FWBC — 75 YEARS...AND SERVING

Dr. Timothy Warner Submits Resignation

At the fall meeting of the governing board, Monday, November 19, Dr. Warner submitted his resignation as president of Fort Wayne Bible College.

In his letter Dr. Warner stated as the effective date of his resignation "December 31, 1980, or at any prior date at which mutually agreeable transfer of office may be effected."

Coming to the college as dean of men in 1953, Dr. Warner has, except for three years of missionary service in Sierra Leone, served here in various capacities since that time. Subsequent to holding the position as dean of men, he has been dean of students, faculty member, chairman of the department of missions, and academic dean. He was appointed the fourth president of the college in 1971.

Stating his continued interest in seeing the college prosper as a significant institution of higher education in the Fort Wayne community, Dr. Warner said, "I assure you that there will be no slackening of pace during the remaining months in office. Every effort will be made to see the programs and purposes of the college move forward according to plan."

The governing board accepted Dr. Warner's resignation, expressing appreciation for his years of dedicated service. A search committee will be appointed immediately in order that a new president be secured as quickly as possible.

J. E. Ramseyer served as president of FWBC from 1912 to 1944. He was followed by Dr. S. A. Witmer, whose term of service was from 1945 to 1957. Dr. Jared F. Gerig was appointed president 1958 and served until he retired in 1971. ■

New Academic Programs

FWBC is in the process of adding several new academic majors and minors to its curricular offerings. Business administration and social work will be offered as four-year degree programs. Youth ministries, camping, Christian counseling, broadcasting, creative writing, drama, and secretarial science are being introduced as academic minor programs. Most of these new offerings will be available to students for the fall 1980 semester.

These programs will all be offered from a perspective consistent with the Bible college philosophy and mission statement. This means, simply stated, that the college views as its primary purpose the training of men and women for service in church and parachurch vocations. All of the new majors and minors are being offered in response to the repeated calls for them by various service organizations.

The Bible college is also in the process of rearranging the curriculum into a total program of majors and minors. In addition to the new programs, most current academic major offerings will also be available as minors. Persons interested in obtaining further information concerning these new offerings should contact Jeff Ling, director of admissions, 1025 West Rudisill Blvd., (219) 456-2111, ext. 294. ■

INDIANA RESIDENTS

Included with this issue of PULSE is your copy of Indiana Department of Revenue form CC-40. You need this form to claim the 50% tax credit on your gift to Fort Wayne Bible College. Calculation of your tax credit is explained in the form.

NEWS HOUNDS ON THE RIGHT TRAIL
 in the last issue of PULSE we asked you to keep an eye on your local newspapers for articles about the college. Several of you have come through with flying colors, but we'd still like to add some "news hounds" to the pack! When you see an article, clip it along with the name and date of the newspaper and send it to the college in care of the public relations department. Thanks so much!

the news

Dr. Warner, Dr. Hovee, Dr. Jacobsen, Mr. Strubhar, and their wives attended the thirty-third annual meeting of the American Association of Bible Colleges. Three days of meetings were held October 25 - 27 in Arlington Heights, Illinois. Dr. Warner, current vice-president and president-elect of the AABC presided over several sessions.

Once again, Fort Wayne Bible College participated in the Allen-Wells Chapter American Red Cross Blood Drive. This year's donor goal was 100. With 160 participating, we reached 160% of our goal! The students, faculty, and staff did a commendable job and set a fine example for the Fort Wayne community. Lenora Cushing, resident advisor of Bethany dorm, and Jonathon Spyker, vice-president of Student Association, attended the Red Cross recognition luncheon as FWBC's representatives.

The Allen County Election Board used FWBC facilities for the city election on November 6. Precinct workers spent two days at the polls which were set up in the library. Approximately 475 voters cast their ballots at the college.

A 23 minute slide/tape presentation has been added to the FWBC library orientation/instruction program. It is designed for use with a self-guided library tour and will be initiated this fall for incoming students. Other library news - - Doris Grimes, assistant librarian, recently completed a master of science degree in library science at Indiana University.

David Meece and The Sharretts presented a joint concert at Fort Wayne Bible College in November. Over 500 people attended this Student Association - sponsored event.

WBCL and Fort Wayne Bible College have extended a warm welcome to the radio stations's newest employee - - Phil Richard. Phil brings with him a wide variety of radio experience, including stints at missionary radio station 4VEH in Haiti and several Christian and secular stations stateside. Phil was most recently employed as news director at WJOR, South Haven, Michigan. He currently mans the 4 to 11 p.m. shift at WBCL, with a heavy emphasis on news coverage.

Plans are still in the making for a new 500-foot tower for WBCL, but station manager Jim Schweickart reports the project probably won't get off the ground as soon as originally thought. Final details are presently being worked out for the acquisition of land along Hillegas Road near Interstate 69. If all goes well, the tower could be up sometime this summer - - possibly in June or July, pending FAA and FCC approval. WBCL asks that you continue to make this a matter of prayer before the Lord. Much work still needs to be done as they seek to extend the ministry of the station.

"Whatever Happened to the Human Race?" a series of five films by Dr. Francis Schaeffer and Dr. Everett C. Koop is being shown at the college during January and February. FWBC is one of the first to sponsor these significant films in the Fort Wayne area. The films examine the practices of euthanasia, abortion, infanticide and other crucial human rights issues. Discussion sessions led by FWBC professors and local Christian physicians follow each showing. The films are being sponsored by the Student Association as a part of the college's 75th anniversary celebration.

FWBC correspondence school personnel, Donna Lutton and Barb Artherhults, attended the Christian Correspondence Schools Conference in Chicago this fall. They returned with new information and ideas that will be applicable to the correspondence department here at FWBC. Donna also reported that she enjoyed her first plane trip! Other news from correspondence - - the department is pleased to welcome Carolyn Weider to their secretarial staff. ■

Dr. Jacobsen to Return to Japan

Dr. Morris Jacobsen, vice president for academic affairs, will be leaving the college at the end of this school year to resume missionary service in Japan.

Dr. Jacobsen returned to the U.S. at the end of 1971 for an emergency health furlough, due to the critical illness of his wife, Kathleen. She was called home to be with the Lord in January of 1978. The following June Dr. Jacobsen was appointed vice president for academic affairs.

Last March Dr. Jacobsen and a fellow missionary to Japan, Elizabeth Osmundson, were married. After much prayer the Jacobsens have determined that God is directing them back to Japan. They plan to return the latter part of next summer, providing their support needs are met. ■

ALUMNI BANQUET - Circle May 9 on your calendar! All alumni will want to be sure to attend this very special 75th anniversary alumni banquet with special guests, Steve and Maria Gardner. Internationally-known recording artists and performers, this young Christian couple's ministry will make MAY 9 an evening to remember.

President's perspective

Dr. Timothy Warner has served as President of Fort Wayne Bible College for the past seven years. Except for a three year period spent as a missionary to Sierra Leone, Africa, Dr. Warner has been on the faculty of the college since 1953. He has been widely recognized as an outstanding leader in education.

PRESIDENT'S PERSPECTIVE

The very first catalog of the Fort Wayne Bible Training School dated 1905 stated that the purpose of the new institution was "to prepare and equip as speedily as practically possible those who might be called 'eleventh hour laborers' in order to meet the Gospel emergency of these closing days of this present age."

Seventy-five years later we are still equipping "eleventh hour laborers" for work in the harvest. There are some differences, however. If it was the eleventh hour in 1905, it is more like 11:45 now, and the urgency of the task is heightened.

The original statement said the equipping was to be done "as speedily as possible." Just as farming has become "agribusiness" and demands much more of the farm operator than was true in the days of the horse drawn plow, so the ministries of the church have become more complex and extensive and demand more training on the part of one who ministers.

So, our program has gone from 2 to 4 years, and an increasing number of graduates are pursuing graduate programs. Our curriculum has been enlarged to match growing needs in the church. Several new programs of study are being added next year.

It took great vision, faith, and commitment to start the college. It takes those same qualities to keep it going in 1980. The leaders of the church were not alone in this commitment, however. Many people contributed to the fledgling institution in many different ways. There was contributed labor on the new building, produce from farms and gardens, canned goods for the dining department, and money to pay the bills.

In this 75th anniversary year we are grateful for a growing group of people who share a similar commitment to this ministry - people who feel the urgency of the eleventh hour, who see the size of the harvest yet to be reaped, and who understand the need for trained harvesters.

I'm sorry that more of you are not able to spend some time on the campus and sense the fine spirit among the students. Many things have changed in the 75 years since the first students came to Fort Wayne for training, but the commitment to the Lord and to His service on the part of the students and the commitment of the college to their preparation remain the same ■

FWBC students, staff, and faculty set the pace in the first of many contests to be held nationwide by Wendy's Hamburgers. This fall, nearly 300 FWBCers put the popular hamburger restaurant to the test to see how quickly they could prepare hamburgers each of the 256 ways promoted in their advertising. Proving just how fast fast-food can be, Wendy's served the students in 29 minutes 52.97 seconds. Other cities and colleges will be trying to break the record set in Fort Wayne by the FWBC students as competitions are scheduled at Wendy's restaurants across the country.

INTERNATIONAL STUDENTS — GIVE FWBC GLOBAL VIEW

JENNIFER ANDERSON - - Kingston, Jamaica. Jennifer is attending the Bible College this year through the exchange program between FWBC and Jamaica Theological Seminary. She became a Christian at 17 through the influence of her grandmother. Jennifer developed an interest in missions and served for a year as a missionary to Haiti. After completing her year here, she plans to return to Jamaica for midwifery training at the university. She hopes to go back to Haiti when finished with her training. Jennifer says she is enjoying her time at FWBC. "The Lord has provided for me totally. The people I have met have been very friendly; I appreciate that." When asked what the major adjustments were in coming to the United States, she said, "The biggest differences are the food and the weather . . . I had only seen snow on TV, but I enjoy new experiences!" Jennifer is taking six classes at FWBC, three in the area of missions.

MARY GINGERICH - - Kitchener, Ontario, Canada. Mary first heard about FWBC while working as a nurse in Florida, where she attended Faith Missionary Church in St. Petersburg. After attending last year's Youth Conference her interest increased. She enrolled as a junior this past fall. A registered nurse, Mary came to the U.S. from Canada to pursue her career in nursing. "I'm learning a lot here at the Bible College . . . the teachers are tops." Brought up in a Mennonite family, Mary made a personal commitment to the Lord when she was 13. She is now interested in missionary nursing. She visited Haiti with a team from Overseas Missionary Service and is considering the possibility of service in that country.

ARNOLD HANSRAJH - - Durban, South Africa. Arnold is a first year pre-seminary major. Reared in a Christian home, he made a commitment to Christian service in 1975 after hearing Nicky Cruz speak in South Africa. Arnold considered going into law, but took a job in a bank shortly after completing his secondary education. Christian co-workers had a positive influence in his life. At their invitation he attended a meeting of the Full-Gospel Businessmen's Fellowship. There, the Lord used the speaker, a former Moslem, to speak to Arnold's heart. "The Holy Spirit began to work telling me I had the truth and should do something with it. I shrugged it off for a time, but the call of God became incessant. Isaiah 42 through 45 then confirmed the Lord's calling in my life." Arnold plans to complete his education here, go on to seminary, and take a pastorate - - possibly back in South Africa. He says that the only major adjustment in the U.S. has been SHARATHON '80 -- WBCL's fifth annual Sharathon was a super success. Surpassing their goal of $146,000 midafternoon of the third and final day, the current total of pledges and donations exceeds $161,000. Matching company gifts and mail responses are still being tallied. "Praise God from whom all blessings flow!"

getting used to the "quietness" of Fort Wayne as compared to the highly urban atmosphere of Durban.

MITSURU KATO -- Okayama, Japan. Mitsuru is a graduate of Okayama University with a degree in music. Because of the limited availability of church music training in Japan, she decided to further her education in the U.S. at Fort Wayne Bible College. This is her second year at FWBC. The daughter of a pastor, Mitsuru accepted Christ when she was 14. Following graduation next year, she plans to return to Japan to put her church music training into practice. "There is very little special music or choirs in the Japanese churches. I would like to work in those areas." Mitsuru plays the piano, organ, and violin. She is active in the FWBC music department and is a member of "Reflection," one of the college's two traveling music ensembles. She is enjoying her time at FWBC. "It's a big change from Okayama University... I like the prayer in the classrooms here." Mitsuru has been "adopted" by an American family, an experience she greatly appreciates. The Pressler family of Montpelier, Ohio, takes sincere interest in her and gives her a home away from home during holidays.

ALBERTA LUBBERTS -- Waterloo, Ontario, Canada. Alberta, a registered nurse, came to the U.S. to pursue her career at a time when Canada had a surplus of medical personnel. Like Mary Gingerich, she moved to Florida and began hearing about Fort Wayne Bible College while attending Faith Missionary Church. Alberta enrolled as a junior at FWBC this past fall. She is currently taking courses in missions and Bible. She is also serving as a campus nurse. A one-week trip to Haiti with O.M.S. whetted Alberta's appetite for missions. She hopes to eventually serve as a missionary nurse overseas.

THEODORA PAPADOPOULOU -- Limassol, Cyprus. Dora came to the U.S. and Fort Wayne Bible College a year ago last January. She is an elementary education major and hopes to go on to study psychology. Dora is interested in a career in counseling young people. Reared in a Christian family, she dedicated her life to the Lord at an early age. She heard of FWBC through Steve Roussos, a FWBC student and MK from Cyprus. Her first semester was difficult, she says, because of the language barrier and homesickness. But she is now enjoying the U.S. and FWBC very much. Her younger brother and sister are already planning to come to FWBC for their college educations, as well.

JEAN ANDRE SONNAL -- Borel, Haiti. Andre is a second-year pastoral studies major at FWBC. He accepted Christ at a missionary meeting for children in the early 1960's, but no follow-up ministry was available at that time. When the First Church of God was started in Haiti in 1967, Andre began to grow in the Lord and dedicated his life to Christian service the following year. He attended a Christian secondary school in Haiti. The Church of God mission board in Findley, Ohio, then played a major role in enabling him to attend FWBC. Andre says FWBC has contributed much to his spiritual growth and maturation. He especially appreciates the concern and love of fellow students and the faculty. "I found what I was looking for at FWBC." Andre plans to return to Haiti after completing his education. He hopes to work with Church of God missions in starting a ministry to the mountain people of his country.

BURTON TROTT -- Devonshire, Bermuda. Burton is in his first year as a pre-seminary Biblical studies major at FWBC. He came to the U.S. several years ago and received an associate degree in marketing management from Owens Technical College in Harrisburg, Ohio. While living in Ohio, he visited Atlanta, Georgia. During his visit, he attended Bill Gothard's Basic Youth Conflicts seminars and accepted Christ as his Savior. Desiring to study the Bible, he began to look for a college. Burton saw an ad for FWBC in Campus Life magazine. He decided to visit the campus, and then decided to stay. He says he really appreciates the professors at FWBC. "... They're quality instructors who aren't afraid to get on your level. You'll see them sitting with students in the cafeteria - faculty and students fellowship together." Burton plans to stay in the U.S. and pursue a career in Christian counseling. ■

Patterson Joins Staff

M.L. "Pat" Patterson has been named business affairs administrator of Fort Wayne Bible College.

Pat is a native of Alabama. He is a graduate of Georgetown College, Georgetown, Kentucky, and holds a bachelor of arts degree and teaching credentials in English. He also received a masters degree in education administration from University of Maryland. Pat served in the Navy from 1954 to 1958. He then spent several years teaching, prior to receiving a Naval commission in 1973. Pat completed his Naval career this past November, serving a total of 21 years in the Navy -- the past seven in the areas of education and personnel administration.

"I'm very happy to be here," says Pat. "I know this is where the Lord wants me... there's no doubt about that." Pat and his wife Mary have four children. The Pattersons and their two youngest children have moved from Oxon Hill, Maryland, to Fort Wayne. ■

thanks for your response to the article in last fall's PULSE regarding the donation of instruments. We would be glad to consider any further offers, especially for a marimba or xylophone.

Spiritual Emphasis Speakers

Stuart and Jill Briscoe

Stuart and Jill Briscoe, world-known husband and wife Bible teaching team, were featured at the January 17 and 18 Spiritual Emphasis Days. The Briscoe's ministry on campus was made possible by the Staley Distinguished Christian Scholar Lecture Foundation.

The Briscoes emigrated to the United States from England in 1970. Their refreshing, insightful ministry has had a dynamic impact on people around the world. Stuart, pastor of Elmbrook Church in Waukesha, Wisconsin, has preached in over fifty countries. His wife Jill has had a Bible study and speaking ministry in the U. S., Canada, the Caribbean, Africa, and Europe. The Briscoes are also directors of "Telling the Truth" a multi-media ministry including radio and tapes.

Included in the Briscoe's two-day ministry were:

- four all-student services
- a faculty luncheon
- a pastors' and wives' luncheon
- three WBCL radio programs
- a meeting with the Greek Club
- a student leader reception
- four separated meetings
 - Stuart with men
 - Jill with women
 - and vice-versa

Every attempt was made to maximize the effectiveness of the Briscoes' ministry to our campus and to begin the new semester with a strong focus on the spiritual life of FWBC. ■

Many Join The Daily Walk

Amidst the holiday mail flurry, the January issue of THE DAILY WALK was delivered to most homes just a few days before Christmas. In spite of the Christmas hustle and bustle, . . . the kids home on vacation, . . . and the fact that THE DAILY WALK reading schedule didn't even begin until January, by the 31st of December more than 500 people had enrolled to read through the Bible in 1980. That's a great start, especially considering the fact that most of those expected to enroll will probably sign up after they've read a few days in January. The early enrollees were a pleasant surprise! It's not too late for you -- because the reading program is continuous, you can begin in any month -- reading through the Bible with THE DAILY WALK over the following 12 months. Write or call THE DAILY WALK office for more information (219) 456-2111.

FWBC welcomes Donna Grabill to the staff. Donna is the coordinator for THE DAILY WALK. She is handling the organization, production details, and finances of this new ministry. Donna (Hara) graduated from FWBC in 1977 with a major in music and Christian education. Her husband, Brad Grabill, is a '75 graduate. The Grabills recently returned to the Fort Wayne area from California where they served in the youth ministry of Van Nuys Missionary Church. Brad is now serving as minister of Christian education at First Missionary Church in Fort Wayne, and Donna is directing the primary choir. Donna is originally from Florida, where she attended the First Missionary Church of St. Petersburg. ■

The FWBC men's tennis team finished their season third in the North Central Christian Athletic Conference. Their conference record was 3-2, with an overall record of 5-4. Kent Fishel was coach of this year's team.

Women's volleyball team finished 3-7 in conference, 3-20 overall. It was "get-acquainted" season with new coach Kathy Kephart and a young, inexperienced team pulling together for a lot of fun -- and some valuable training for next season.

Two new athletic clubs, were added this year. The wrestling club, advised by Denny Williams (dean of men), had a turnout of over half a dozen men. The power-volleyball club has eighteen participants and is advised by John Rayls.

#1 GOAL

There's always a lot of talk about goals in athletic circles. The athletic program of FWBC has one primary goal -- meeting the needs of students. Physical fitness, along with spiritual, mental, and emotional fitness, constitutes whole persons. And FWBC seeks to help each student become the whole person God meant him to be. Learning to work as a team . . . learning to win and lose are important lessons not always found in books, but applicable to many areas of life. The expansion and improvement of FWBC's athletic program allows us to offer more to current and prospective students. And, it means our students will have more to offer when they go on to other areas of service. ■

Soccer Goes Varsity

Marvin Miller, president of Newmar, Inc. of Nappanee, IN, presented a check to Don Postel, director of business affairs, and Randy Nigh, soccer club advisor. The check was used to purchase goals, balls and other equipment.

This fast-paced, international favorite is finally waking up American athletes and audiences. And now it's come to FWBC! This year's soccer club was a success with over twenty players showing for practices. The club played four games, lost three, tied one. Enthusiasm is high as they look forward to varsity competition in the conference next year. With the growing interest in soccer, this new addition to the Falcon's schedule should draw the attention of prospective students as well as current students. ■

Net Results!

The men's basketball team has a current standing of 0-1 in the conference, with a 2-8 record overall. Nine of the eleven team members are new this year. Says Coach Steve Morley, "I'm well pleased with their overall performance." The team shows promise, but has had the worst season for injuries since Morley began coaching the team thirteen years ago. The team lost starter Mark Warner with a broken ankle and starter Kelvin Diller with back injuries. It is hoped that Mark will be back to finish the season.

The women's basketball team has a current standing of 0-1 in the conference, 0-6 overall. All eight players are first-time members and show good potential for future seasons. Seven are freshmen, one a sophomore. They may be just trying their wings now, but given time they'll be flying high! Kathy Kephart is coach of the women's team. ■

Advancement

JOB OPENING — The college is seeking a person to manage the development office. Responsibilities include support services for the field staff, written communications with Harvester Club and Ambassador Corps members, planning for meetings and seminars of these groups, and supervision of donor records. If interested, contact Dr. Warner.

Advancement or Development?

If you are a faithful reader of Pulse, you may at some time have wondered about the terminology used to designate the department charged with resource development for the college.

Someone might well ask, "Why not just call it fund-raising and be done with it?" The answer to that is that there is considerably more involved in it than that. Perhaps the more accurate term would be friend-raising. That comes closer to being the real objective because we are interested in the kind of prayer support as well as financial support that a host of friends can provide. Friends helping friends is part of the ideal.

It is more than that, however. It is concerned with providing the resources, of whatever kind, which will make possible the achieving of college objectives. This includes students, staff, buildings, equipment and money. And it certainly includes various types of spiritual resources which come from alumni, supporting churches, and other praying Christian friends.

What do you call all of this? It is providing for the development of the college, and this term is the most common among institutions supported by voluntary giving. Some feel that speaking of advancement has a more positive ring to it; so this term is used to refer to the same thing.

Whether we say "development" or "advancement," you will know we are speaking of the same thing, and we trust that you will rejoice in the development and advancement of God's work here at the college. ■

'A Very Present Help'

Field representatives Ward and Brenda Lewis and their family have been troubled by a series of difficulties over the past year including a fire in their home, illness, and a very recent near-tragedy which Brenda related as follows:

January 8th our family began suffering headaches and dizziness, but thought it was a virus. We went to bed as usual and then Wednesday morning woke up with the same feelings. Ward left for work and I decided to take our five-year-old and lie down, as I felt sleepy. Ward returned in about ten minutes because he had forgotten something he needed in the basement. Upon entering the basement he smelled a gas leak. I called the gas company and they came and diagnosed the problem as carbon monoxide fumes. The gas man and furnace man both said it was a miracle that we were alive. Praise be to God!

Through their trials the Lewises have seen remarkable evidence of the Lord's care. Faithful Christian friends have also supported them in prayer and assistance in times of need.

"God is our refuge and strength, a very present help in trouble. Therefore we will not fear." Psalm 46:1-2a ■

Legacies Received by the College

The college will be the recipient of several legacies during this school year. While final amounts will not be known until payment is actually made, it is anticipated that they will all be in the $25,000 to $30,000 range.

While these are not large legacies, they demonstrate how careful stewardship in estate planning enables a person to give more generously in death than in life.

None of the persons involved would have been considered wealthy. One couple had been missionaries, one was a single woman, and one a single man.

They all practiced personal stewardship of their incomes during their lives, and are now demonstrating stewardship of their capital resources. Property which was needed while they were living can now be put to use in God's work.

If you have not planned this area of your stewardship, don't put it off. A note to the college will bring you further helpful information about making a will and planning an estate. ■
