For the past twenty years the church has been on the defensive and has seemingly spent most of her time in apologizing for her faith and trying to harmonize it with popular paganistic teachings of the times. We have learned from this war how dangerous it is to be on the defensive and not definitely planning the attack and moving our forces aggressively toward the victory.

It would seem that the time is here for the Christian folk to sound the bugle note of victory. The fact is that the uncertainties of our age must be met by the certainties of God. If we have no certainties to present, then the world is not interested.

Christian leaders today must be able with shining faces to give a testimony to the certainties of God.

One recent writer puts it, "Imagination often magnifies present evils and memory habitually gilds the past. Indifference is not peculiar to any age, and the forces which terrify us today—humanism, secularism, and the worship of the totalitarian State—have been arrayed against religion throughout history. A study of the Bible is a wonderful correction to pessimism, for the growing faith of which it is the history is never portrayed as being easily achieved. This Book has told us, 'Obey My voice, and I will be your God, and ye shall be My people; and walk ye in all the ways that I have commanded you, that it may be well with you.'"

"THIS IS THE VICTORY THAT OVERCOMETH THE WORLD, EVEN OUR FAITH." One often thinks that the days following the resurrection of our Christ and the outpouring of the Holy Spirit were the golden age, and that we would like to have lived then. And yet these marvelous victories did not seem to alter the situation very much. God's preachers and teachers paid a tremendous price and were willing to die for their faith, and yet in the midst of this there were added to the church daily those who were being saved.

It is very likely that we are entering a period just now in which our faith will be tested. We are needing to open our hearts to God and let Him show us the foundations upon which our faith rests. Each one of us must have this assurance. "By assurance is meant the absolute certainty, the assured knowledge worked out in and testified by personal experience, that the things, which the Christian faith teaches about God, Man, and the world, are true yesterday, today, and forever." One of the most striking facts that we find in the Bible story of man's spiritual progress is that the darkest hours seem to produce the brightest certainties. If you were giving the free translation of John's gospel, chapter one, verse five, it would be about like this: "And God's light has shined in the darkness and the darkness has not been able to overpower it, and this light will continue to shine until Jesus comes again."

In Gethsemane all of Christ's earthly life was gathered up into one sublime certainty, that the will of God must be done even at the price of crucifixion. The first Christians caught the infection of our Lord's glorious faith and at every section and period of the Church's history, victory has come when we have been willing to go into the Garden and to the Cross with Christ. "We know that the Son of God is come, and hath given us an understanding, that we may know him that is true, and we are in Him that is true, even in His Son Jesus Christ. This is the true God, and eternal life." (I Jn. 5:20 R.V.)

God offers this glorious redemption for us today, and what God offers, Man accepts and by so doing receives the assurance that God is the Author, Redeemer, and Inspiration of his life. The assurance is much more than an intellectual acceptance of certain truths, though it must be intellectually accepted. It is the receiving by the whole personality of God Himself as the Light of our life and the determining Principle by which we live in fellowship with God and with His children.

One reads in the modern literature there is no moral authority to which he must turn now, but there is coercion in opinions, fashions, and fads. There is for him no inevitable purpose in the universe, but there are elaborate necessities, physical, political, economic. It would sound from many leaders today that the foundation certainties of God are irretrievably lost, but the man of faith knows otherwise. He knows by personal experience, "That this is life eternal, to know Thee the only true God and Jesus Christ whom Thou hast sent."

Every Christian who knows his history will remember that faith has made its conquest by the permeation of so-

A GROUP OF TAYLOR'S MINISTERIAL STUDENTS

Taylor's A. B. degree, major in Biblical Literature and minor in Religious Education, gives a great foundation and preparation for the ministry.

President Reaffirms Determination of School To Stand True

It is with profound gratitude to the good God for the blessings He has bestowed upon us during our administration at Taylor University, that we began our third five-year period as president of Taylor the first of June. We accept this responsibility with humility and utter dependence on the good God. Taylor will live and continue to bless the world as she continues to ring true to the full Gospel of God's Book. We are thankful that God has continued to pour out His blessings on us. During these years literally scores of young people have been saved and mightily filled with the Spirit of God. The spirit of Sammy Morris still broods over the campus.

Taylor's influence has been, during our administration, as through all its history, world wide. Her students are in the armed services all over the world and scores of them are in the ministry and missionary work, so that the sun never sets upon the students of Taylor University.

For nine successive years our budget has been balanced and every obligation met, and it looks as though the year that closes June 30th, if friends are responsive, the budget will be balanced for the tenth consecutive year with every obligation met. During these last four years a tremendous amount of improvement has been carried out on the campus. The plant has been practically made over, new equipment added through the kind, generous gifts of consecrated friends. There is not a dollar's indebtedness against any of this.

Bishop Cushman Declares That Christ Must Be Put At Center of Life

Taylor's 97th commencement was held May 18. Bishop Ralph S. Cushman, St. Paul area, gave a great address on "Putting First Things First" or "Seeking First the Kingdom of God". He declared the first world war could not have happened had we sought the Kingdom of God, and showed us very plainly that any constructive or permanent peace depends on putting Christ at the center of life. It was a great climax to another blessed year's work.

Buy bonds and send them to Taylor University to help build a permanent peace. Have them made out to the WILLIAM TAYLOR FOUNDATION, a Corporation, Upland, Indiana. Be sure that they are Series "F" bonds.

Please send your gifts to Taylor immediately. Friends are responding splendidly. A check came in this morning from New England for $200. Whether large or small, send your gifts backed by your prayers.

Your investment in Taylor's work will return spiritual dividends in the lives of many people for years to come.

TAYLOR'S HOME FOR YOUNG WOMEN

Taylor Teaches Practical Home Economics

The courses are planned and the laboratory set up with the thought of helping the young women to be efficient homemakers and at the same time giving adequate technical training for young women who plan to teach Home Economics. The aim is to provide for the needs of three types of students: first, for those who desire a knowledge of the scientific, social, economic, aesthetic, and cultural aspects of homemaking; second, for those who desires to teach Home Economics in secondary schools; and, third, for those who plan to use it in the nursing profession or social service.

Taylor's Home Economics is practical. Not only is the theory taught but actual, practical training is given in home planning, homemaking, and in home nursing with the actual care of the baby.

GOV. LUREN J. DICKINSON OF MICHIGAN LEAVES $500 TO TAYLOR UNIVERSITY

Governor Dickinson was a great character and he was interested in Taylor because the Institution stands definitely for evangelical Christianity. Governor Dickinson certainly lived a great and useful life. He stood true to his ideals and convictions to the very last. Taylor counted him among her friends.

Courses Which Meet Today's Needs

Two courses exceedingly practical and helpful:
1. Foundations of the American Way of Life. This course is intended to go back to the very foundations of our American Government and American way of life. This course is very much needed in these times.
2. This course is required of all students before graduation: Religion and Life. It is intended to give young people, a Christian philosophy of life and enable them to stand up against the tests out in practical life. Not only is it meant to lead them into these blessed personal experiences in Christ but they will live it out in the home, the community and church. In other words, it is teaching them how to take Christ with them in all of life.

"Dear Dr. Stuart:
"I'm so happy you are to remain at Taylor, for truly Taylor needs you. Without you I would fear for the spiritual life of the school. Congratulations!
"Enclosed are a few dollars for the general fund.

Respectfully yours,
Mary Kathryn Myers
Van Wert, Ohio."

Pleased with Taylor's Treatment of Son

"Dear Dr. Stuart: This is just a 'thank you' note. Your kind and generous treatment of my son, Paul, has meant very much to his development and character building. We are all pleased with the wholesome influence upon his life. God bless you and your associates in the great task of building lives 'after the pattern' shown you 'in the mount'.
"With kindest personal regards to you, I remain a grateful parent."

SENDS SUPPORT FOR SCHOOL WHICH KEEPS ITS STANDARDS HIGH

"Dear President Stuart:
"I am coming again with a small contribution for your effective and expanding work. I assure you that it is accompanied with a most sincere prayer that God's guidance and wisdom may be meted out to you in liberal measure in your earnest effort to maintain a truly Christian college whose lofty aims and standards are reflected in lives, character, practice and experience of the promising and earnest group of young people who choose to get their training at Taylor.
"Thank you for the Bulletin."

A BALANCED BUDGET FOR TENTH YEAR?
Yes - $5,000 Will Do It!

Your Gifts to Taylor Enrich Young Lives

Your Prayers and Financial Support Are Both Needed

Some of Taylor's friends are turning over their property and stocks and bonds. In many of these cases the Institution, through its splendid business manager, has handled the financial income, sent it directly to the folks concerned, and when they have gone to heaven, the bonds or property have come into the hands of the Institution so that the income can continue to carry on the work of an Effective Christian College.

Other friends have been putting annuities into Taylor. These annuities on an actuarial basis are secured by government bonds or other equivalent assets. If you work on this kind of a plan you are sure Taylor University gets the money you intend her to get, and after you have gone to heaven it will go on building into the lives of youth the Gospel of the Kingdom. If you are interested in doing something similar to this, write to the president's office for complete information, or better still, ask for a personal conference.

Thank you again and again for your glorious response to Taylor's financial needs.

Pray for two things—first, that God may continue to raise up financial friends who will help Taylor meet every obligation; and, second, that students may be turned toward Taylor. Taylor's students and financial help come from friends who believe in an Effective Christian College. If every alumnus, friend, parent, who wants an education to be carried on in ideal Christian surroundings will pray and act, then Taylor's future is secure. Send names and addresses of friends who seem to be interested in the type of work Taylor is doing, also send names and addresses of possible students.

With the new factory open on our campus, many a student will be able to work his way through college and get his training for life's task. Taylor is depending upon you to help in every way possible, but above all, please pray for Taylor.

SPECIAL NOTICE

When you purchase a bond, either as a gift to be used by Taylor University where most needed, or for the Centennial building fund, be sure to have it issued in the name of the "WILLIAM TAYLOR FOUNDATION, a Corporation, Upland, Indiana".

If your bond is to be added to the Centennial Building Fund, be sure to purchase a Series "F" Defense Bond, but for any other purpose, Series "G" Defense Bond.

It can be done if the friends respond as sacrificially as they have in former years. Every special gift sent, every dollar paid on pledge or WILLIAM TAYLOR FOUNDATION will help to make this possible. Please do not lay the Bulletin aside until you have made up your mind what you will do toward making it possible for Taylor's budget to be balanced for the tenth consecutive year.

Your gifts, prayers and cooperation have made it possible for Taylor to do an outstanding piece of work as an Effective Christian College. Please send the largest amount possible and see that it gets into the business office before June 30.

Dear Dr. Stuart:

"I am having a good time at Fort Jackson. My month at Camp Claiborne, La., was a good training period, and now the Lord has been very gracious in giving me one of the most important posts a Chaplain may hold: the Reception Center work. All the young men who enter the Service from North and South Carolina (except the eastern portion of North Carolina along the coast) come to Fort Jackson and pass through my hands. That is, I get a chance at them. To all of them I deliver a Morality Lecture, in groups of from 200 to 300 each night. Then the chapel attendance is large here and I get a wonderful opportunity to bring the Gospel to them. Our problem is to accommodate the large crowds. Last week we packed in 548 men in the 9:00 a.m. service, the week before we had 535 men. Today it was Easter and in a joint outdoor Sunrise Service we had about 2000 men. Our Sunday evening and Prayer meeting attendance also is good. How thrilling and how humbling! Every Sunday morning about ten percent of the men raise their hands expressing a definite spiritual need of Christ.

"The personal interviews are also very fruitful for Christ. And the hospital calls provide excellent opportunity for personal work. We distribute thousands of tracts and testimonies each month through my office. It is really far beyond my expectation. But I know it is God's assignment as well as that of Washington."

The Rev. Evan H. Bergwall, '39, has been awarded the Julia A. Archibald high scholarship prize by the Yale University Divinity School. This prize is awarded each year to the member of the graduating class of Yale who ranks highest in scholarship. Mr. Bergwall received the Bachelor of Divinity degree at the 242nd commencement of Yale University June 6 with cum laude honors. He has also been awarded the Day Fellowship by the Divinity school to be used in graduate study at the university.

Taylor University congratulates Mr. Bergwall on this splendid honor. He is doing a fine piece of work as pastor of the Grace Methodist church, Waterbury, Connecticut.

Many Taylor graduates receive the highest honors and awards both in the divinity school and medicine as well as other technical universities.

Robert Weaver Writes Of His Work, His Wife And Son, John Monroe

A fine letter from Chaplain Robert B. Weaver, Class of '35, gives an interesting report of the fine work he is doing with our soldier boys. He drops in this personal word in which our alumni will be interested: "I have been fortunate in finding an apartment and Mary is with me. You have never met her, for she is a Mount Holyoke graduate whom I met in New York. We have a seven weeks old son, John Monroe, who is the chief center of attraction in our small apartment."

(We are always happy to get any personal word relative to our graduates and former students.)

Teacher of Sammy Morris Attends Commencement

Miss Grace Husted, who taught Sammy Morris, the famous black boy, when he attended Taylor University, was a Commencement guest. She sent us this fine word after going back home:

"After a pleasant trip I reached home safely about 8 o'clock Tuesday evening. Please accept sincere thanks for a delightful visit on the campus where you are making Dr. Reade's visions of a fine university become a reality. I enjoyed every minute... I am enclosing a letter, and war stamps which I received yesterday and hope you will add them to the library fund mentioned in the alumni meeting."

RE-ELECTED

Dr. Harold J. Ockenga, Minister Park Street Church, Boston, Massachusetts, was again elected unanimously as president of United Evangelical Action group at recent Chicago convention. This great meeting brought together a large group of outstanding evangelical leaders of America. Dr. Ockenga has a great church and is doing a tremendous work. He graduated from Taylor in 1927 and was given the honorary degree of D. D. in 1937.
Dear Dr. Stuart:

"I suppose that by the time you receive this letter another academic year at Taylor will be ended. I remember the happy times a year ago when I graduated. I never thought that I would be so far across the earth so soon. I'm in North Africa.

"As assistant to our Protestant chaplain in this hospital unit, I find my work very much to my liking.

"I am glad to be able to make a small contribution to Taylor. The enclosed money order for thirty dollars is part of my tithe money. I want ten dollars of it to be used for the William Taylor Foundation payment. The rest I would like to have applied to the library fund. I'm glad to have a share in this worthy project.

"Because of the firm Christian grounding I received at Taylor, my army career is turning out to be very beneficial to me."

Foundation of God

"What are all our histories, but God manifesting Himself that He hath shaken, and tumbled down, and trampled upon everything that He hath not planted." It is well for everyone of us to go alone with God and discover again personally for himself that the foundation of God standeth sure, for the Lord knoweth them that are His. Jesus Christ, the same yesterday, today, and forever, is the One who is ready to answer a heart-cry for every seeking heart in this year of nineteen hundred and forty-three.

Taylor offers special work in shorthand and typing.

Remember Alma Mater With Gratitude

"Dear Dr. Stuart:

"We were so glad to hear from you. We pray God's richest blessing upon you, faculty, students and all who are bearing the heavy burden of a school in these distressing times. We always remember our Alma Mater with gratitude to our loving Heavenly Father; a debt we can never repay. The Lord has been so merciful and gracious to us and we do praise Him for all His wonderful dealings with us."

Letters Like These Will Make Taylor's Building Program Possible

A Fitting Memorial to a Life Of Outstanding Service

Lake Front Cottage Lakeside, Ohio

"Permit me to congratulate you on your proposal to build an Ayres-Alumni Memorial Library.

"When I was at Taylor for a series of meetings I met him for the first time. His record and personality taught me one supreme lesson, namely the value of a deeply rooted life. Too many of us think of life as an adventure. We must be out and on and away and achieving and pursuing until death overtakes us. Others of us think of life as a career in which personal achievement carries the coveted values of our endeavor.

"Life came to Dean Ayres with its adventure. It found him a magician ready to take the alloys of human nature and by the alchemy of his scholarship turn them into pure gold to enrich life and increase the wealth of the world. It is a wonderful thing to draw unto one's self those powers that turn life into a shrine where men come to worship.

"William James once wrote to a friend, that "the deepest principle of human nature is the craving to be appreciated."

"So may it prove to the inimitable Dean Ayres. He has given long service with a quality life leaving an enviable record. May he live to see the memorial dedicated."

Will You Give $1 for Each Year of Taylor's History?

When the new Library building is completed, there will be a place in it for the name and brief history of everyone who has put $100 into the Centennial fund. One alumnus, since commencement May 18, has lined up twenty-one $100 units.

Bond Repays Small Part of His Debt to Taylor

"Dear Dr. Stuart:

"The enclosure of the accompanying Bond is the realization of something that I have looked forward to for some time. I am more than glad to share it with Taylor.

"For all the fine things that I received while on the campus as a student, I shall never be able to repay in mere dollars. It writes its values in character and soul. Thus, I hope this small sharing may make some contribution. I should like it applied toward the Library Fund.

"I am very glad to hear of this school year amid such trying times. Keep holding the ideals of Taylor aloft more than ever in times like these."
