my life in the arts, to exorcise my demons through my imagination and to feel the warmth of caring people all around me. I hope you enjoy the journey of this play. . ."

Taylor University Theatre is a co-curricular educational program supporting the liberal arts mission of the university by providing a broad range of theatre experiences that span most theatrical periods, genres, and styles. Plays that probe the human condition and reveal human action with integrity, authenticity, and a sense of "Grace," provide us the opportunity to understand better what is true about ourselves and others. While individual plays may not necessarily reflect the ethos of the Taylor community, we believe that this theatrical pursuit of truth resides at the heart of a Christian liberal arts education.
